Before an assembly, the walk to the gym gives everyone a chance to walk and find their friends among the crowd.

Raising money for the Beta Club by working in the concession stand at a basketball game are Charlotte McKee, Amanda Kaye and Robin Morgan.

The annual staff would like to thank Joe Horton for designing the cover and end sheets of our annual.

oots were fashionable this year and were paired with anything from skirts and gauc-os to pants. Showing their fashion sense are Sherri Ransom, Jenni Holms, Tammy ullion and Cheryl Tunstill.

he usual confusion of break is getting to your locker, talking with friends, and walk-g down the hall as shown here by Danny Hardiman, Stuart Black, Donna Horn-uckle, and Hope Hosmer.

The Support given by the crowd at homecoming always adds to the excitement of the game.

Office Assistants Ellen Nelson and Melissa Johnson check the absentee list, one of their daily duties in the office.

Lunch is shared by many but enjoyed by few as shown by Jeff Corder and Rocky Maples.

Child-Care children, Carea Vest, Logan Hinkle, Melanie Brown, and teacher, Mrs. Maze, tread through an imaginary jungle as they mimic elephants in the Elephant Walk.

Patriot spirit is evident even in teachers as Mrs. Swader and Mrs. Duke show their pride on "Hats off to Patriots" day during Homecoming week.

Many hours of hard work go into the making of the motto "Practice makes Perfect" as demonstrated by the volleyball team.

Even Mrs. Holland must get in the act when the going gets tough in the many skits during speech class.

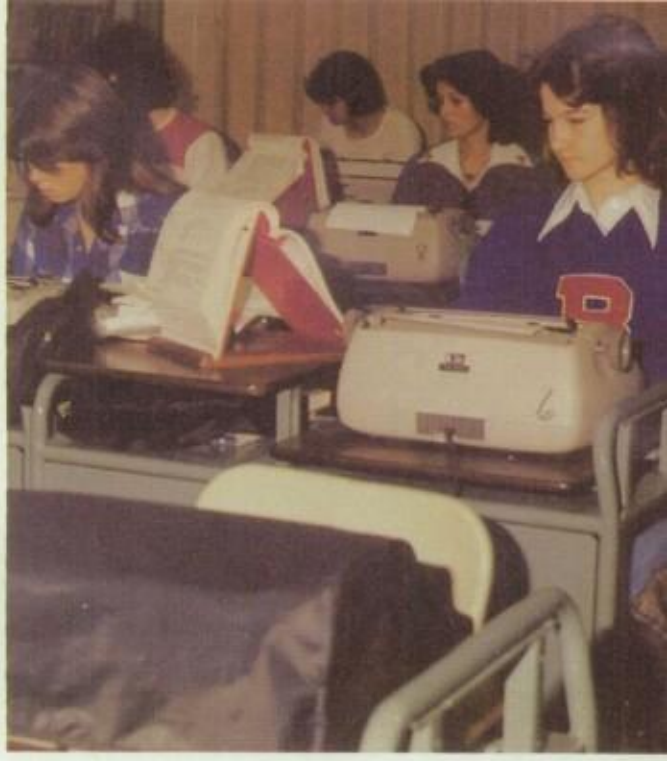
An opportunity for students to win free tickets to the football games is by guessing the correct score on Scoreboard '77.

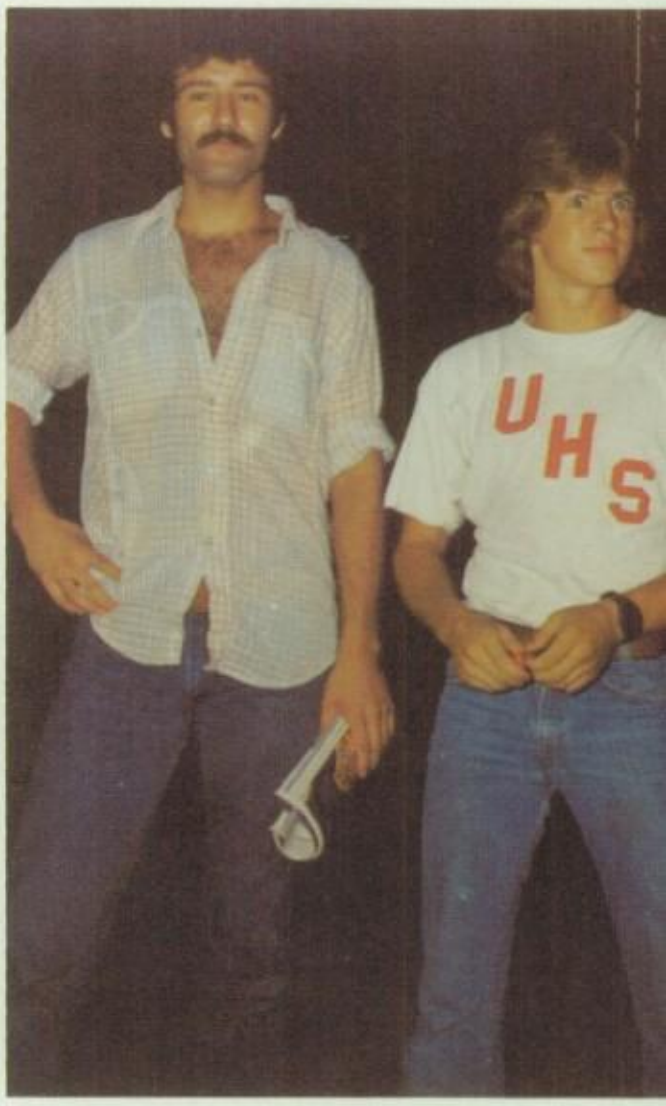
Annual arrivals bring feelings of eagerness and anticipation to share memories with friends.

Fruit baskets were made by Youth for Christ and given to teachers on Thanksgiving. Mrs. Dukes opens hers to see what's inside.

Waterfalls in the summer turn into icicles in the winter which captures the eyes of students on the journey to school.



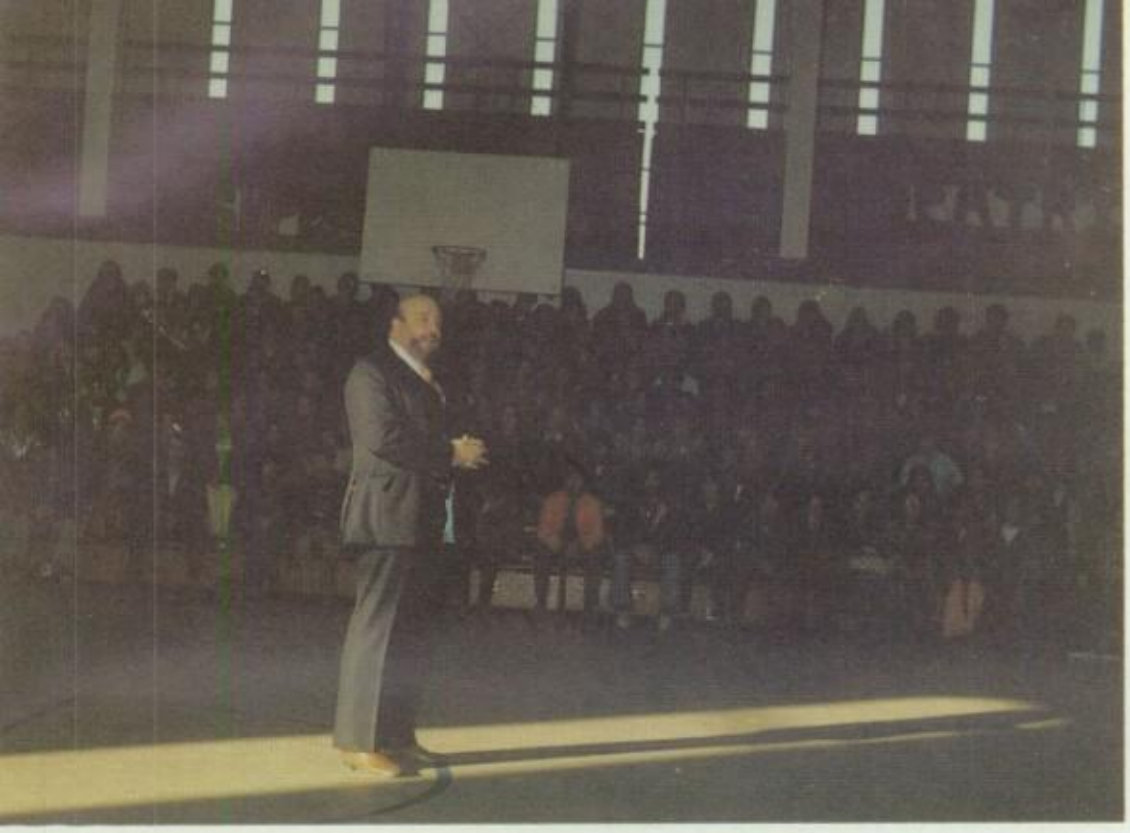
Typing students Rose Albright, Pam Morrison, and Gwyn Miller learn how to type business letters in Mrs. Dukes first period typing class.



Due to lack of heat on the early winter mornings, Gail Kaylor and Michelle Janicki were forced to bundle up to keep warm while sitting in the hall at break.

Seniors Steve Hart and Steve Hardiman pause a moment for the camera after a pep rally.

Many students and alumni turn out to see the burning of the Indians at the Homecoming bonfire.



Professional actor John Dickson visited our school to perform portions of three American plays before the student body.

Good friends Larry Graham, Steve Chop, and Jeff Atkins gather around the heater to warm themselves during break.

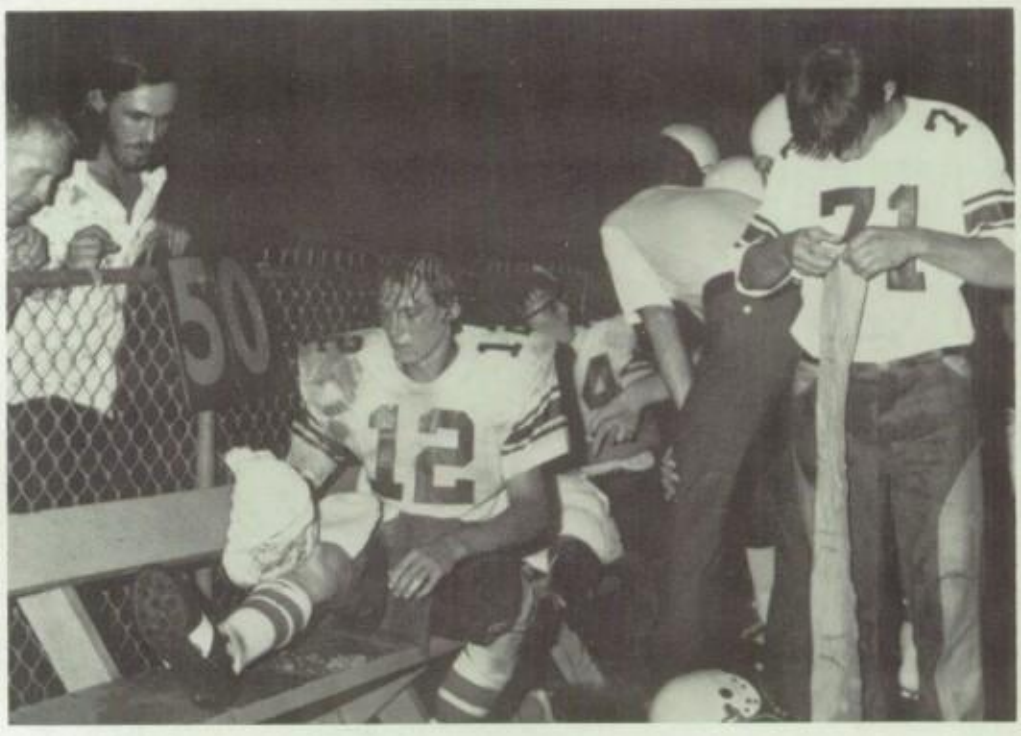
Action on the fields and in the stands divides the attention of cheerleaders Teresa Holmes, Jackie Fowler, Deneise Lang, and Brent Irvin.

The pass is incomplete as the ball falls short of Glen Lang's reach.

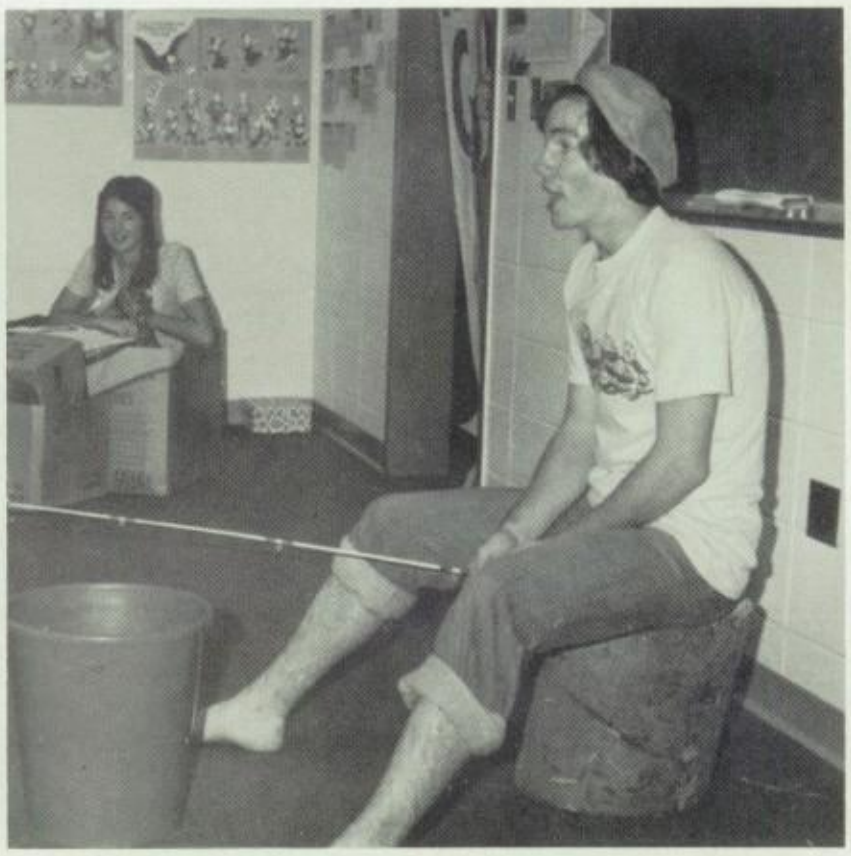
Student spirit has helped lead the Patriot football team to many victories this season.

Halftime entertainment was presented by the marching band and color guard. Banner carriers were Debbie Childers and Amy Garner.

With the thought of "college days" in mind, Stephnie Jorden and Yvonne Bates discuss future plans with the Alabama A&M representative.



"The joy of Victory" and "the agony of Defeat." Both cases were experienced by the Patriots this season. Whether it be the anticipated cry of "touchdown" or the saddened face of another injured player, the Patriots held their heads high and finished the season with a new record.



Portraying characters from the play "Oklahoma," David Winton and Leah Ransom present the wedding scene.

Displaying a rare appearance of hidden talent, Mike Smith acts out his version of the Oscar Mayer Bologna commercial.

The results of SPIRIT after a Patriot pep rally.

Touchdown! The referee signals to the stands the addition of six more points to the Patriots homecoming victory.

For a first year mascot, Pam Borden shows good spirit and strong support in backing the Patriots.

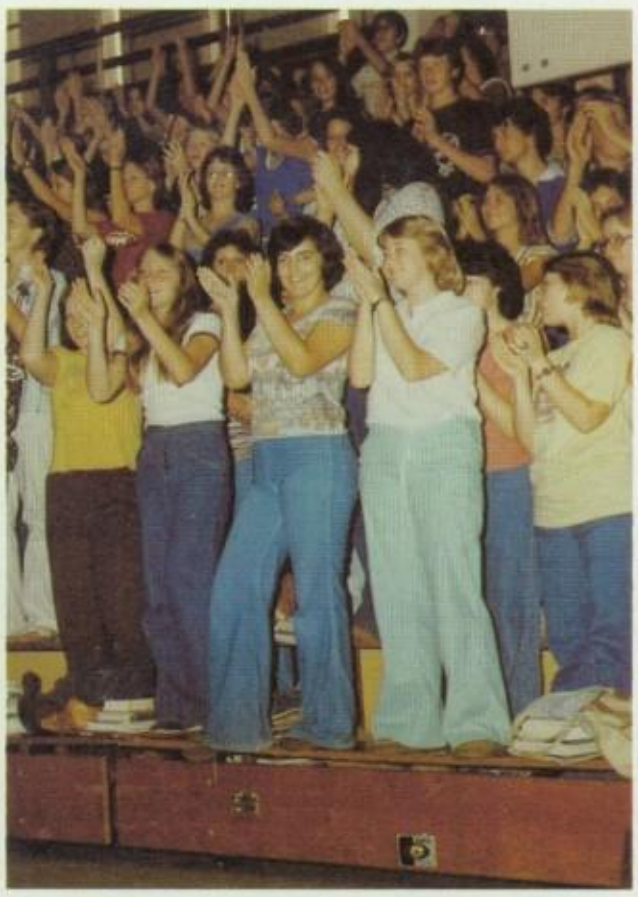
Putting practice and balance to work, varsity and junior varsity cheerleaders combine to display spirit and talent in a difficult pyramid.

Bobbie socks, pony tails, and smiling red lips accent fashions of the 50's. Modeling their style are Ellen Nelson, Lou Ann Ryan, Donna Hornbuckle, Sheree Cornett, Cynitha Lindsey, Tina Shelton, and Terri Ditto.

Jersey day proves to be an enjoyable event for student life. A few participates are Ellen Nelson, Renee Moore, Vicki Flack, and Charolette Jones.

With a burst of energy and a cry of joy, the Patriots tear through with a dynamite 8-2 season.

Up with Patriot Pride is expressed in the faces of the Junior class at the homecoming pep rally.



Winners of homecoming — Becky Morris, Dana Brown, Alodie White, and Hettie Wiley — receive congratulations from friends Terri Ridgeway and Rita Adams.

On chilly mornings the parking lot proves to be an inconvenience because of the long walk to the school.

Crowded halls and noisy chatter are typical signs of morning break.

In electronics class Jeff Holmes and Mark Ozbolt attempt to repair a tape player.

Girl's basketball players wait on the bench for their chance to get in the game.

part one

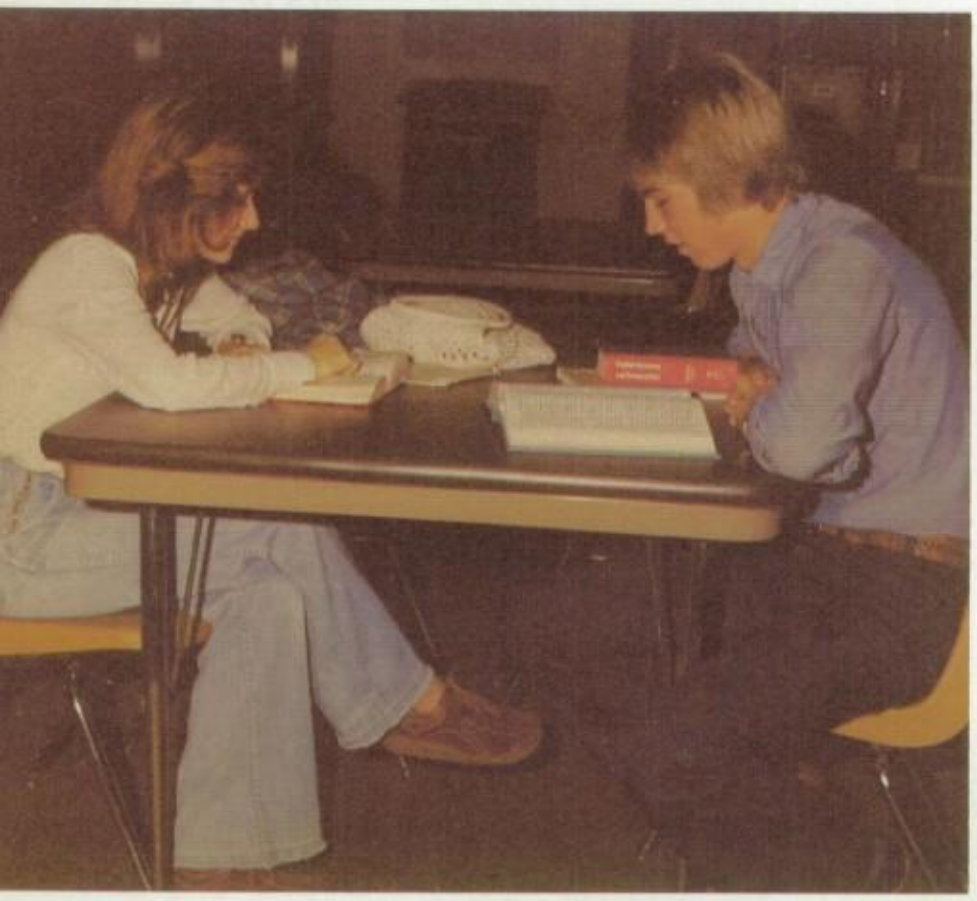
Until 8:15 . . .

Until the 8:15 bell rings, the time is yours to do as you wish or to share with those you please. Many spend their time studying for the test you didn't know you were going to have or smoking that last cigarette to tie them over till break. But most of the students here at Brewer just seem to enjoy the free time sitting in the halls with friends and catching up on the latest gossip. Whether there's talk of a new movie on T.V., Mrs. Sims hardest democracy test, the ballgame last night, or the fight down the hall, it's all part of student life.

Before trudging off to a cold homeroom, Barry Dickerson, Tommy Garner, and Charles Woodard enjoy a few last minutes warmth by the hall heater.

The library being opened before school is a convenient time for Robin Parker and Ricky Carter to catch up on a few last minute studies.

The beauty of the open court on an early fall morning helps to brighten the beginning of Todd Webb's day.



Before school, during break, and at lunch time, students can be found sitting in the halls sharing the joys and sorrows of school.

Bypassing last minute gossipers is Tim White as he rushes to homeroom before the tardy bell.

Both anticipation and regret are expressed on the faces of Audrey Ledbetter, Rhonda McCutcheon, Donna Williams, and John Turner as they begin a new school day.

Entertaining the gang, Debbi Hornbuckle attempts to eat a blob of green slime.

At break and lunch, sitting in the halls and gathering at lockers is an everyday pastime at B.H.S.

Although eating in the halls is not allowed, Robin Burns and Nancey Brown sneak a mid-morning snack to tie them over till lunch.

Break proves to be the perfect time for Darvin Smith and Vicky Pierce to share a laugh and to become better acquainted.

Could this really be a Knight in shining armor? Well, Paul Jernigan hopes you believe him as he sits astride his gallant horse and hopes for an "A" on his college prep English project.

Scarcely covering his bare physique, Keith Hammonds (alias the "Flasher") portrays his part in a Speech class play.

$11.24, $13.95, $36.28 . . . these figures run through the minds of Johnny Miller, Lou Ann Ryan, Daphne Breeding, Amanda Bates, and Mr. Sims as they tally up Junior magazine sales.

Spanish Active

The Spanish Club has been extremely active this year. In November the club planned a hay ride and cookout but due to unforseen circumstances it was changed to a cooking at Mrs. Tilley's house. In December, the club had its annual Christmas pinata party in the cafeteria which was a huge success. Led by Margaret Wozny, the club president, the members showed their giving spirit by donating money to buy a Panasonic tape recorder for a welfare child. In February, the club members went ice skating at Point Mallard ice rink. Although all had a great time, Patrick Tilley ended up in Decatur General with a cut eye and 5 stitches! In March the club planned a tennis-picnic in Delano Park but, because of rain, this was changed to a bowling party followed by lunch at Taco Bell. The tennis-picnic took place in April instead. In April the club attended the State Convention of the Federation of Alabama Spanish Clubs. The club is sponsored by Mrs. Tilley.

Beyond the Call of Duty

Many long hard hours of work are put in by the annual staff. They start in June selling ads. Then in August three staff members, Renee Moore, Vickie Wright, and Patricia Brooks, spent four days in a workshop at Troy State University. All the staff attend a one day workshop at Athens State University in November. Also, the photographers went to a workshop in Huntsville. After all this preparation, the work of putting the annual together begins. All school activities, during and after school have to be covered, organized and put together to make a record of the school year for the whole student body to keep.

FBLA Record High

The FBLA chapter set a record high with 78 members. The members participated in the following activities: a get acquainted party, a trip to Mutual Savings, a disco dance sponsored by all the vocational clubs, an ice skating party, and a Christmas party. Along with these fun activities, projects, such as making fruit baskets for Christmas for the Falkville Nursing Home and selling pens were promoted by the club members.

It's the Active Life

To students at Brewer, it seems that every day presents a new challenge: everything from writing English themes and performing a class play to planning club activities and getting to school on time. Yes, it's the active life!

Before going to their first period class, Sis Barber and Amanda Bates take advantage of the available time in homeroom to exchange a few words.

All for one and one for all, Mike Aldridge, Jackie Horton, Calvin Jackson and James McComb show their comradship during the second lunch break in the student concourse.

For the first time at Brewer, students discover the importance of vaccinations. Jane Bowers shows no misgivings of being administered the tetanus vaccine.

After much impatient waiting, Paula Keenum and Pam Smith model their rings with much delight and relief.

Many thanks go out to the brave students who put up announcements of school activities on the sign outside for the convenience of everyone.

Vying for the coveted Spirit Stick, sophomores Keith Livingston, Kenny Dunaway, and Mike Miner prove to be true Patriots as they stand, clap, and cheer at a pep rally.

Up to her pigtails in trouble, Pam Brown prepares to defend herself against Jackie Fowler and Teresa Holmes in a speech class play.

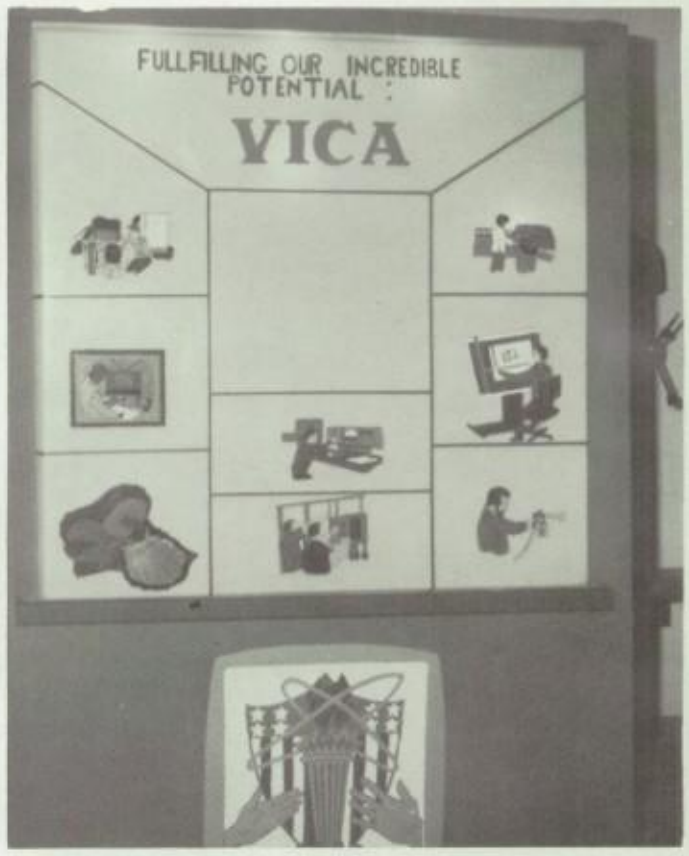
Vocational

We are very lucky to have such a great vocational or Trade School here at B.H.S. Everyone has really taken part and enjoyed the extra clubs and activities they have offered this year.

In The Vocational Industrial Clubs of America, Greg Dobbs and Mark Smith won at the district VICA competition and went on to the State in April.

Future Business Leaders of America sent most of the people who competed in the district competition to the state finals held in Birmingham.

As you can see our Vocational Departments are growing stronger. With the teachers and students working and continuing to learn together.



Displayed in the concourse before being taken to State competition is the VICA project built by Greg Dobbs and Mark Smith.

Experience is a part of learning in electronics for Jeff Toth and David Higginbotham.

Refilling the Freon in a refrigerator is Richard Long and Carl McDowell.

Paying close attention to Mr. Vaugh, who shows them the proper way to use the Arc welder, is Eddie St. John and David Grantland.

Learning the tricks of the trade in air conditioning and refrigeration is Jimmy James and Brian Merrian.

Not even taking out time to look up is Donald Thompson, John McMurry, and Micheal Colboch hard at work in auto body.

Concentrating on getting the job done, Dale Westbrooks pounds away at the metal.

Appearing as rejects from the movie "Star Wars," Mike Bates and Randell Lawrence continue their welding during 3rd and 4th period.

Putting alot of time and effort into his electronical work is Kenneth Blackwood.

Middle left: Whenever there is sun, students always enjoy soaking it in during lunch break in the open court.

Middle right: Lounging in the halls has always been a fav' for students of first lunch and it is no different for Pam Morrison, Teresa Campbell, Teresa Entrekin, and Steve Wilson.

Bottom right: From plate to mouth, the fork never stops between 11:17 and 11:45.

Lunch Hour

Talking, listening, and doing next period's homework are all carried on during lunch break. Pictured here is Stanley Chaffin, Sandra Durham, Mike Neely, Jimmy Watkins, Rose Albright and Tony Smith.

Middle left: Anything from T-shirts to laughter, everyone has their own idea of how to spend lunch hour.

Middle right: Students leaning against the balcony railing is evidence that some prefer this airy hall to the loud and crowded one inside.

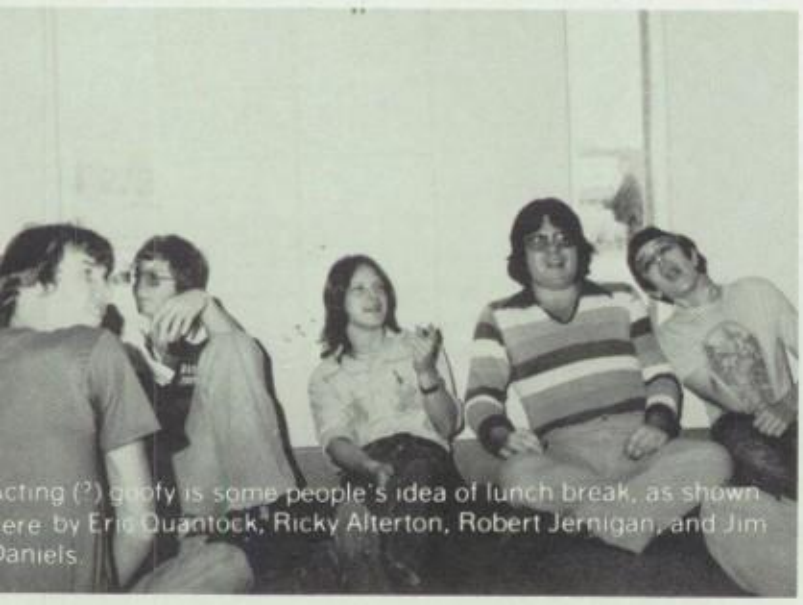
Ready for the familiar camera flash are Vent Chambers, Regina Self, Anthony Holmes, Vickie Patton, Kenneth Arlington, and Belinda Rolfe.



acting (?) goofy is some people's idea of lunch break, as shown here by Eric Quantock, Ricky Alterton, Robert Jernigan, and Jim Daniels.

Although they may not seem human to students, teachers Coach Sanders, Mr. Latham, and Coach Shelton must eat food to live also.

Assemblies

In the gym during the dull, cold months of winter, the North Carolina Theater Company performs a scene from the Thorton Wilder play, Our Town.

With a deep look of frustration, a member of the North Carolina Theate Company performs his version of the play, Death of a Salesman.

Filling out yearbook order blanks doesn't seem like much fun, but it get you out of class.

To promote yearbook sales, Brooks Barkly volunteers his services t speak to us of the importance of buying a yearbook.

Assemblies were not only a chance to get out of class but also a chance to better one's knowledge. They were not only informative but also very enjoyable.

These assemblies varied from a snake show to a miniature production of such famous plays as Our Town, The Glass Menagerie, and Death of a Salesman. We also had assemblies to promote yearbook sales, to promote the annual Blood Drive, and to explain our new system of punishment for those that break the rules — the demerit system.

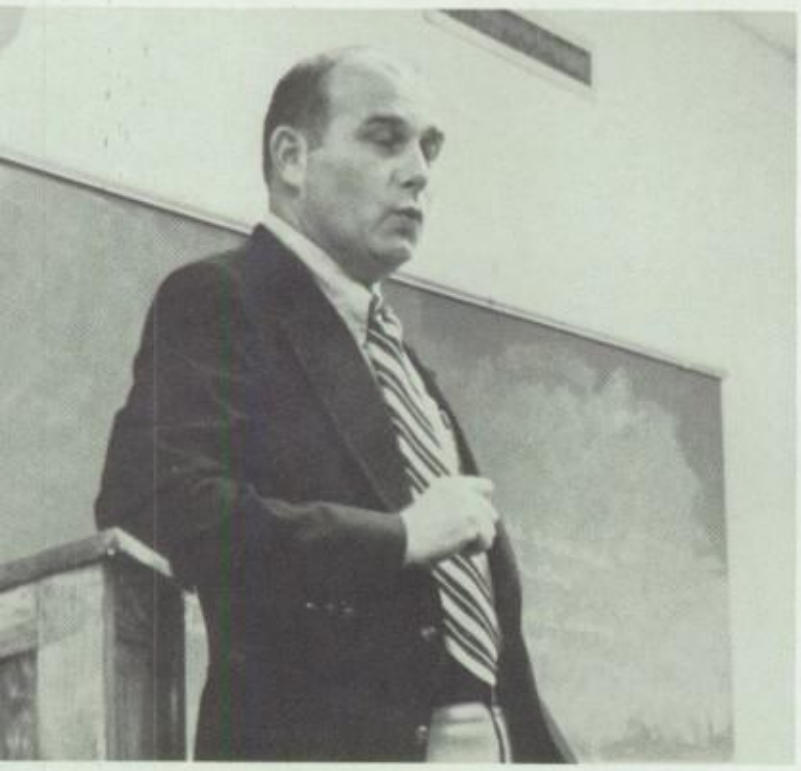
Assemblies were offered to us as a chance for a different type of education, but we sometimes accepted them as a welcomed break from the regular routine of six classes Monday through Friday.

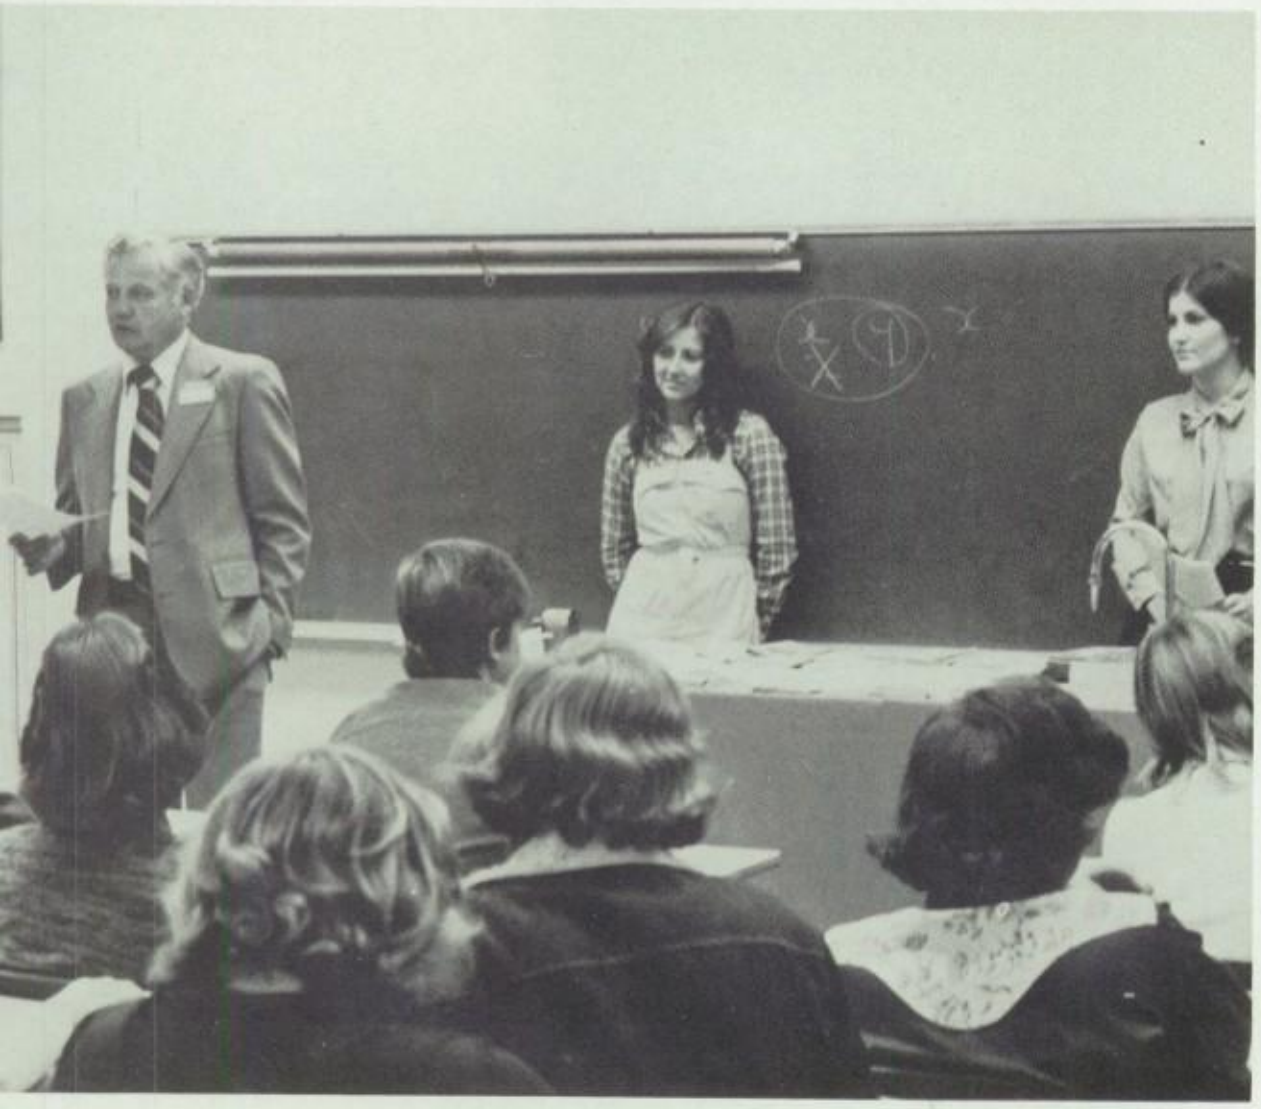
College Day

Students always look forward to the annual College Day. While juniors and seniors take part in the annual event, sophomores have a chance to relax and look forward to next year when they can participate.

This year we had representatives from many of the colleges in Alabama. These representatives came to tell the students about the type of courses their particular college had to offer as well as the business and financial matters concerning their college.

Most of the students seemed to think of College Day as both a useful and exciting day.





No, it's not Ray Cornelius and the Soul Train gang, but just simply Stephanie Jordan, Yvonne Batts, Calvin Jackson, Mike Miller, and Ronnie Rice posing for the photographer while learning the benefits of Alabama A&M.

Showing scenes from Samford University, Dorothy Grenade helps to give students some kind of idea of what college life is like.

Whistling Dixie he's not, but Bobby Ray Hicks is caught off guard by the photographer while explaining the rules and regulations about the University of Alabama.

Thoughts of attending college are quite common during one's junior and senior years. Bill Chambers and other representatives from Wallace State talk to students about the advantages of attending Wallace State.

Artex

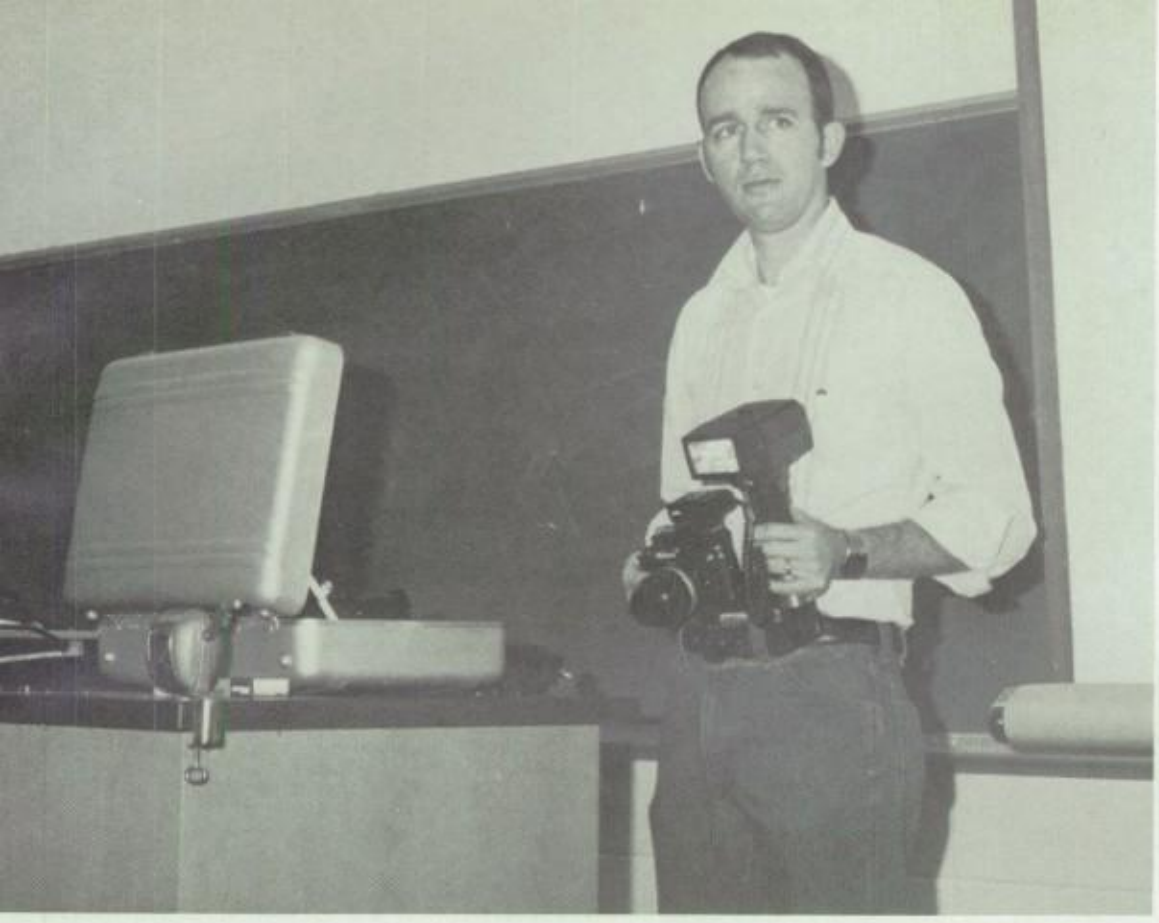
The art club members have been working on Artex pictures during club meetings since last fall. To raise money for the club, many members contributed their time and talent making things to sell in the art club booth at Brewer's Spring Festival. The total sum raised was $72.35. In May, the club members plan a picnic at Sportsman's Lake in Cullman followed by a field trip to the Ava Maria Grolto on the St. Benedictine College campus in Cullman.

Speakers Common

During the F.F.A. meetings they have speakers come and discuss different types of Environment Research. One day they had three men from Alabama A&M's department of Natural Resource and Environmental Studies. The were: Dr. McAthur Floyd, George F. Brown, and Micheal Martin. F.F.A. also has films on the study of the environment. The club has several projects. It is sponsored by Mr. Lott.

Cheering for the Patriots

The Pep Clubs main project is coming to the ballgames to cheer the Patriots on to victory. As each member payed his dues to the Pep Club, he was given a card for a quarter off each home ballgame. If a member missed 3 games he was expelled from the club. The Pep Club with the money they have raised had a party after school in the lunchroom. The club is sponsored by Mrs. Murphy.



Dark Room Started

During the club meeting Mr. Cobb shows different types of cameras and photo equipment. This year the club started a darkroom and decided on what equipment to purchase for the room. The darkroom is located in Mr. Tilley's room. They are planning to put the darkroom in two storage closets in the class room. There will be a hole cut in the wall for larger working areas, and the proper lighting installed by school students. They also discussed ways to take better pictures and viewed slides of scenery. The club is sponsored by Mr. Tilley.

Magic Triangles

Studying the fun side of Math is what the Math club is all about. It starts with the Magic Triangle as Mrs. Duke discusses the game with the students. The club has many different games which uses math. This year the club went to the annual math tournament at Stanford College on February 25, which was an all day event. So remember Math can be fun. The Math club is sponsored by Mrs. Duke.

Playing Chess

The Chess club is for those persons who enjoy playing chess or for those wanting to learn. At the meetings the members play games of chess and other members help those just starting. The club has been invited to a chess club tournament at Randoff High School. The club is now forming their own tournament at A.P. Brewer. The club has a $2.00 fee. This money is used to buy new chess sets and to awarding prizes at the local tournament. Mr. J. D. Light is the sponsor of the Chess club.

P (Clap, Clap, Clap) A (Clap, Clap, Clap) T . . .

For the first time in Brewer's Cheerleading history the cheerleader's won a blue ribbon for excellence at NCA Cheerleading Clinic. Also to their credit they received two red ribbons and one white ribbon for suspension and good.

This past summer the squad sold ads for the football program. This campaign was the most successful in cheerleading history. The cheerleaders sold a record amount of $4000 worth of ads to finance their trip to clinic. Also to raise money, a Homecoming dance was sponsored by the squad in October.

Starting the season out, the cheerleaders kick high to lead the Patriots to a 37-0 victory over Fairview.

Showing their lasting faith in the Patriots being no. #1, Jackie Fowler, Denise Lang, and Brent Irvin stand tall proving their undieing enthusiasm.

With a radiant face, Pam Brown anticipates a Homecoming victory.

For their last game, the senior cheerleaders Denise Lang, Jackie Fowler, and Teresa Holmes traveled to Buckhorn to share in the overwhelming victory with fellow seniors in the stands and on the field.

The winning spirit is pushed on by the smiling faces and inspiring cheer of Sherrie Adams and Teresa Campbell.

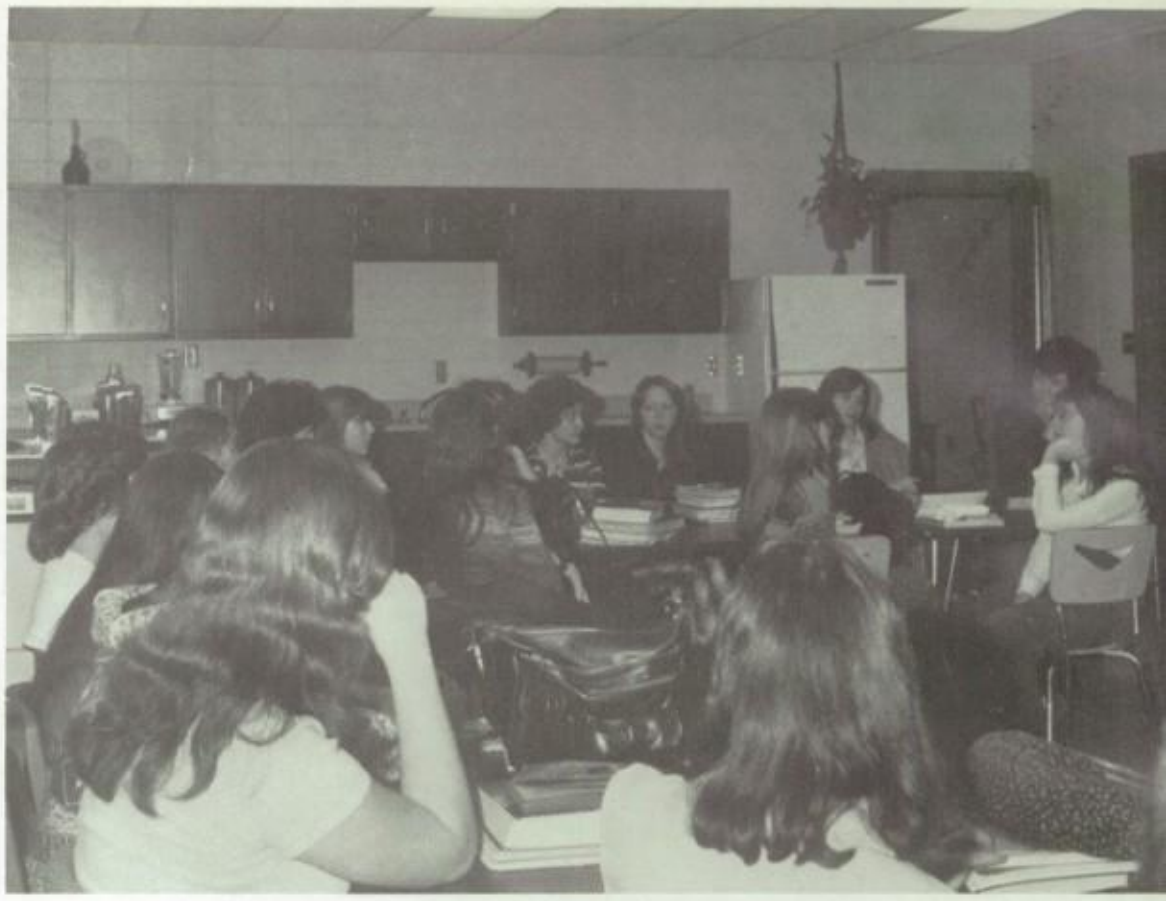
Sometimes cheers don't do the trick to give a boost in spirit but an occasional skit will.

Set to whirl at the kick off, Robin Parker and Pam Brown cling to Brent Irvin while performing a favorite stunt.

Even though the weather is not always agreeable, the junior varsity cheerleaders are in agreement as they support their team.

Nursing Home As a Project

During the F.H.A. meetings the members listen to speakers and then they enjoy refreshments. The club sponsored a project for a nursing home. They visited the nursing home on Valentines day and Easter with gifts for those in the nursing home. The club had an ice skating party for all the members.



Scrap Book

The History club sponsors the scrap book which is placed in the Library each year. The club gets the material from newspapers in this area. The club is sponsored by Mr. Hinkle.

Trip to Bahamas

Going to the Bahamas during AEA week is what most Science club members looked forward to. The group flew from Huntsville to the Bahamas this year. Loading the plane was work but, the group pitched in and turned it into fun like most of the trip. Ask anyone who went. They are the ones with T shirts saying "It's Better in the Bahamas" with their names on the back. The club has outside speakers to come in. This year the club has been discussing what equipment to buy for the lab. The club is sponsored by Mr. Thomaskutty.

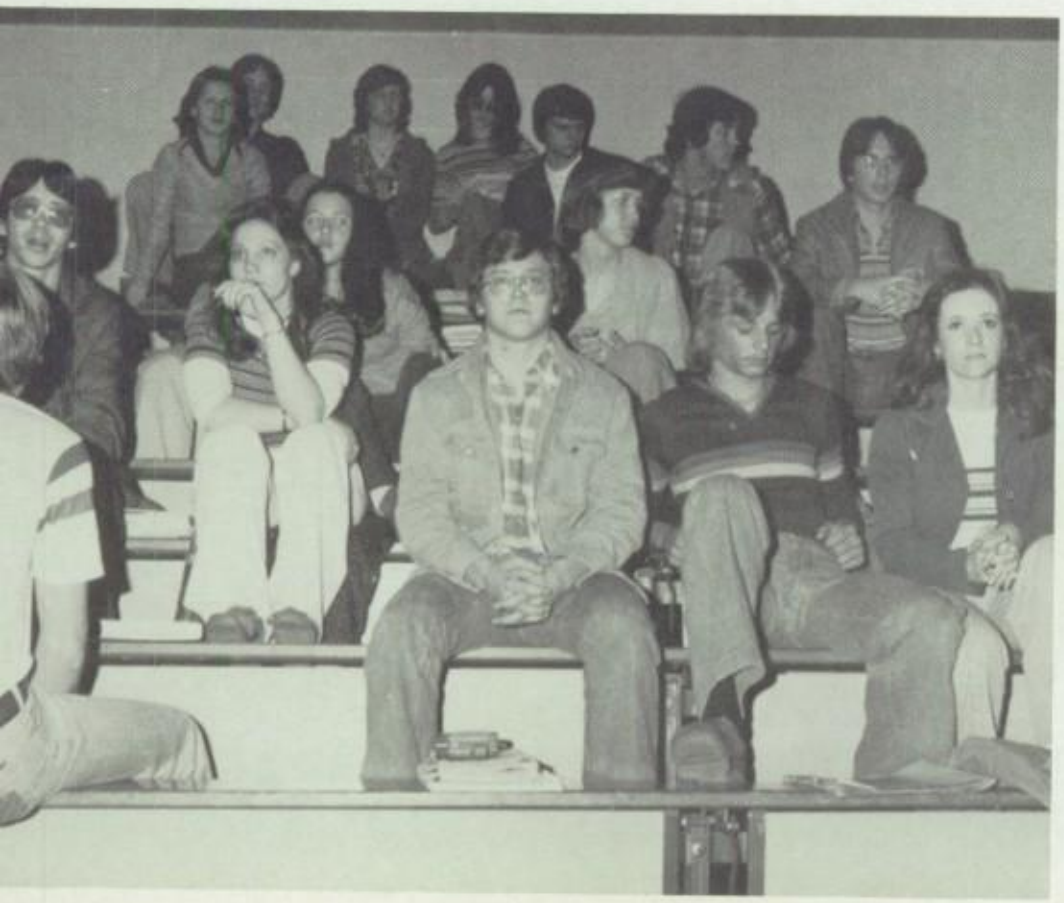
Hiking Sportsmen

The sportsman club is an organization in which the people who are in sports try to join.

To be entered in the club you must write a paper saying why you wish to enter. Once this is completed the fun begins. The club went hiking up at Yellow Bluff and are planning a trip to Opryland with some other clubs. The club is sponsored by Mr. Norris.

Money Raised

Starting the year off with a stationary sale netting $250, the Library Club raised money for additional Library books. 28 members sold class year necklaces for another $100. All club members celebrated Christmas with a party December 16. Mrs. Eloise Livingston, Director Library Media Services for Morgan County, presented information on important authors at the February meeting. National Library Week was celebrated April 2-8. Lynn Holland won the school bookmark contest and was also winner of the Morgan County Bookmark Contest. Becky Morris won a school poetry contest sponsored by Library Club. Faculty members were honored with a breakfast April 7, in recognition of support of Library Media activities. May 13 members boarded a bus for Opryland for a day of fun.



Selling Sun Visors

The 'B' club promotes athletics at A.P. Brewer High School. To be a member of this club, you must have a letter from a sport. The 'B' club raised money this year by selling sun visors to all students and faculty willing to buy one. This club is sponsored by the coaches.

Senior Domination

Competition for the spirit stick was always heavy, but the seniors pulled it out everytime. The Patriot Pride was expressed through toilet paper and confetti, this was something new to many of the sophomores, but it only took one pep rally for them to join in and feel at home.

Many of the pep rallies had added attractions such as throwing out cans, matches, belts, and clothes hangers. The cheerleaders also led us as cowboys, 1930's girls, and even a robot. As you can tell, pep rallies at BHS are far from your ordinary pep rally.

Sophomore student body shows their pride for the Patriots during a pep rally.

Juniors follow the cheerleaders in cheering the Patriots on to victory.

Junior cheerleaders, Terri Ditto and Renay Smithe, encourage the junior section to participate.

"Give me a P . . ." shouts the enthusiastic senior class.

Band Rates Superior

Congratulation goes out to our band this year. They made three superior ratings at district contest March 4. They will be going to State, April 5, which is held in Birmingham.

The band also marched in the Decatur Christmas Parade. During football season the Brewer High School Marching Band was considered the 'PRIDE OF MORGAN COUNTY.' So keep up the good work and good luck at State.

After an away football game, the band relaxes by removing their wool uniforms and socializing with each other.

During halftime the band shows their pride in the Patriots by playing to the crowd.

As a member of the ROTC, John Walters displays the company flag to a fellow member.

As a routine drill, the ROTC department holds a weekly inspection to hold up military standards.

ROTC Keeps Busy

The ROTC department had a very busy year, which started with a helicopter ride for all ROTC members. Family night followed with a spaghetti supper and slides of the helicopter ride.

During the year, ROTC marched in the Decatur Christmas Parade, trained with the Cullman National Guard at camp, competed in the Hunstville Track and Field meet and in a Rifle and Drill Team meet at Auburn University where thirty high schools from the Southeastern Region competed.

At break, Anthony Holmes, Vent Chambers, Eric Nobinger, Ronnie Bentley, Steve Childers, and Kenneth Arrington enjoy resting a couple of minutes before the next period.

A Part of

The junior class shows their spirit at a pep rally.

Concession stand work is a great way to raise funds for the Library Club. Doing their share are Stephanie Jorden, Annie Jackson, and Mrs. McAnnaly.

Speech class acts out many plays, Jannette Gilliland and Keith Hammons participate in the play.

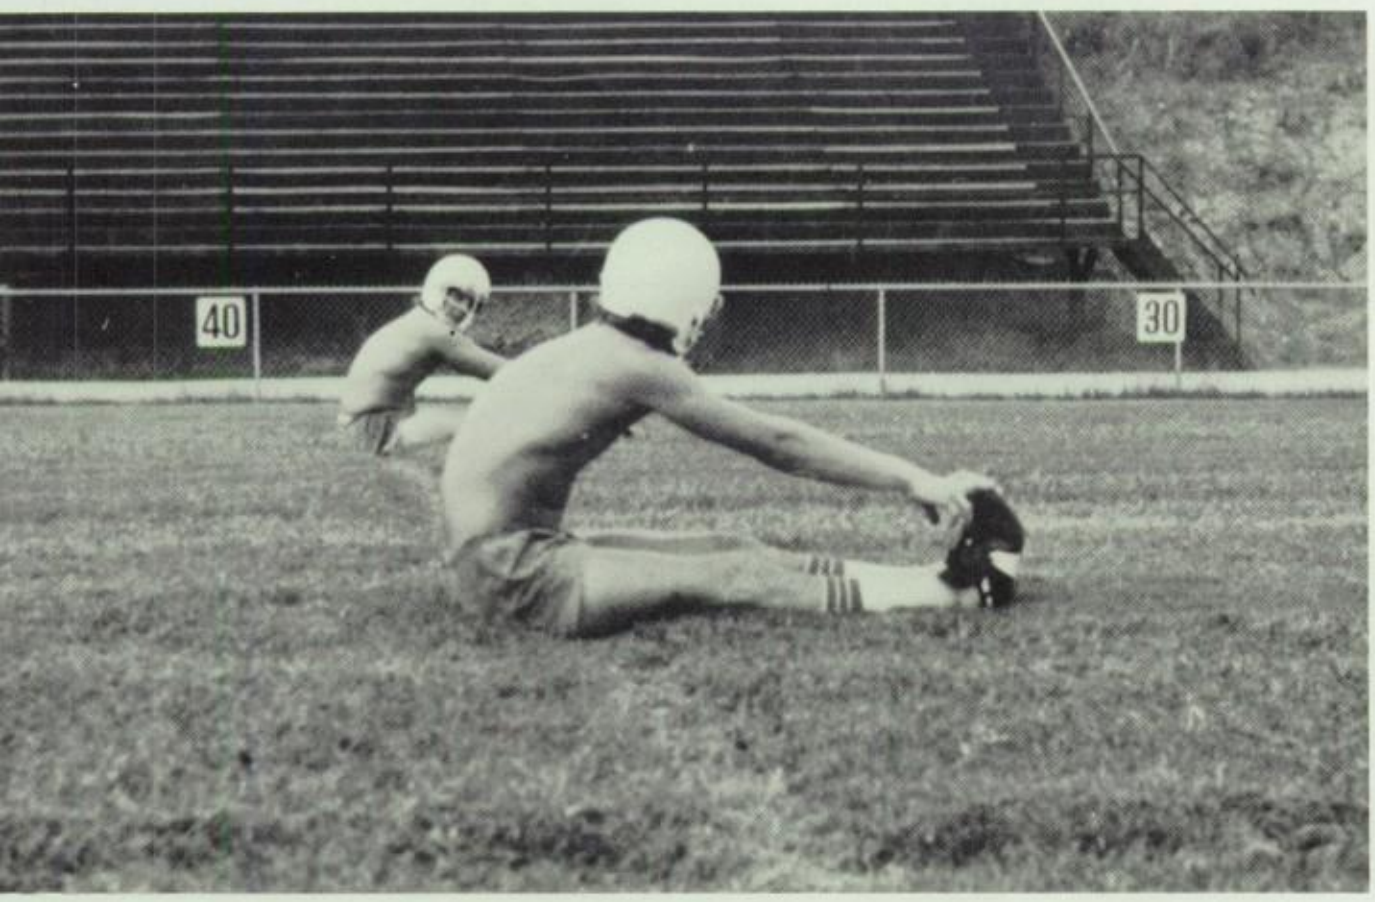
Whew, I'm Dead!

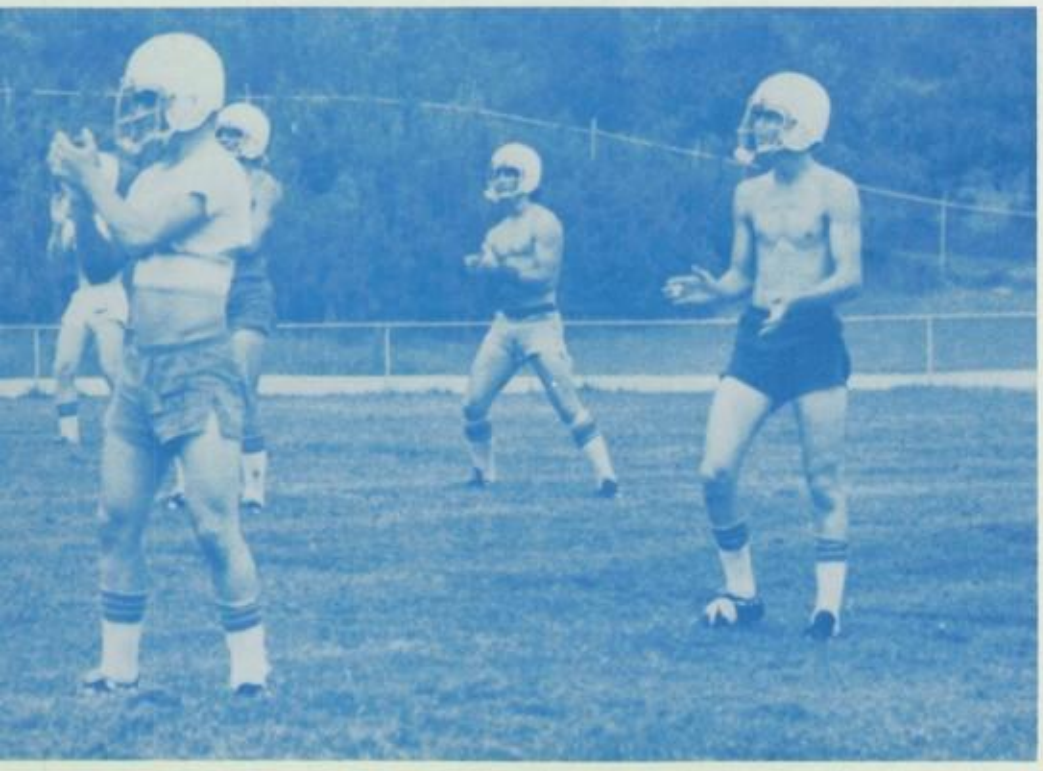
Sweat, determination, grit — these are a few of the characteristics of the after-school grunt-n-groan clubs. These are better known as the football, baseball, track, volleyball, basketball, and wrestling teams including the band and ROTC. Whether it is pounding pavements, dirt, a court, or a mat, each has a pride and deep-seeded belief in what they do. At times when the sweat burns in their eyes or their muscles ache from over strain, practicing after school seems worthless when they could be home or with friends. All this, though, is worth the spine-tingling thrill of victory when competing with other schools.

Spending many hot and humid weekday afternoons on the practice field, the band practices for its Friday night halftime show.
Going left, right, left, right, can sometimes get monotonous, but these ROTC cadets do not mind.

Standing still and clapping their hands, the football team doesn't seem to be practicing football but it sure helps to get in the spirit for those long hot afternoons.

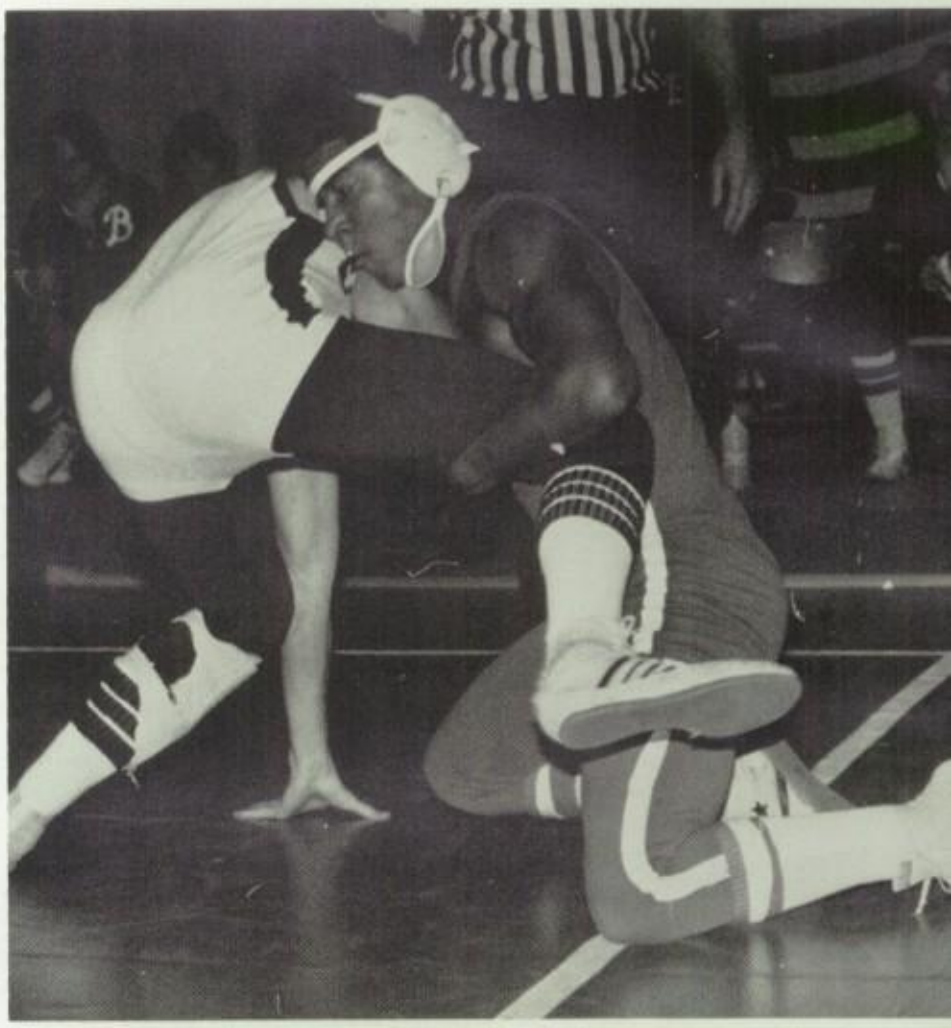


One of the football teams methods for conditioning is sit-ups.



Only Four Wrestlers to Graduate

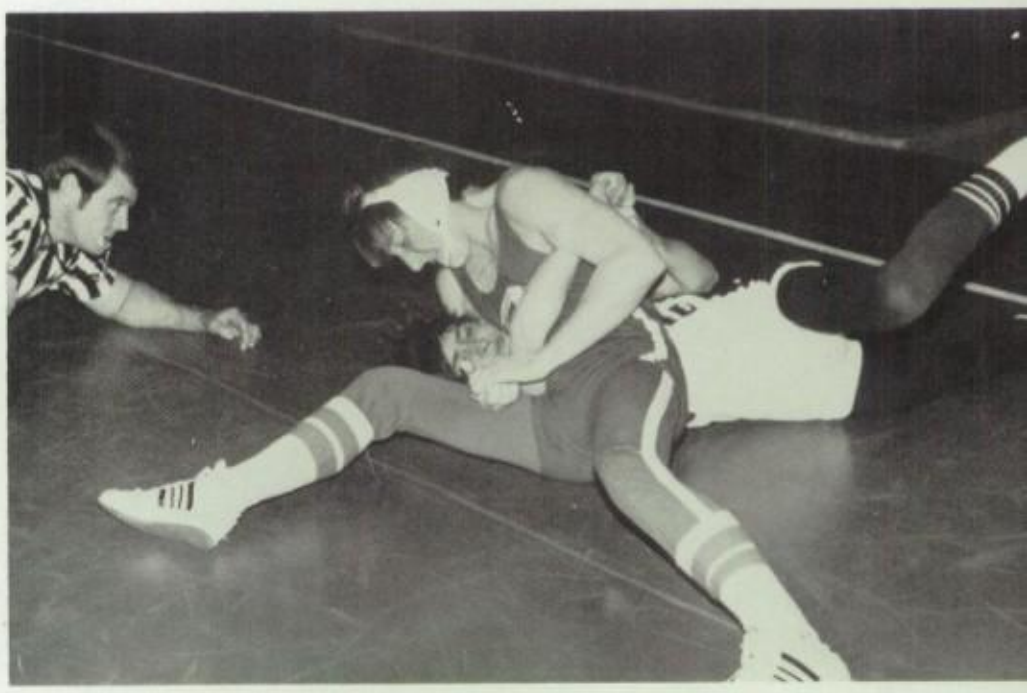
The wrestling team sent four wrestlers to state; Michael Couey, Randy Tanner, Kenny Houser, and Nolan Ozbolt. Coach Murphy said, "On the average, of the twelve men we put on the mat each match, eight or nine of them were first year men. We have eight wrestlers returning next year and expect to enjoy a winning season."

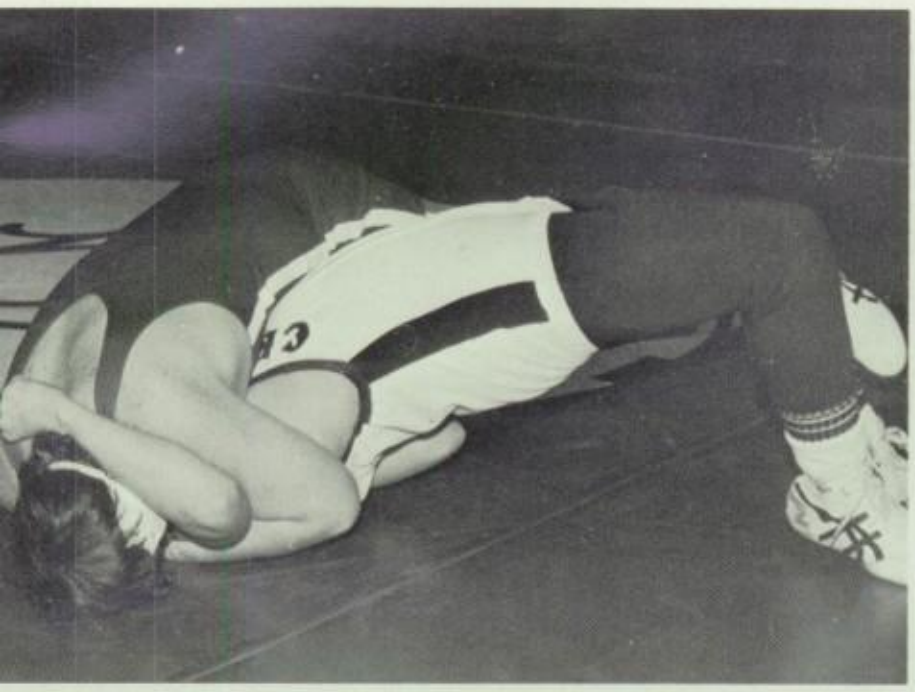


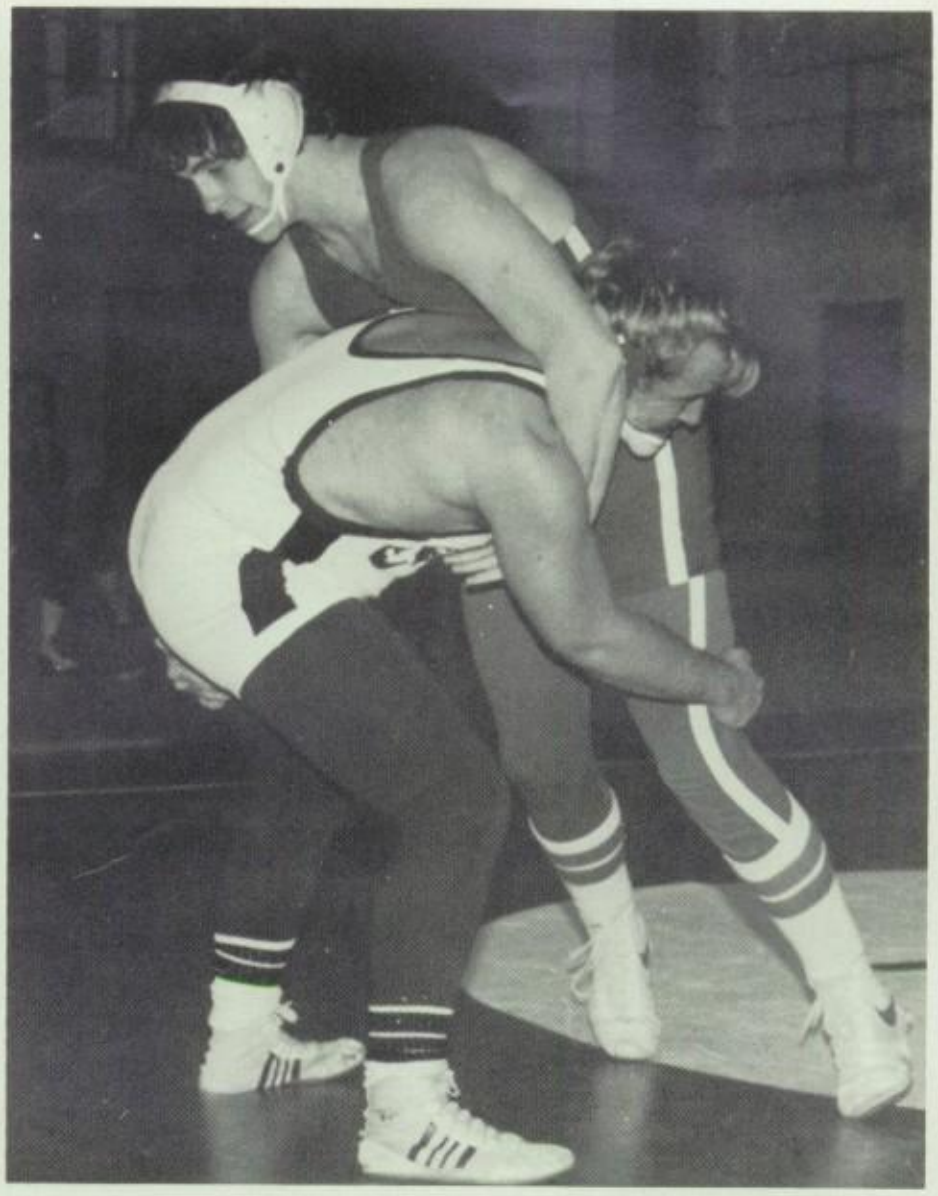
Due to his quickness, a double-leg takedown proved very effective for Billy Campbell.

As an act of sportsmanship, the Patriots greet their opponents before each match.

Trying to set up a head-lock hip-throw is Michael Couey while (Bottom Right) Scott Oden demonstrates its effectiveness.







After putting a heavyweight on his back, a pin is sure to follow for Randy Tanner.

While his opponent shoots a double-leg, Ike Mann tries to sprawl and counter it.

With an experienced opponent, Nolan Ozbolt has to work hard to break him down to the mat.

On completion of a kelly, Kenny Houser now must free his arm to score.

Anticipation of the whistle is required for Daniel Mosteller to beat his opponent to the move.

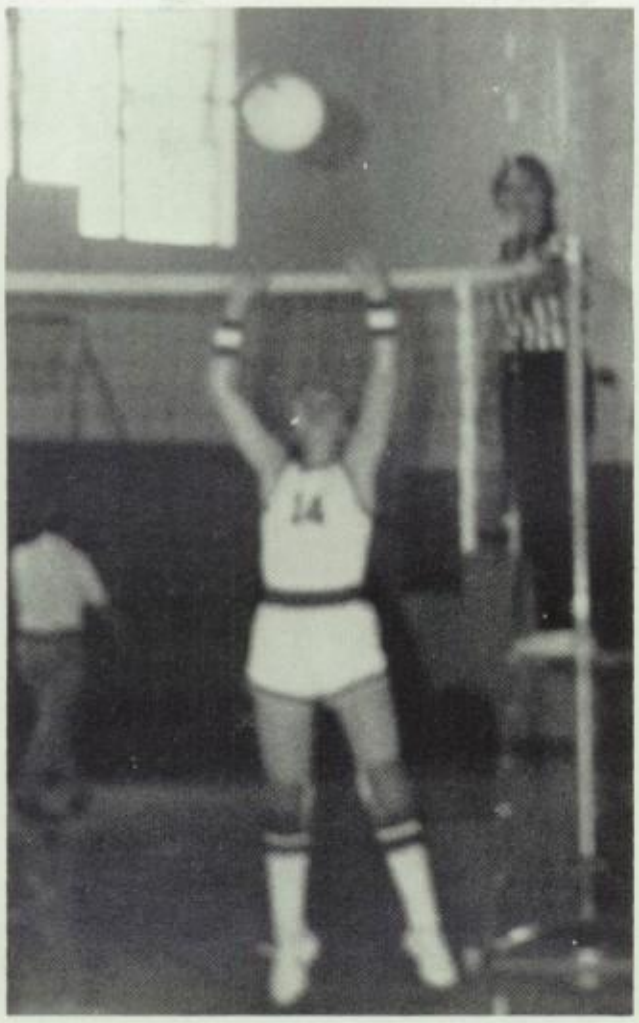
Bump, Set, and Spike, the Winning Combination

Serving the ball, Cynthia Frost gets her piece of the action.

After the ball is set up, Patricia Patterson returns it back across the net.

Set and ready, Sandra Dye prepares to set the ball up.

Pivoted on her foot, Teresa Campbell serves the ball.



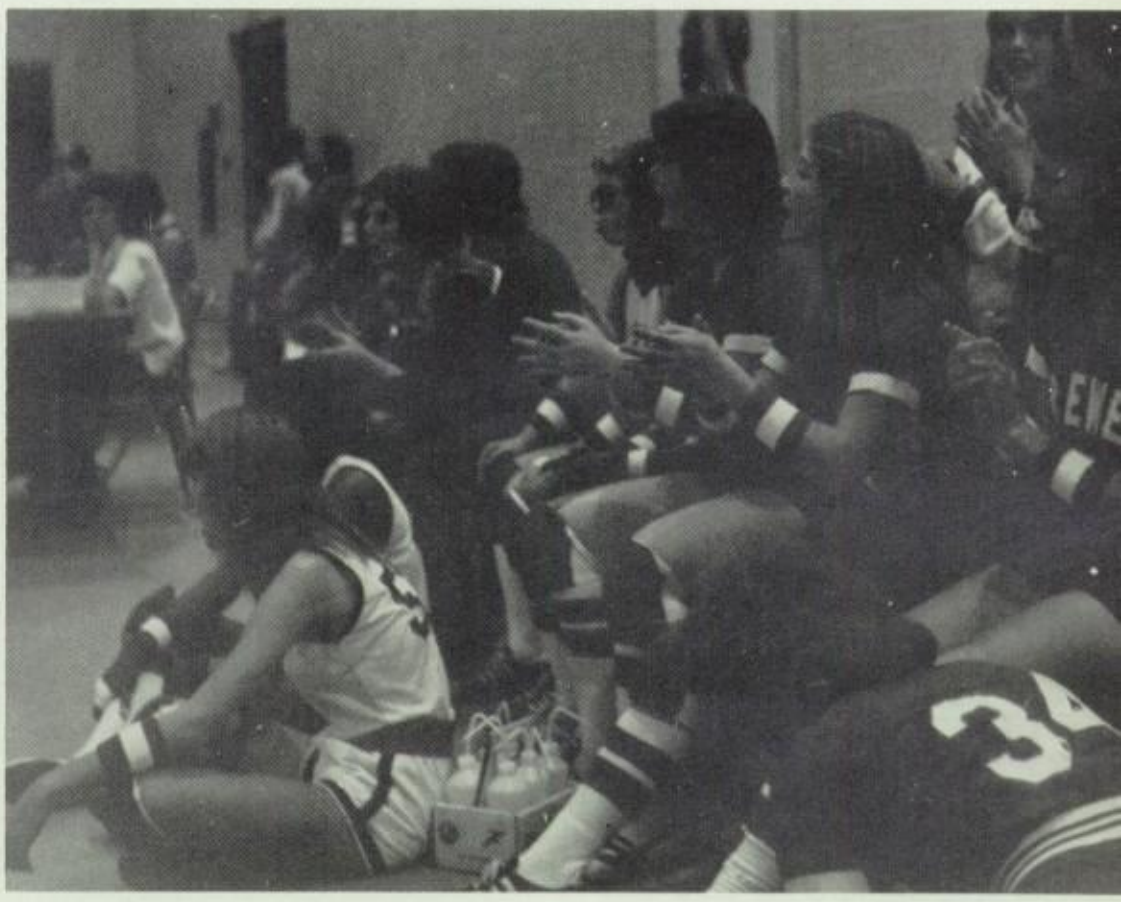
The varsity volleyball team concluded their year with a record of three wins and three losses, while the junior varsity finished their season with seven wins and two losses. The varsity team is losing eight seniors this year, although due to the junior varsity's success they expect to be very strong next year.

Strained but poised, Patricia Patterson serves the ball with the anticipation of another point.

Setting the ball up, Teresa Campbell puts her all into a hopeful victory.

Displaying her leaping ability, Stephanie Jordan attempts to save the ball.

Since there are only six players on the court, the rest of the team rallies them on from the sideline.



Friday Night Fling

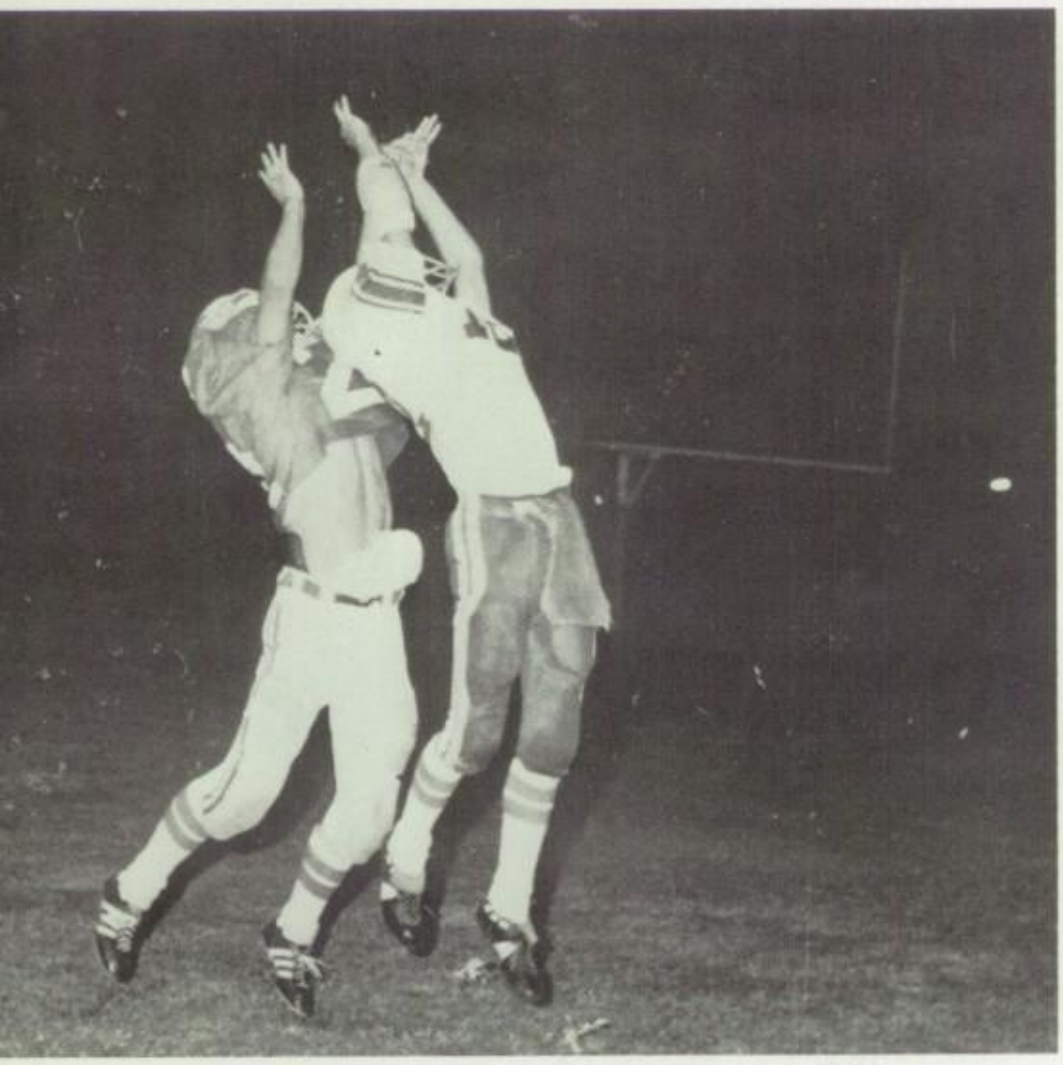
The band and football team are both very proud of themselves. Each puts their all into the weekly-performance whether it is the half-time show or the four quarter game. A great deal of time is taken out of personal lives to ensure both personal and school pride when competing with other schools. Even on those rare occasions when the football team is defeated or the band may get out of time or step, both feel they have done their all-out best.

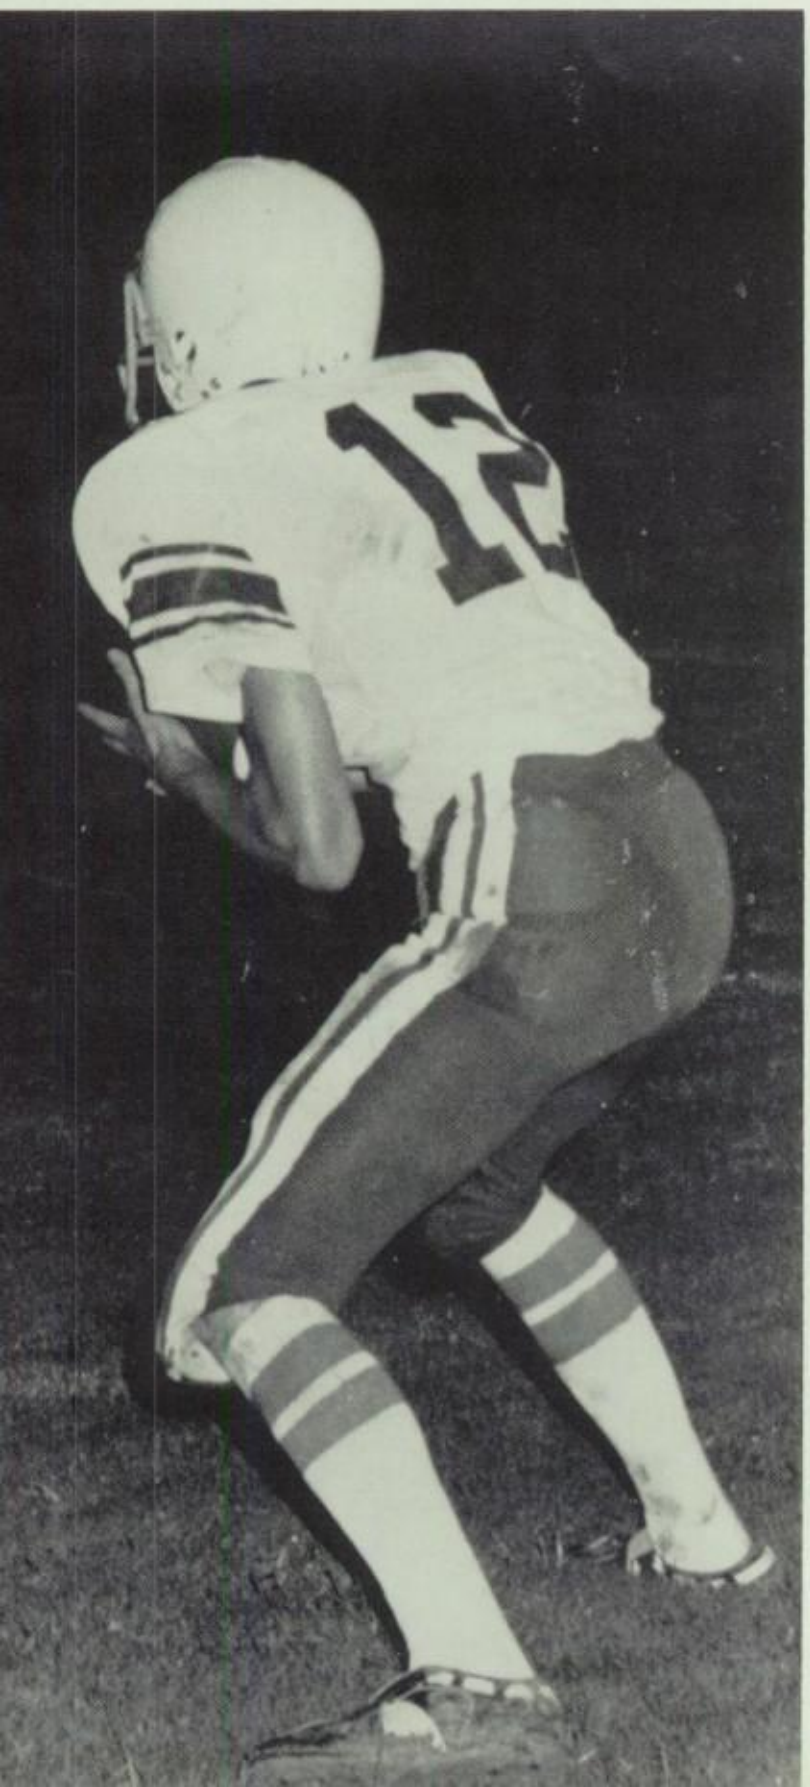
Given only a few precious moments, Phillip Barnett braces to hurtle the ball to an open receiver.

Cool, collected, and smiling are cornet players Janet Slaten, and Phillip Whisenant and majorettes Belinda Rolfe, Joan Burden, and Debbi Hornbuckle waiting to walk out on the field for the half time show.

Even though he is not Superman, Glenn Lang still attempts to catch an overshot pass.

Jubilant over the evident victory, the band stands clapping in time to the pride stirring rhythm of the drum cadence.





Filled with spirit while doing a short halt, the band prepares to strike-up another melody.

With all-out vigor, Steve Suggs proceeds to block a pass.

Set and ready, Glenn Lang prepares split-second strategy after catching the pass.

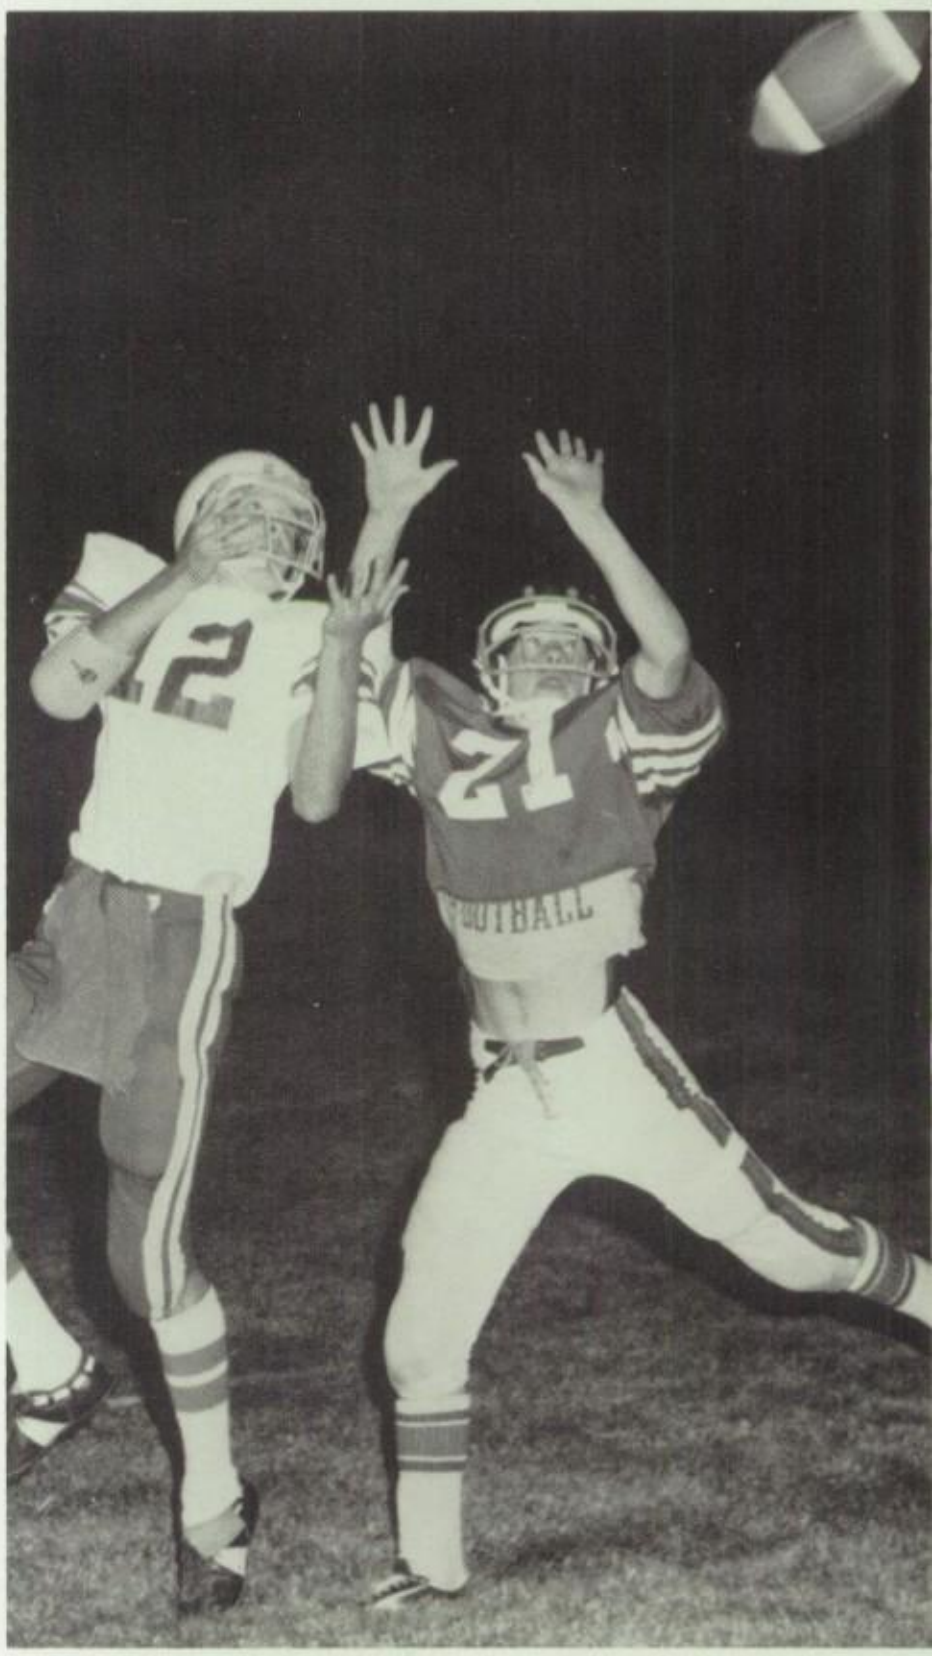
Homeward bound from a victory, the band enjoys its favorite pastime — socializing.

Season Ends 8-2

This season the Brewer football team set three different team records: most wins, most points scored in one game, and most points scored in one season.

Patriots were led by Phillip Barnett, who set career records in passing.

The guy with his hands in the air is William Neal. William broke single the season scoring and rushing yardage records.



Glenn Lang at his best. Glenn set records in receiving for the 77-78 season.

Timmy Jennings, #25, had a very good season. He made 24 out of 27 extra points.

Caught in the middle of this tackle is Randy Suggs.

Many long hours are put into practice. You have to be good if you play on our team.

Homecoming '77-'78

Going into the Homecoming game with a 6-2 record, the Brewer Patriots raised it 7-2 with an outstanding win against the New Hope Indians.

During the first quarter of play, Phillip Barnett completed a pass to Glen Lang scoring the first TD. The second touchdown was scored on a 2 yard run by William Neal. Coming back the Indians were able to score their only touchdown of the night. The teams went into the locker room with the score 14-7.

For the halftime show, 27 girls lined the field awaiting the announcement of the 1977-78 Queen and Court. Chosen as the sophomore representative was Dana Brown; junior representative was Hettie Wiley; senior representative, Becky Morris; Homecoming Queen, Alodie White.

The last half of play was dominated by the Brewer team. William Neal scored 3 TD's, the first on a 4 yard run, the next on a 7 yard run, and for the last, Neal dove for 1 yard. The effort of our team shone as the score read, 33-7, a BHS victory.

The cheerleaders sponsored the annual Homecoming dance after the game. Alumni and students enjoyed dancing to the music of Oakworth.

The sophomore representatives and escorts were: Brenda Baker, Mark Humphrees; Dana Brown, Tony Smith; Nancy Dunaway, Dewayne Bowen; Teresa Houser, Steven Crawford; Rhonda McMinemon, Steve Collins; Pam Morrison, Greg Saint; Nancy Simmons, Tommy St. John; Milesa Williams, Cooper Wiggington; Lisa Smith, Ronnie Owens.

The Junior representatives and escorts were: Beth Woodard, Steve Hart; Hettie Wiley, Ricky Walker; Kathy Thompson, Eddie St. John; Sherry Ransom, Vandon Cobbs; Sherri Moore, David Winton; Sherry Helms, Gene Dudley; Sandra Durham, Van Owens; Daphne Breeding, Johnny Miller; Connie Bishop, Rex Springer.

Being a tradition, senior players all witness the coin toss.

Adding the final touch to the activities, Mr. Tucker, principal, crowns the queen, Alodie White.

ROTC members, Robin Day, Jimmy Speegle, Mike Trosper and Barbara Turner participated by displaying the flags of our school and country.

ALABAMA

Homecoming Week

Senior, William Neal, shows New Hope that the Patriots stop at nothing.

During the Homecoming pep rally, junior cheerleaders, Pam Brown and Brent Irvin, lead the enthusiastic junior class.

Participating in Homecoming week, Kim Houser shows her school spirit.

On the night before the game, the cheerleaders sponsored a bonfire where we "BURNED THE INDIANS!"

Being proven by the football team, the sign "Patriots are #1," holds true.

After a Brewer TD, the crowd reaches high for the miniature footballs thrown by the cheerleaders.

Wednesday was "Back the Patriots Day!"

Members of the annual staff shows the fun of participating in the activities.

Joining in, Marty Engle wears a most unusual hat!

To start out Homecoming week, Lisa Blankenship displays both her #1 teams, Brewer and Alabama.

Despite seemingly unending playing, the band performs at its best.

Rebounding, Dribbling, Shooting, and Scoring

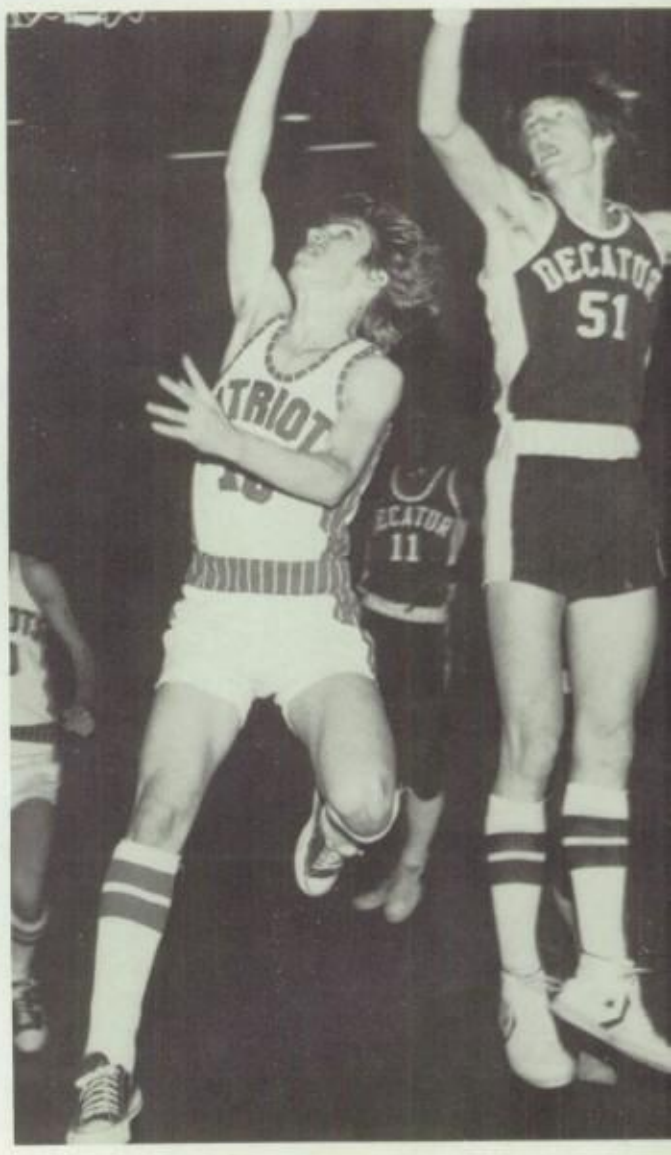
Having only four seniors, the varsity basketball team ended the season with a 14-15 record. They made up for being a young team, by being very close to each other, by putting in long hours, and by never giving up. The team proved this during Coach Sanders' illness by pulling together in a joint effort instead of falling completely apart.

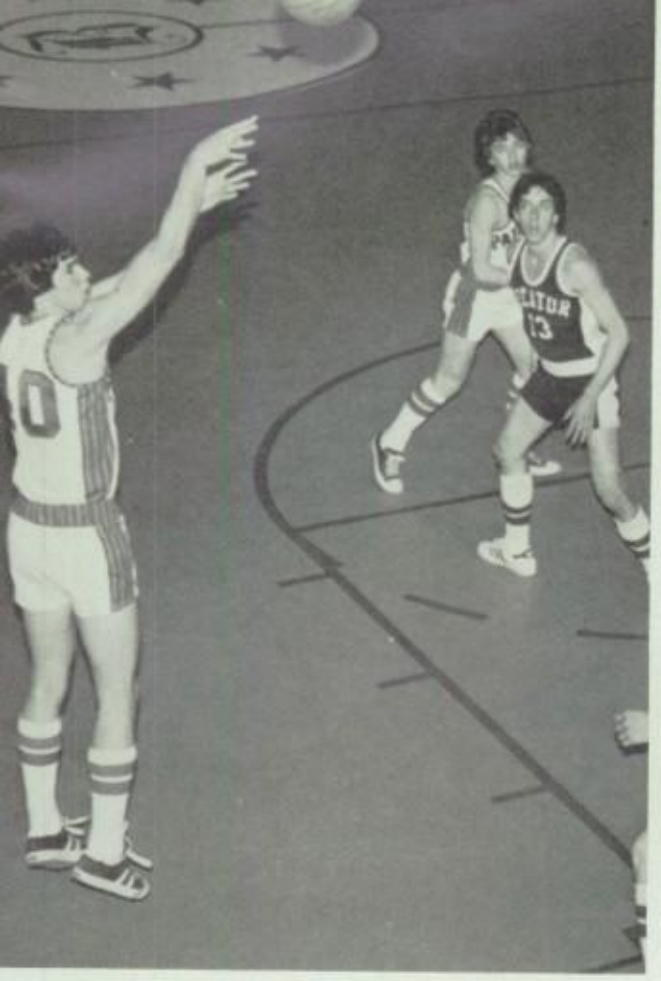
After driving under the goal, James McComb goes up for two.

With the usual expertise jump shot, Ricky Walker secures another goal for a Patriot victory.

Unable to shoot, John Paul Morrow passes off to another teammate.

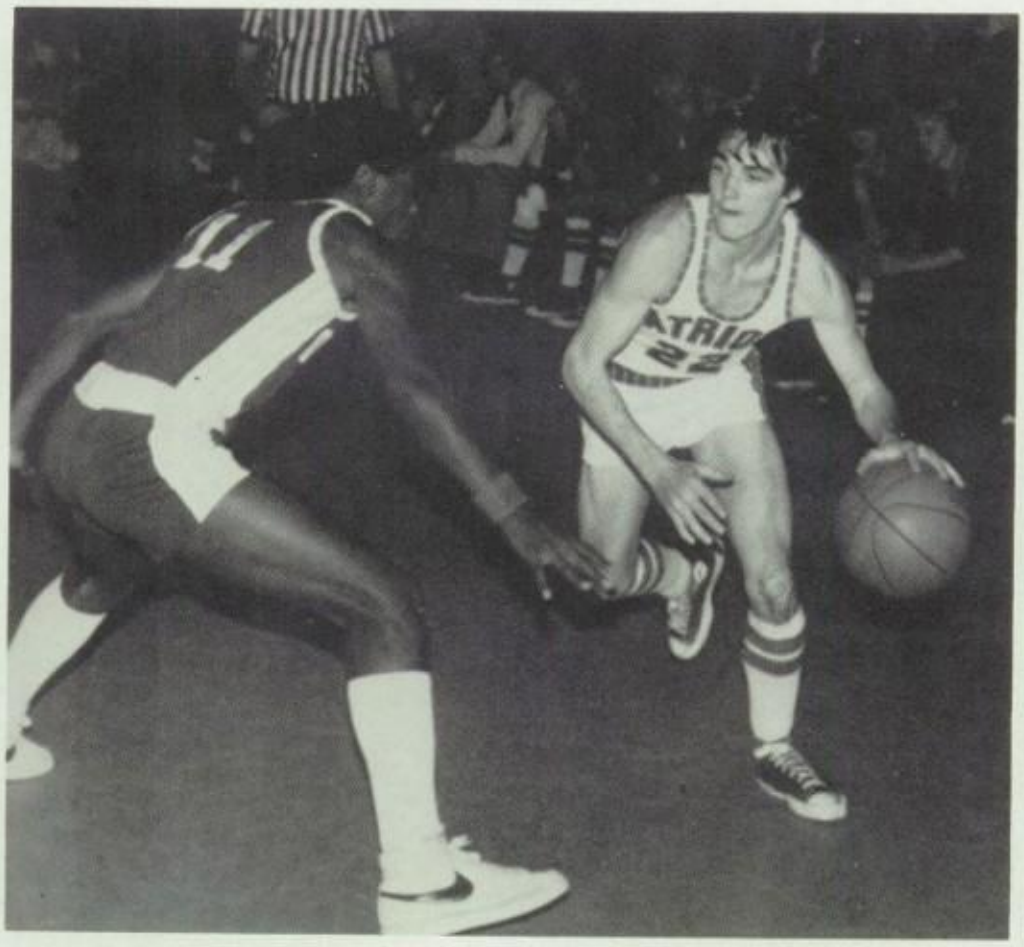
Getting a fast break to lay-up, Johnny Miller trys for two.





Aiming with an eagle eye, Dylan Jackson releases the ball.

Prevented from making an inward drive, James McComb makes split-second strategy, to pass off safely.



With the ball thrown out of bounds, James McComb, Dylan Jackson, and Johnny Miller wait for the referee to call the play.

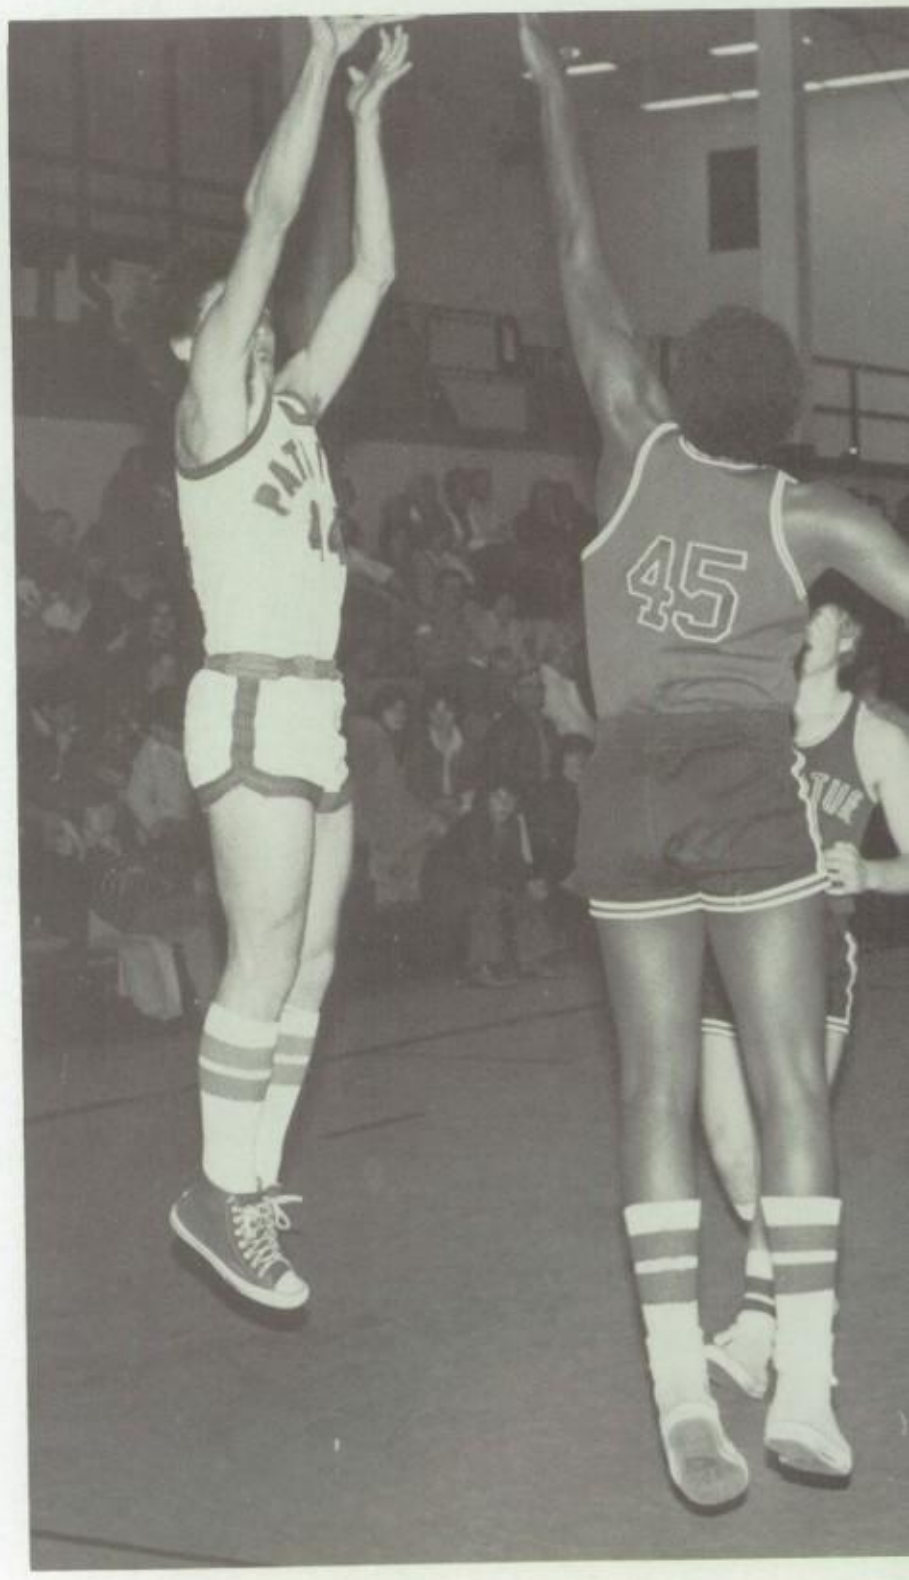
Upon quickly deciding his plan, Ricky Walker maneuvers toward the goal.

Thrusting upward, Dylan Jackson struggles vigorously for the rebound.

Gurley's Good Ol' Boys

The deligent work of the junior varsity is evident in the 10-8 record for the season. They put their all into every game, even though sometimes they were defeated. Coming close in many games, the team was always fast and on the move. Doing what they were told, the junior varsity was praised as being an enjoyable team to work with by the coaches.

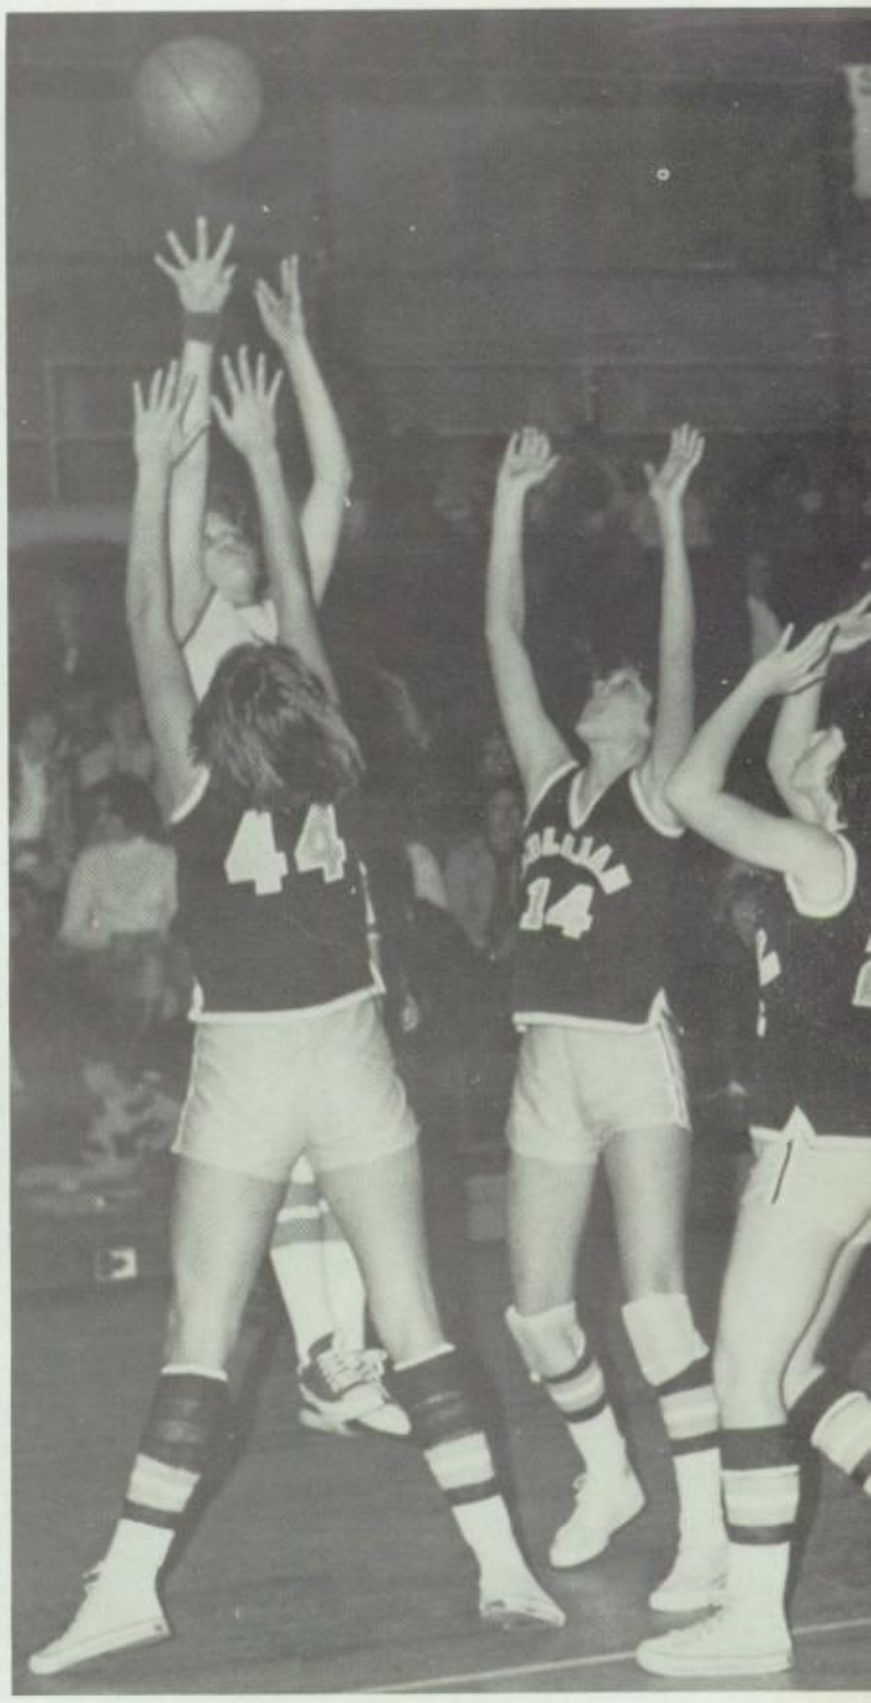
With a grimace of grit, Tommy St. John penetrates inward toward the goal.



Safe from the block of an oncoming guard, Keith McAnally executes a jump shot.

Rising above an opponent, Johnny Johnson shoots for two more points.

Meeting the captain of the opposing team, Alodie White and Gail Kaylor show good sportsmanship by wishing her luck.

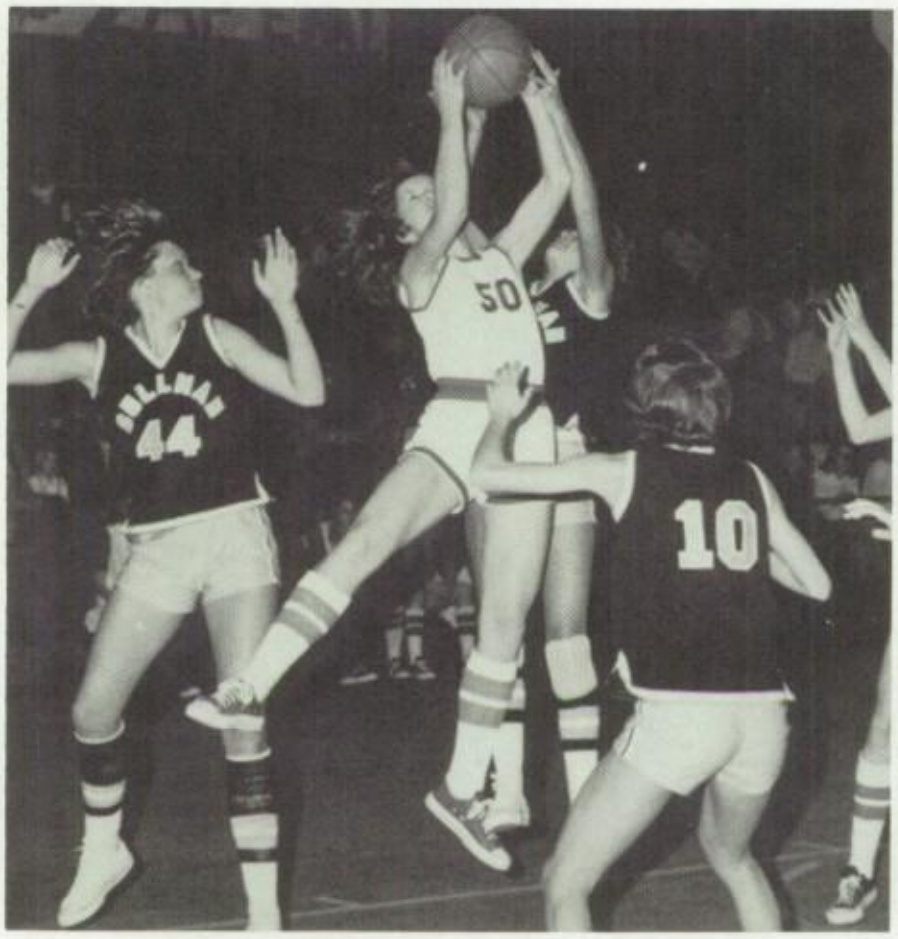


Driving the ball up hard, Lisa Blankenship shoots for two more points.

After this shot from the free-throw line by Alodie White, Diane Lawrence watches it fall through the net for an extra point.

Shoot It, Sink It!

This year the girls participated in five different basketball tournaments. They came out 1-1 in the Tip-Off Tournament at New Hope, Christmas Tournament at Athens and County Tournament at Priceville. They also captured 1st place in the Area Tournament in Cullman.



Whereas it may look like she is doing the bump, Diane Lawrence is actually doing what athletes call hustle in this jump for the ball.

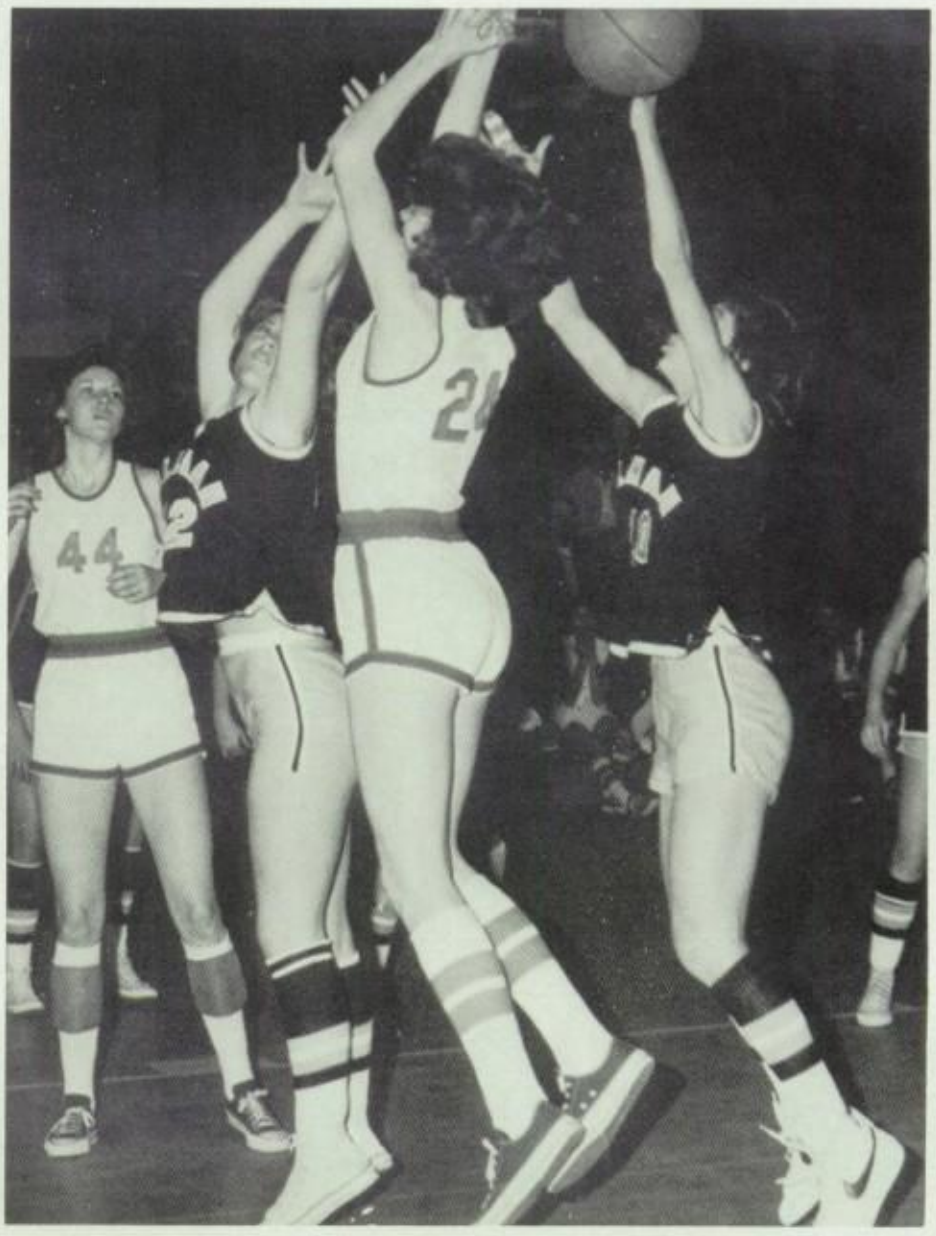
Holding onto the ball can be hard at times, but Alodie White hangs in there.

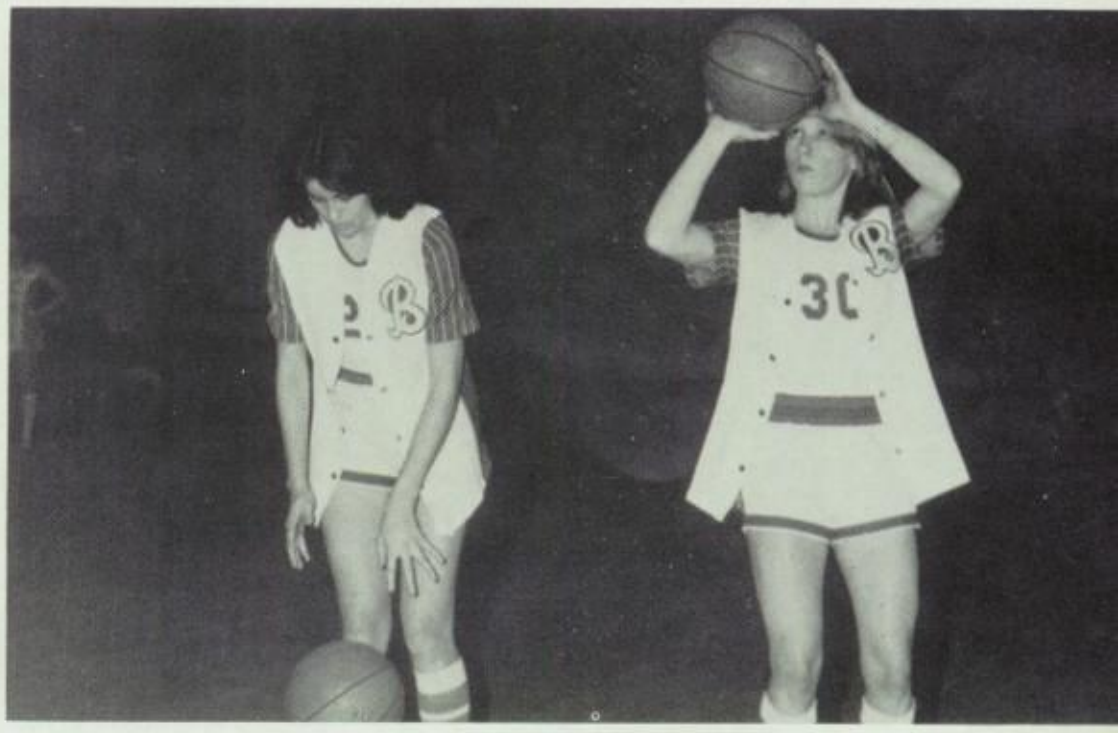
In this game against Cullman, Lisa Blankenship adds two points t the score board for the lady Patriots.

After a few warm-ups, the players are ready to begin the game.

Players Alodie White, Virginia Oakly, Angie Johnston, Diane Lawrence, and Nancy Brown discuss how they will start the game.

Trying her best, sophomore Diane Lawrence shoots for two points.





Showing great athletic ability this season, Lisa Blankenship, a sophomore, was one of the most outstanding players for the girls.

Warming up at the free-throw line helps ease some of the tension before the game for Virginia Oakly and Donna Maze.

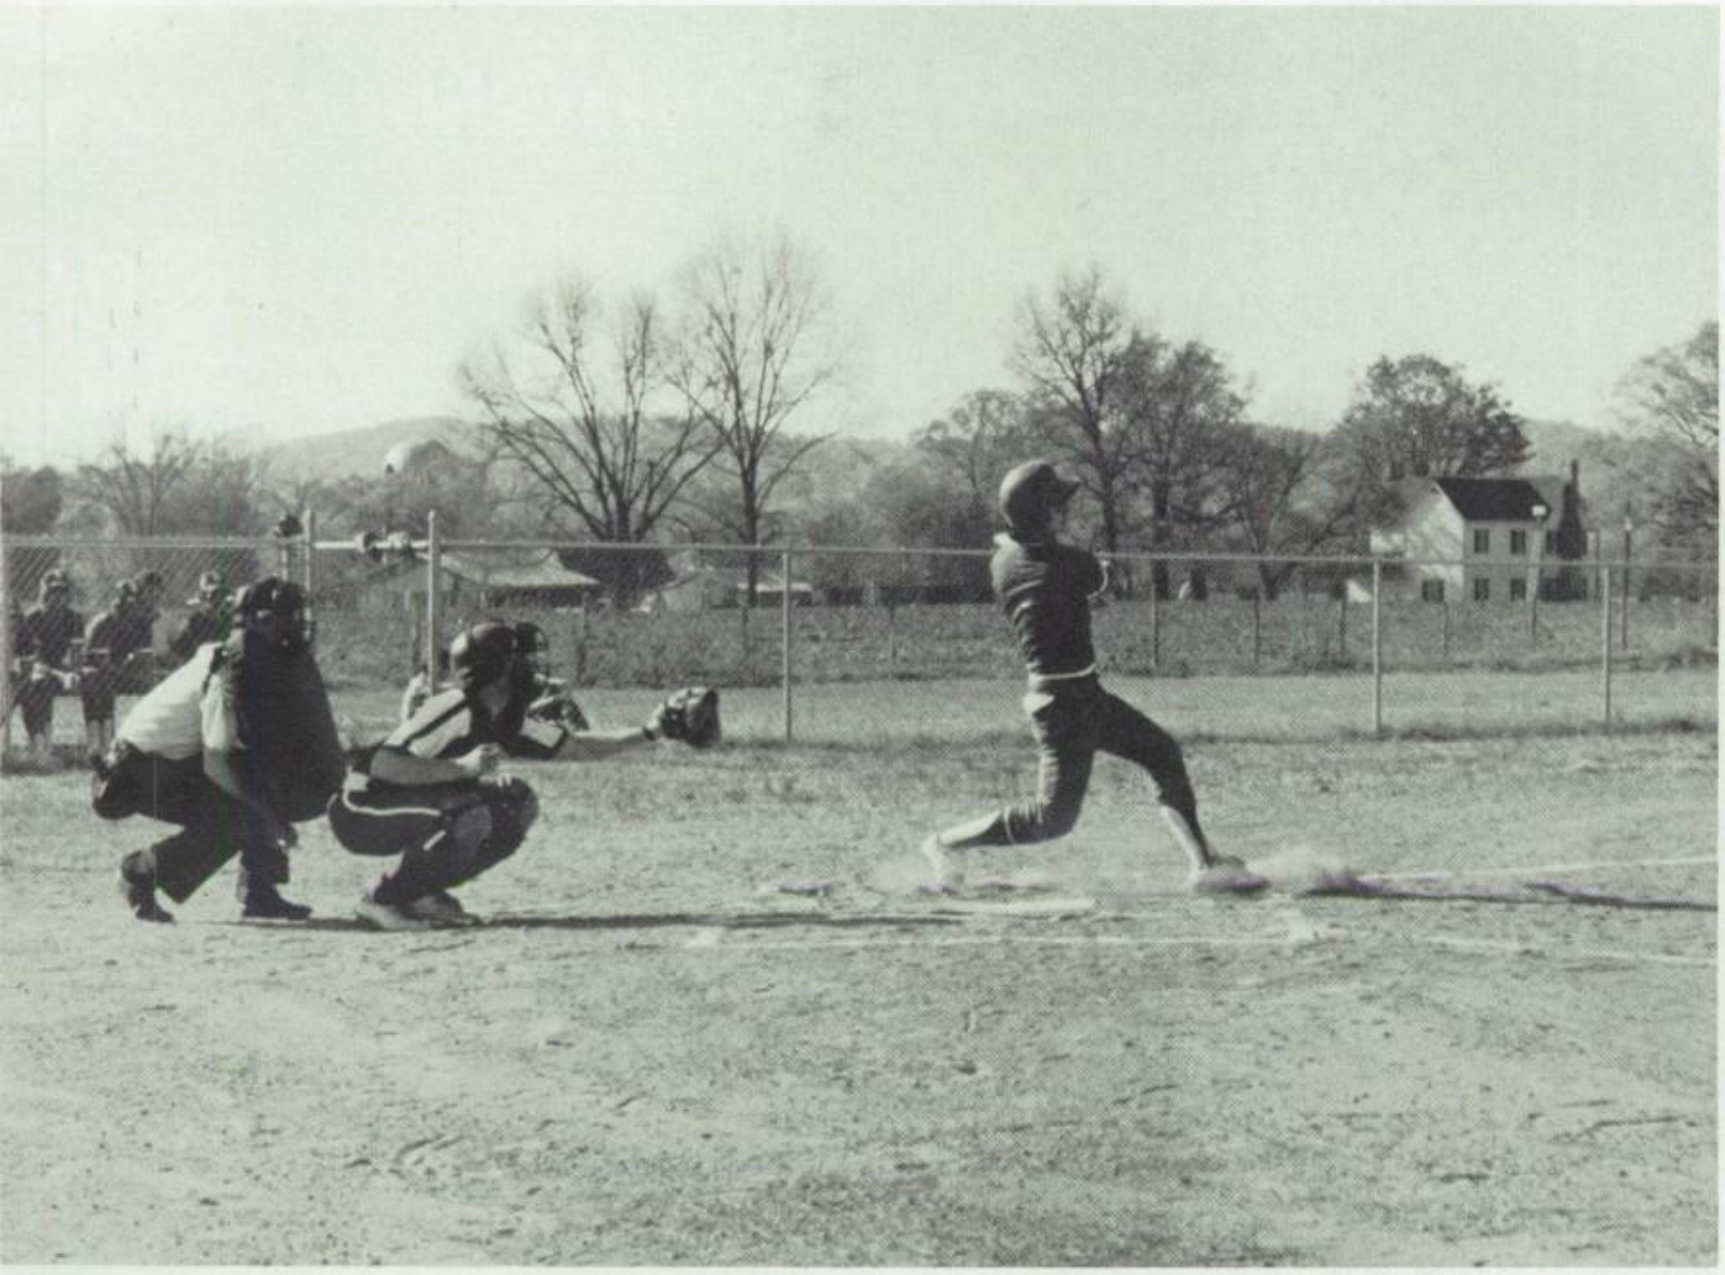
Traveling All-Stars

Having lost only one area game in the first half of the season, the baseball team is hoping for a birth in the State Tournament. With Spring Training in football behind, the team set out to have the best record ever. They defeated Decatur 8 to 4 in the first game of the season. Standing out in the hot sun and playing after school isn't quite ideal but is worth a chance at the State Championship.

Planted in the dirt, Keith Hammonds drives another fast one into the outfield.

On deck, Gene Dudley aides David Pritchett in whether to slide or stand up crossing homeplate.

After deciding the pitch, Phillip Hill hurtles in another strike.



Kicking up the dust, Ted Slaten ensures another basehit.

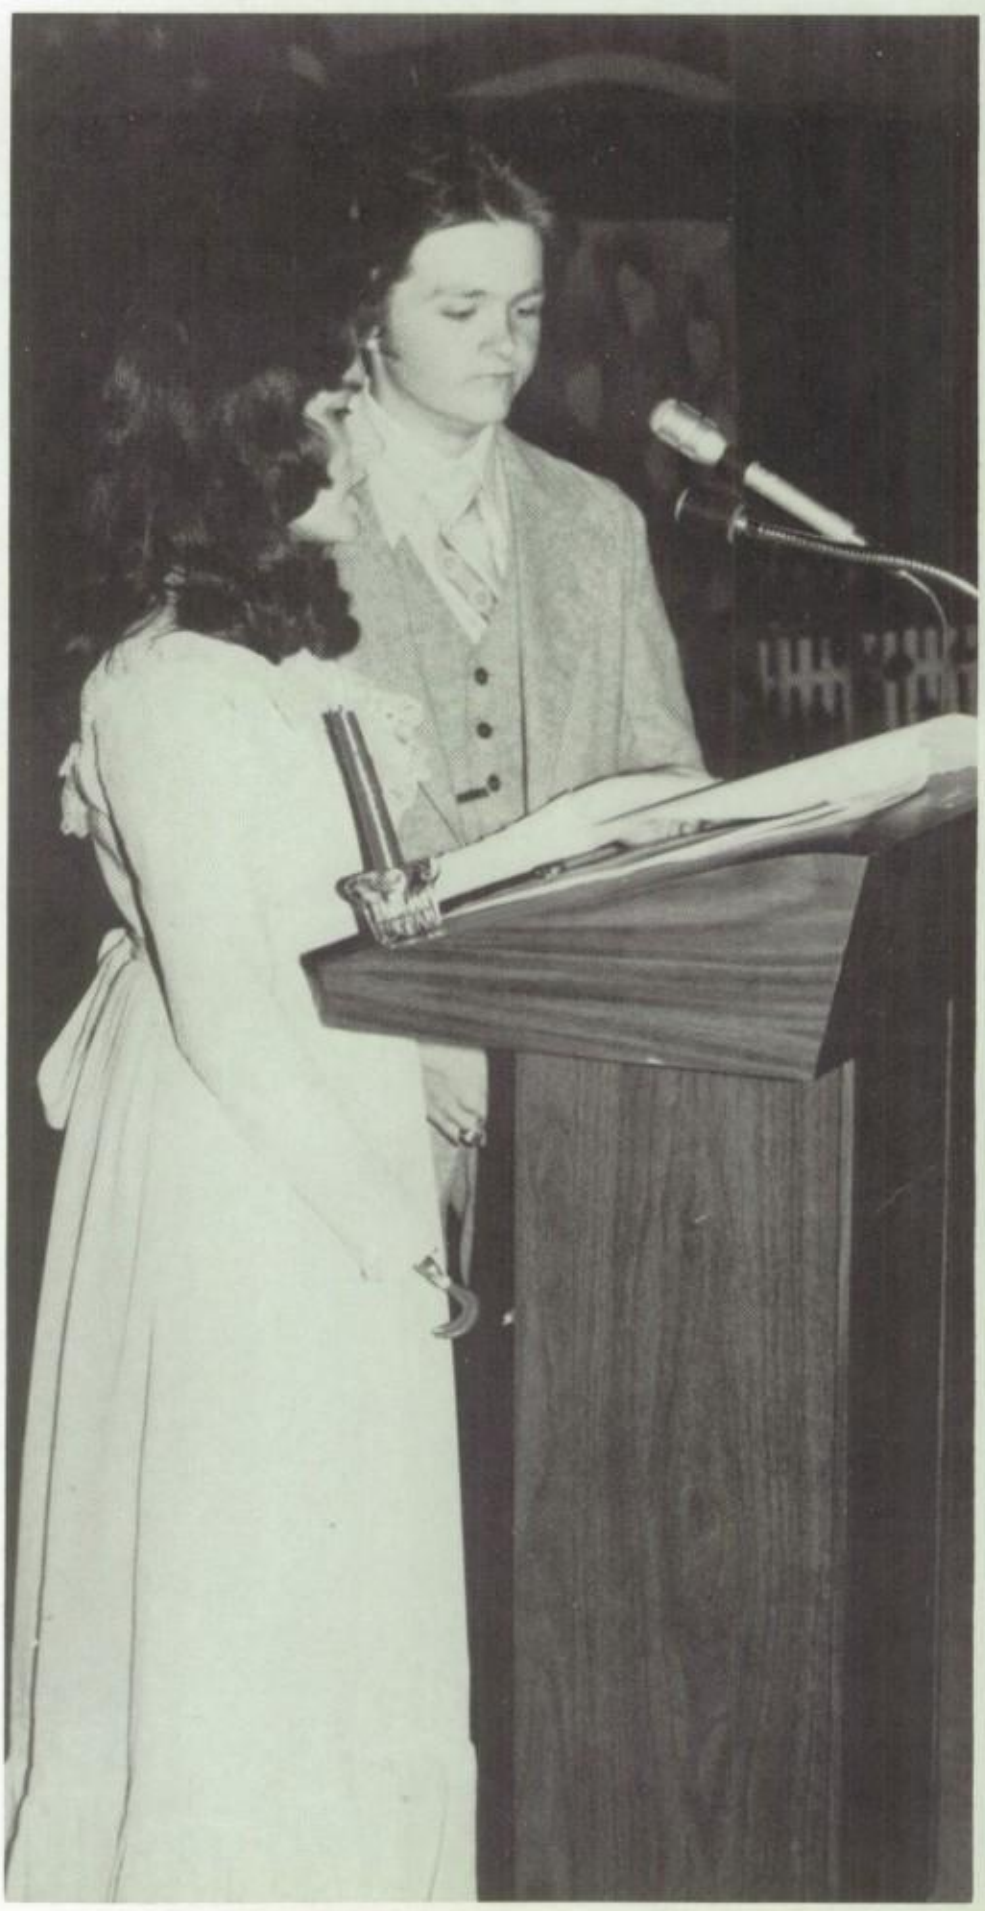
Crossing home plate safely, Rex Springer chalks up a run for a Patriot victory.

Having been pitched four balls, Glenn Lang trots to first base.

Miss Patrian Pageant

On the evening of Feb. 4, the Annual Staff sponsored the sixth annual "Miss Patrian Pageant." The judging began early in the day, as each contestant was interviewed for one minute. After these interviews, the contestants modeled their formals. At 7:00, the entrees were introduced to the audience, and the twenty finalists were announced. While the judges made their final decisions, entertainment was provided by Jeanelle Lott, Dewayne Fowler, and David Pritchett. After much anticipation, the winners were finally announced and this Brewer festivity came to an end.

The 1978 Miss Patrian is Tina Shelton; first runner-up, Dana Brown; second runner-up Joan Burden; third runner-up, Yulanda McCaghren; fourth runner-up, Beth Woodard.



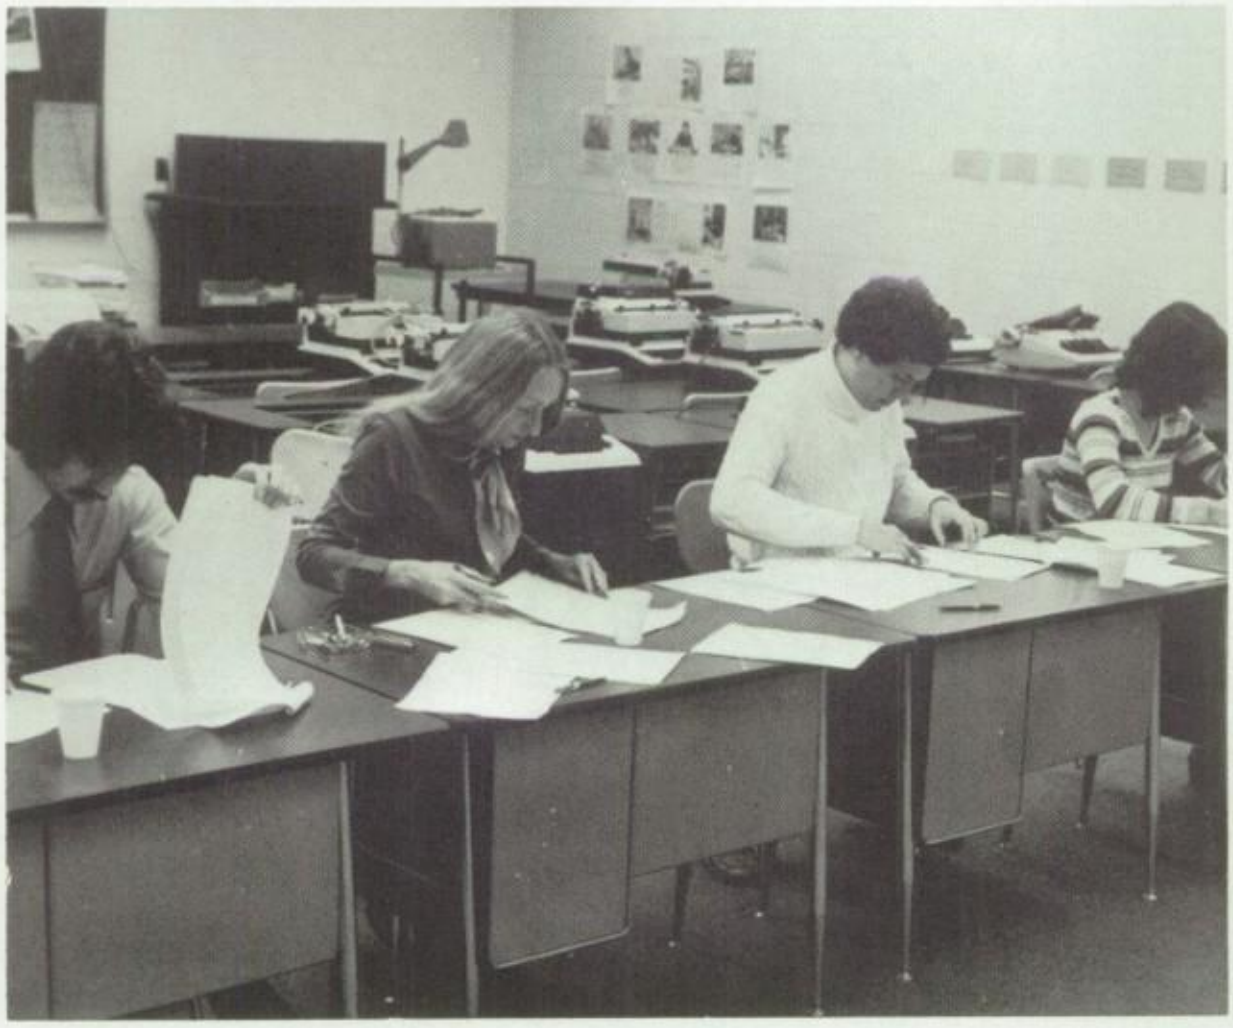
Mistress and Master of Ceremonies were Charolette McKee and David Winton.

The top twenty finalists were: Nancy Simmons, Vicki Pierce, Sherry Ransom, Lynn Owens, Ellen Nelson, Vickie Holmes, Rhonda Higdon, Robin Parker, Yulanda McCaghren, Dana Brown, Tina Shelton, Joan Burden, Beth Woodard, Stephanie Jordan, Lisa Jaquess, Renay Smith, Jackie Fowler, Sherry Helms, Lisa Golden.

Providing entertainment was David Pritchett. David sang several selections including one that he wrote.

All the girls in the pageant voted on the girl they thought was most helpful during the event. Chosen as Miss Congeniality was Robin Parker.

Showing their appreciation the Annual Staff gives their sponsor, Mrs. Duke, a dozen red roses.



Being crowned "Miss Patrian" was a very happy time in Tina Shelton's life.

The Beauty Pageant judges were: Mark Standridge, Liz Standridge, Dennis Holt, Susan Holt.

Friends come together to help fight nervousness. Ellen Nelson and Melissa Stanley are examples of this.

Beautiful Traditions

Since it is a tradition for most schools to have a beauty walk, Brewer High School is no different. To help carry out this tradition the Annual Staff takes over to make it a success.

There are many hours of hard work and concentration that go into this yearly event. First of all a theme must be thought of and decorations must be bought and put in the gym. The contestants must practice so they will be confident of themselves the night of the Pageant.

Finally the night arrives and all of the family and friends come to see that one certain person walk. This is what makes a Beauty Pageant a success.

After the girls have their interviews comes the time to parade in front of the judges in their evening gowns.

Showing how graceful she can be, Stacy Wood poses for the camera.

Entertainment for the night was Jeanelle Lott and Dewayne Fowler.

Taking a break from the busy activities, Eddie St. John, Glenn Lang, and Rhonda Smith enjoy the time for friendly chatting and relaxation.

Eagerly awaiting the dunk, the crowd watches Jimmy Watkins as he attempts to hit the target of the dunking machine.

With thoughts of gardening and planting, the sunny spring day brought many people out of their houses and into the warm weather to shop for shrubbery and plants.

Snow, slush, and mud from winter provided many cars with an excuse to be washed by the Auto Body and Fender classes.

Browsing through merchandise from The Jean Shack at Somerville, Lorrie Clotfelter and Cindy Slater from Cotaco hope to find their size in some new spring and summer fashions.

Spring Fever Is Contagious

Plenty of crafts were provided by local shops for shoppers to admire and to purchase if desired.

As Mr. Simms takes revenge upon Mr. McAnally in the dunking booth, the idea is proved that even teachers have to let out their frustrations on someone.

Proving to be the favorite event of the day, the dunking machine drew many students, clad in shorts and summer tops, to watch their "favorite" people get "all washed up."

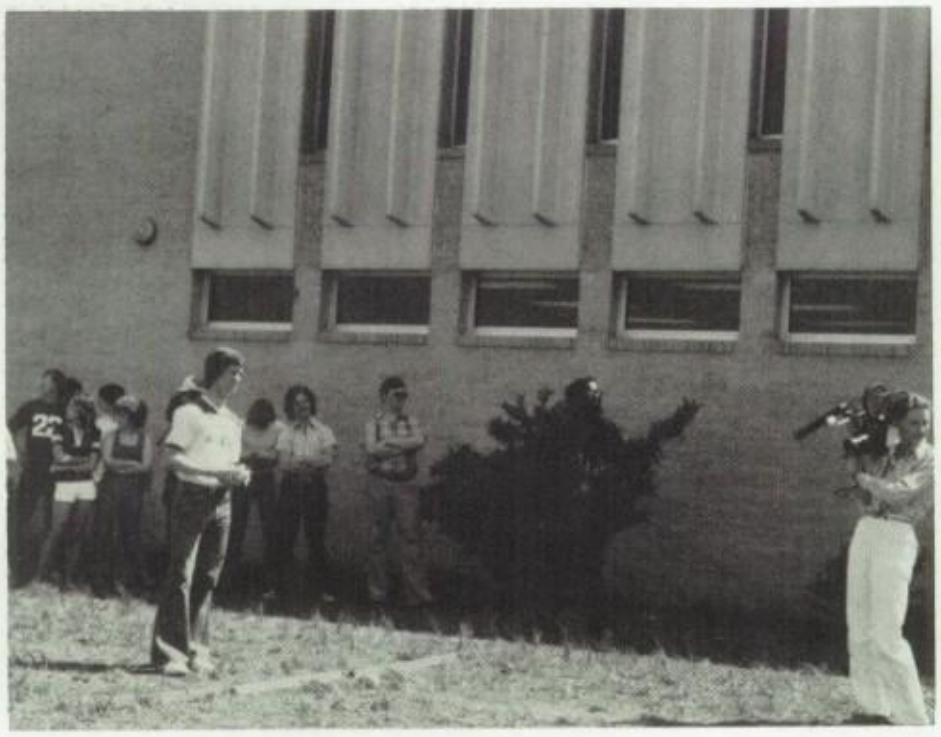
Anxiously searching through handmade, calico towels, placemats, and pillows, Patricia Brooks and David Graveman make the decision to buy or not to buy.

On April 1, the school, being desperate for supplementary funds, sponsored the first Spring Festival, or Spring Fling as many students called it, which may become an annual event. The anticipated goal for the money-raising event was between $3,000 and $4,000, however, we exceeded the goal and reached a total of $5,200.

Beginning at 10 o'clock in the morning and lasting until 10:30 that night, the Spring Festival had something to offer to every child, student, teacher, and parent that attended.

While parents were browsing through the many different "shops," young children were eagerly watching cartoons. Students sold tickets for the Bar-B-Q lunch and for the Disco Dance to be held that night. Many students entered the talent show, played bingo, washed cars, watched an intersquad football game, or tried their artistic ability in Spin-Art.

As in all school-sponsored events, each student and teacher had to participate to make the Spring Festival the success that it was. Most people enjoyed their participation and felt that the work and effort they put in was all worthwhile.



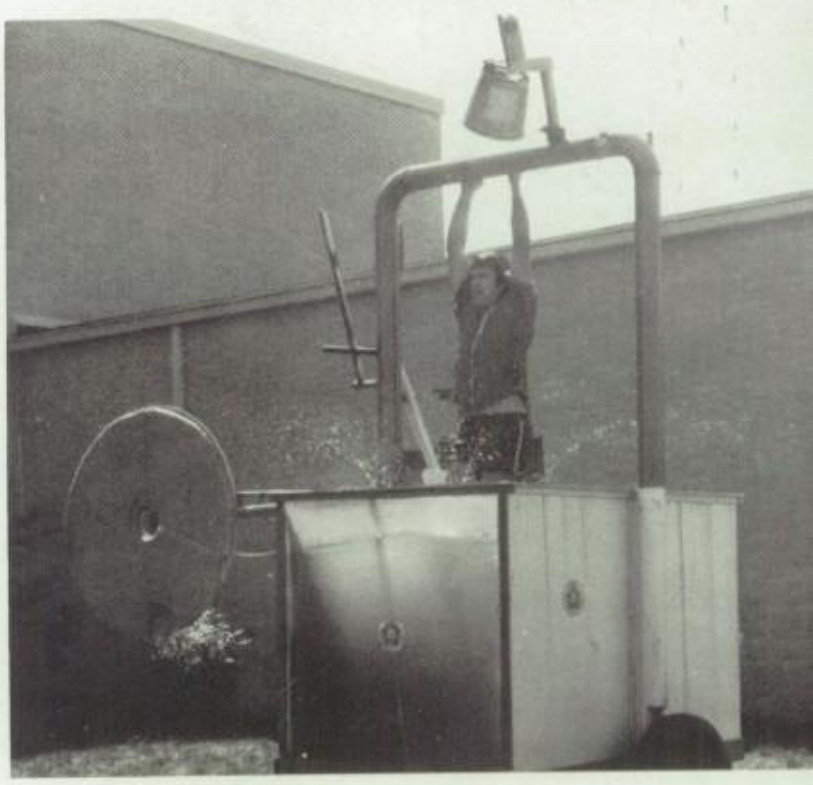
From Action News 19, Missy Ming seems interested in getting into the "action" for complete coverage of the Spring Festival, including Eddie St. John contemplating the pitch.

Ready to give prizes to the Bingo winners, Coach Gurley and Stanley Chaffin call out the winning numbers.

It may seem funny to Mr. Thomaskutty, Mr. Tucker, and Mr. Hinkle to see someone else be dunked, but not quite so sunny when their time comes.

Out for the special event, Dr. J.V. Sailors, the superintendent of Morgan County Schools, talks to Mr. Lott and Doug Winton about the success of the Festival.

Trying to avoid the unavoidable fall, Mr. McAnally clings to the top rail of the dunking booth.



Watching and waiting, Mrs. Claire Tilley, Kenneth Tilley, Jim Daniels, and Kay Wood keep track of the Art Club's profits.

There's nothing like music to catch someone's attention as David Pritchett proves while singing for the talent show.

Trying on shoes and hats from the rummage sale, Margaret Wozny, Amanda Kay, and David Stevens anticipate buying.

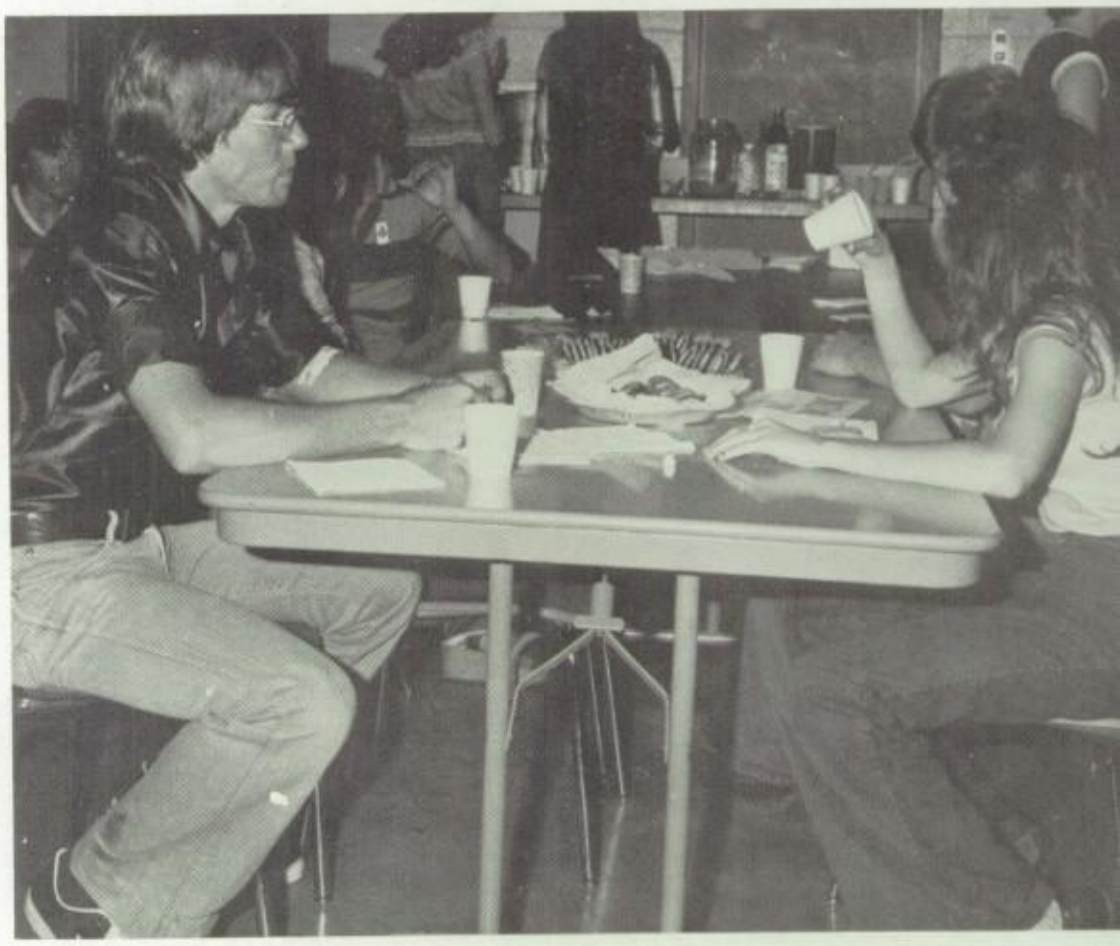
Disco music was provided by KICKS 106 from Birmingham.

Blood Drive Goal Exceeded by 17 Pints

During the first couple of weeks of April the Student Council members and various other students began preparing for the annual blood drive. The goal for this year was set at 200 pints. From students, teachers, and people from the community we had a total of 217 pints donated.

The blood drive was set up by the Red Cross units out of Birmingham, plus the Decatur Red Cross sent several nurses. The Student Council and other volunteers helped with the donators. After giving blood, a person was treated with cookies and a cup of coke or orange juice. To top it all off any person who gave blood or had someone to give blood received a free pass to "The Other Side of the Mountain", which was shown here at school. All other students paid a 50¢ admission charge.

Taking the temperature and pulse of donator Kathy Baker, was routine for Amanda Kay and Terri Ditto.



After giving blood, Mike Smith and other students enjoyed the cantine.

While relaxing after giving blood, Mr. Hinkle talked with Mac Miller and Sherri Moore.

Student Council President, Jackie Fowler stayed busy helping fellow students during the blood drive.

And the Winner Is . . .

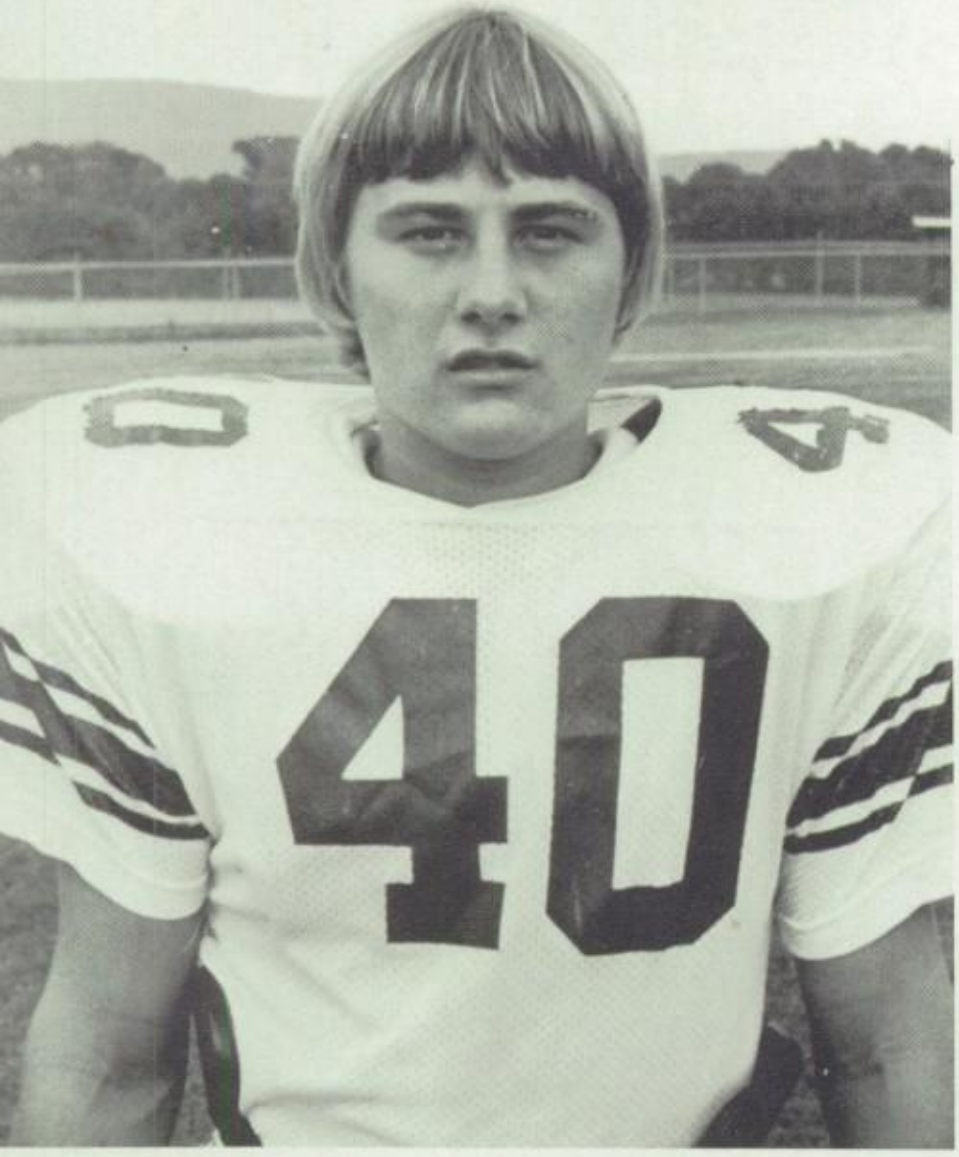
William Neal and Jackie Fowler Selected Mr. and Miss B.H.S.

Mr. and Miss B.H.S., William Neal and Jackie Fowler, were selected by the faculty as the overall outstanding seniors. William and Jackie received this award on the basis of high moral standards, dependability, cooperation and scholastic averages. Jackie is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Fowler. She was a varsity cheerleader, and a member of the Beta Club. Mr. and Mrs. William V. Neal are the proud parents of William Neal. William was a full back and defensive end for Brewer's football team.

Jackie was a member of the Beta Club, and was a varsity cheerleader for two years.

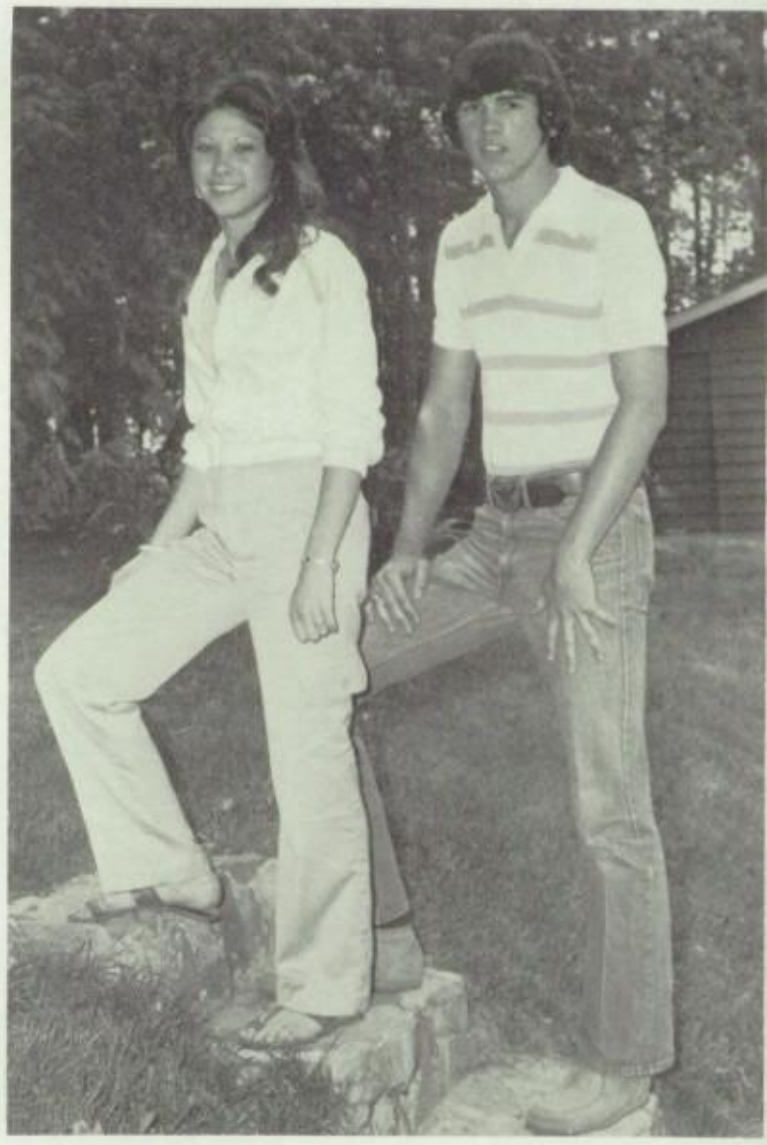
William won the famed Patriot award for his spectacular playing on the football team.



Alternates

First Alternates to Mr. and Miss B.H.S. were Charolette McKee and Johnny Maxwell.

Second Alternates were Belinda Rolfe and Dylan Jackson.



Donna Hunkeapillar and James Self were third alternates.

Sandra Dye and Mac Miller were chosen fourth alternates to Mr. and Miss B.H.S.

Sunny Days and Sunny Smiles

On May 18, the seniors had their annual Senior Day. Again, it was held at Smith Lake. The students enjoyed swimming, skiing, and eating. The day was sunny and this matched the many senior's sunny faces.

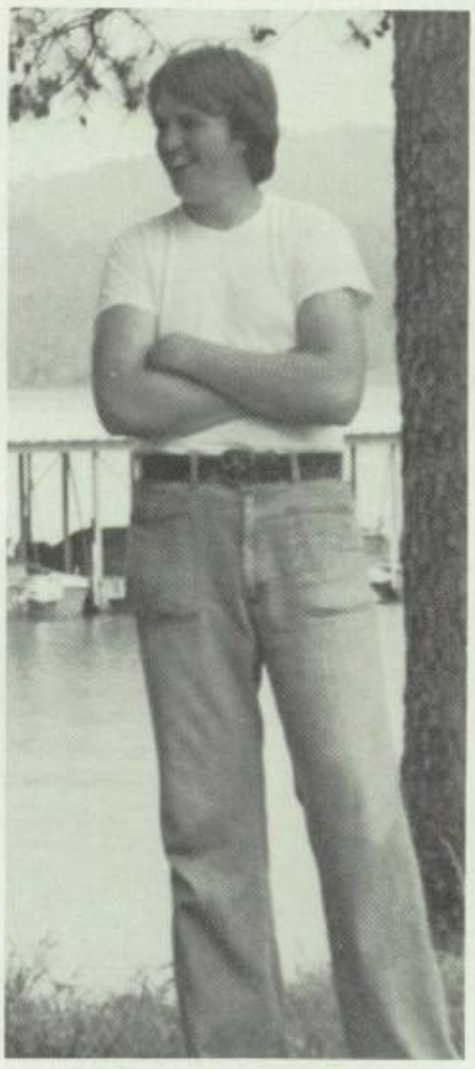
After an exciting day, Terri Livingston and David Smith prepare to go home.

During the day many people enjoyed skiing or waiting to ski.

Enjoying a day on the lake Ricky Alexander, Chris Ryan, Vent Chambers, Lucretia Boyd, Tommy Harden, James Self, and Terri Livingston relax in the boat.

Riding #6, Vent Chambers "lets the good times roll!"

After a fun filled morning, these seniors prepare to eat.



Taking a break from the sun is Tommy Harden.

Trying to persuade someone to come along is not hard when it's 10-1. Donna Cantrell is faced with this problem.

To benefit the students, Mr. Tucker brought his boat to the lake.

In the Beginning

Tape, tape, and more tape was used in places besides papering the wall.

Although hands were kept busy making stars, decorators Sherry Helms, Winda Holmes, Sherri Moore, and Beverly Cobb found time to have fun.

In line for the Senior Leadout, Sherry Rivers and Carlton Sharp prepare to make their final debute as seniors.

Amid the starry decor, the dance band plays the theme song "Always and Forever."

That Starlit Evening

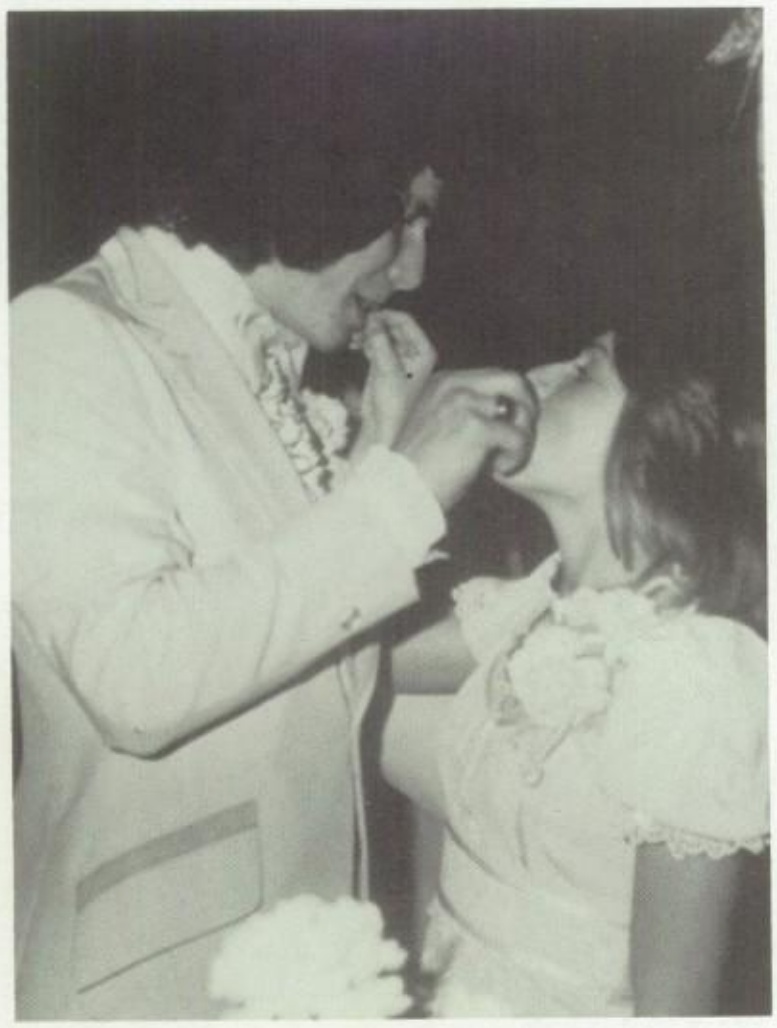
Time may wear away mountains and change the country-side, but on April 29, 1978 at the Student Concourse everything was "Always and Forever." Swishy long formals and fancy tuxedos or suits (alias jean-clad students) abounded the equally-adorned dance floor as disco rhythms from the dance band enticed couples to dance. A miraculous transformation from a familiar concourse to a starlit evening atmosphere was due to the time and talents of the decorating committee. Stars of silver and metallic columns provided a romantic celestial mood to this important evening. Traditionally sponsored by the Junior class, the prom signaled a parting farewell to the Seniors which they will hold in their memory "Always and Forever."

Smiling, Mike Draper and Melissa Benson walk unhesitatingly up the starry path before onlookers to the song "Always and Forever."

Clad completely with such details as ruffled shirt, tails, and cane Jackie Husky escorting Debbie Kinney receive much attention from the crowd.

After dancing, many couples rested, socialized, or simply watched others out on the dance floor.

What's a prom without a bit of disco? Pam Brown and Gary Logan join the rest in dancing their own routine.



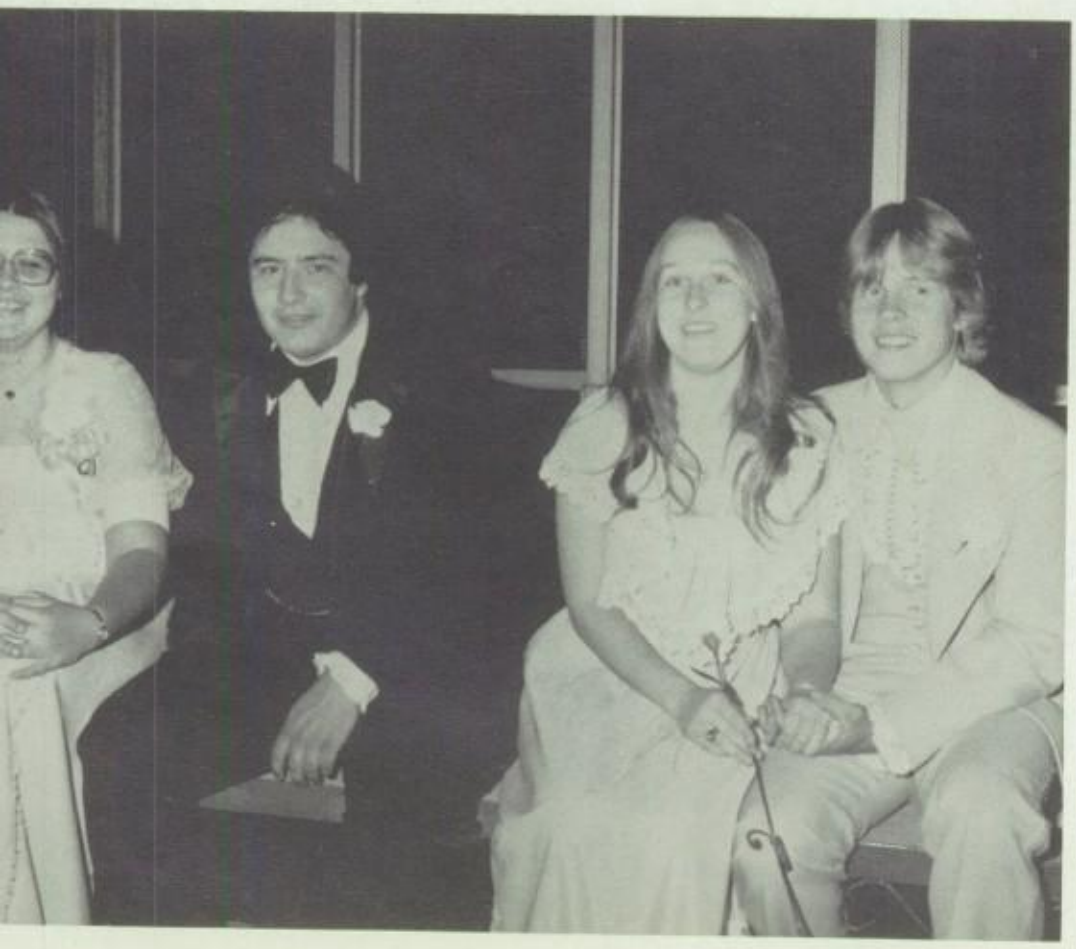
No, it isn't a wedding reception, but simply David Graveman and Patricia Brooks sampling the refreshments while trying to restore their energy for the next dance.

As Steve Liveoak demonstrates his technique on the dance floor, the photographer catches his unique moves.

In spite of the long dresses, high heels, tuxedos, and ties, everyone seems to enjoy dancing beneath the twinkling stars.

Brother and sister, Alodie and Jim White, perform their solo version of "Saturday Night Fever."

Awaiting her next customer, Susan Morgan, a sophomore, helps with the serving of punch, peanuts, cookies, and finger sandwiches for the hungry dancers.



Dressed in silks and satins, Jim White and Tanya Watson sway to the soft, slow music.

Taking a break from the crowded dance floor, Pam Thompson, David Johnson, Lagratha Worley, and Michael Trosper enjoy the fresh air and few seats provided by the open court.

Coach Murphy presents Phillip Barnett with a plaque to commend him for a job well done.

Unable to attend the Athletic Banquet because of the state track meet, Greg Metcalf and Patricia Patterson display their trophies.

Honoring Our Athletes

Not only does an athlete need to be honored for getting the most rebounds or for running the most yards in a season, but also for participating, practicing, and staying after school on some days when you really didn't feel up to it.

As in years past, the annual athletic banquet was sponsored by the Booster's Club. This banquet allows the athletes from all sports to receive the recognition that they readily deserve.

Bob Shuttleworth, the basketball coach from Calhoun College, was the guest speaker.

aded with trophies, certificates, and plaes, Randy Tanner is proud to have served the wrestling team . . .

When the banquet is over, faculty and honored guests have a chance to mingle with the crowd and to gather scraps to take back home to the family pet.

Ticket Sales Brings Rewards

Students who participated in selling tickets for barbecue plates at the Spring Festival were rewarded with a free day from school or a trip to Smith Lake. Qualifications were that the students sell 12 or more tickets. Also, the homeroom selling the most tickets was given the free day. Accompanying the students to Smith Lake were Mr. Tucker, Coach and Mrs. Murphy.

Top right: Having some fun, Greg Greer and Larry Graham try to dunk an unwilling Coach Murphy.

Second right: Sure and capable, Mr. Tucker takes Cythia Frost, Kay Wood, and Mrs. Murphy out for a ride on the lake.

Third right: Students were willing to unload Mr. Tucker's boat for a day of swimming and skiing at the lake.

Bottom right: Stopping for talk, Cathy Davidson, James Self, and Lisa Blankenship listen to something funny from Donna Maze.

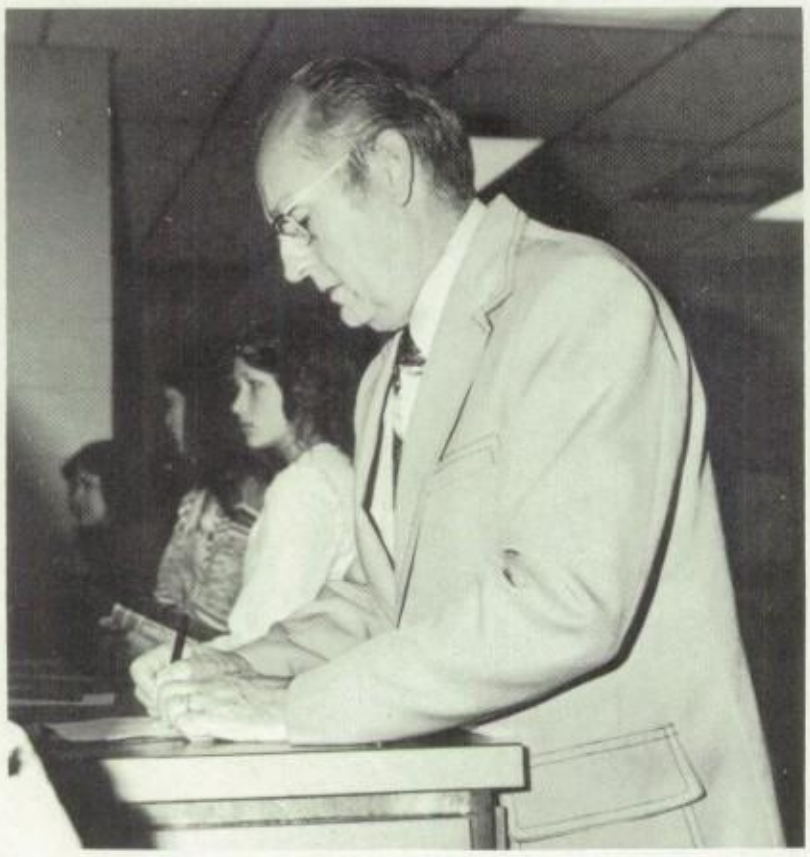
concern — these are some of the traits describing a typical member of the Brewer High Faculty. Every student, even though he may not admit it, admires or is appreciative of each teacher. They are the ones responsible for providing a firm foundation upon the career or education each student has chosen. The faculty seems not as an authoritative body to keep students in line, but they seem as adult friends concerned about your life and education.

The administration is responsible for both the success of the faculty and students. These people have the authority over certain decisions made that are involved in making this school one of the most outstanding in the state. All the good potentials of both faculty and the student body is useless unless it is guided by good, dependable leaders. Mr. James Tucker is the main person of the three that make up the administration. Bill Sims is Mr. Tucker's right hand man. These two take care of the academic half of the school, but Mr. C. A. Blevins administers over the vocational department. All three of these men play a most important role in making B.H.S. the fine institution that it is.

James Tucker — Being principal of a school is what Mr. Tucker has always had ambition for since being influenced by a former high school principal. But if things get too tough, Mr. Tucker would like to fulfill his second dream and that is to own his own cafe and even do part of the cooking.



Bill Sims — Enjoying life to its fullest is to accomplish your dreams. To Mr. Sims, that's working and helping students here at B.H.S. in any way he can.

Faculty

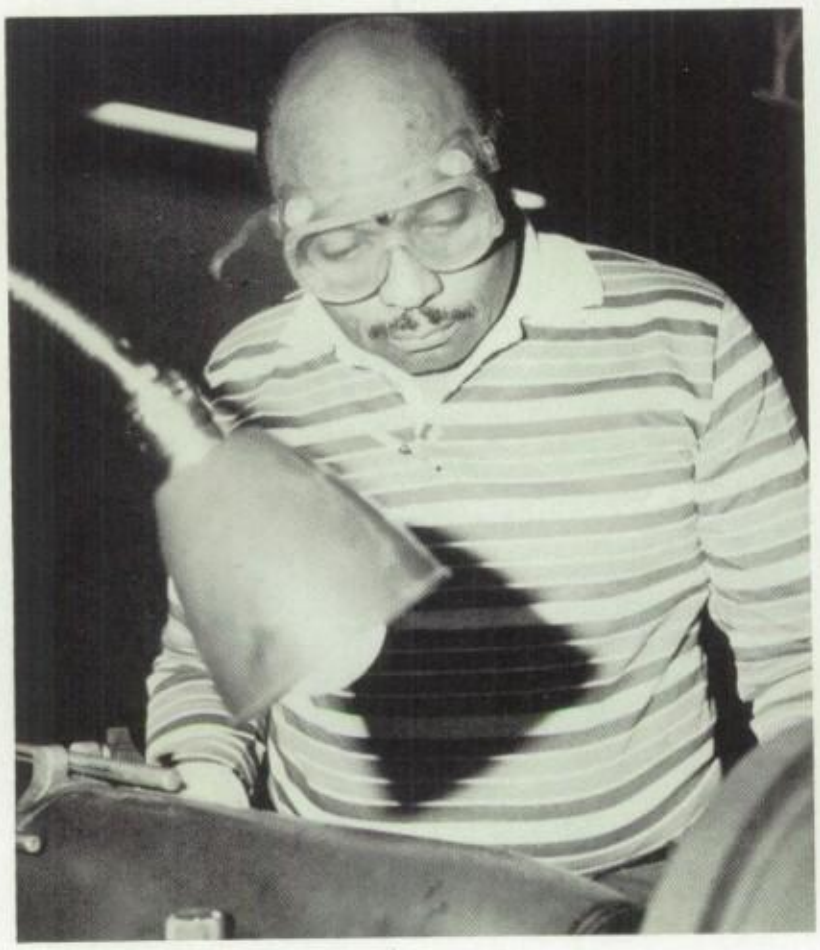
C. A. Blevins — As Vocational Director, Mr. Blevins finds his work pleasurable. No problem is too impossible or any responsibility too stiff to match the fine job Mr. Blevins does to keep Brewer running smoothly.

ala Hornbuckle — Working in the office is one duty Mrs. Hornckle enjoys, even when Mr. Tucker yells at her when Mr. Blev· spills coffee on the carpet.

ia Rolfe — Life as the principals secretary can get pretty gh when the phones start ringing and there are letters to be ed, all at the same time. But when the day's over, Mrs. Rolfe oys the relaxation at home with her crafts and needlepoint.

Jerry Atkins — Safety in driving is an important subject to high school students. To Mr. Atkins, safety means more time to enjoy life because "once they lower the box, it's all over."

Debra Bahr — Ms. Bahr doesn't look upon teaching as a job, but as an adventure and a creative experience every day. Also, it is a chance to remain young at heart.



Berkley Brooks — Vocational classes are a great opportunity for students to obtain experience in their choice of career. Mr. Brooks finds experiment the best experience.

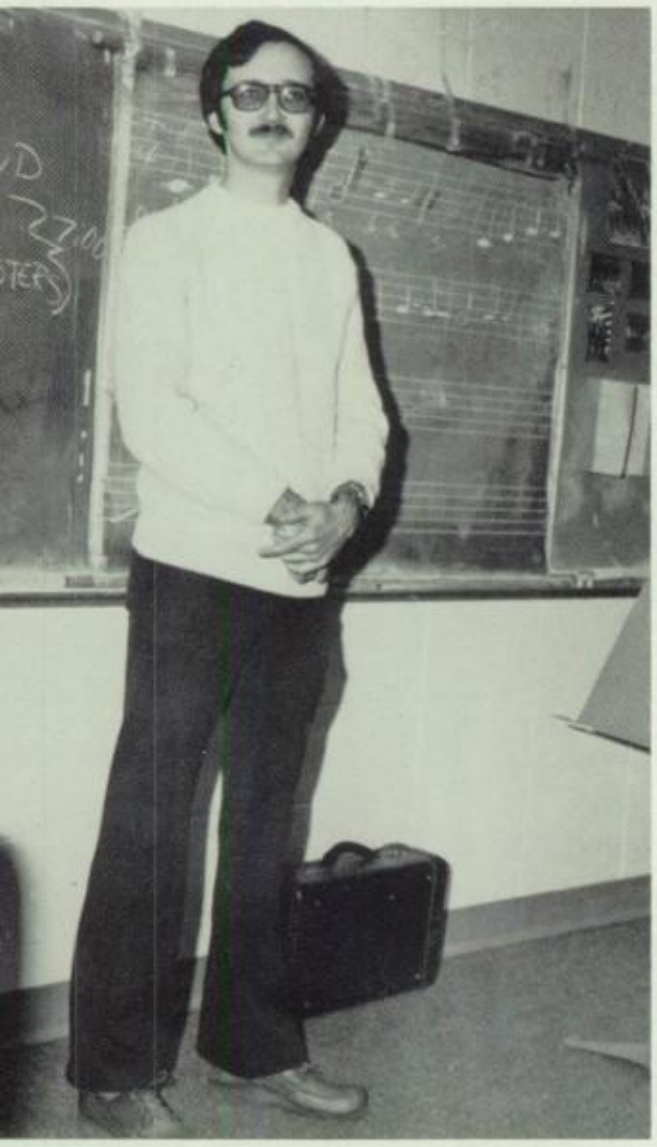
Wendell Bryan — Following several generations of teachers, Mr. Bryan enjoys sharing his knowledge in Electronics, and the summer vacation that most jobs don't offer.

Paul Byrd — When opportunity knocked at Mr. Byrd's door, it was gladly welcomed. With 15 years experience in Auto Body under his belt, students find that there is little that he doesn't know.

Ronnie Cantrell — Co-operation from both the students and faculty is what makes it all worth while. In Mr. Cantrell's opinion, once you accomplish this, you cannot fail.

Gary Cobb — Teaching biology is Mr. Cobb's main ambition in life for now, but some day he would like to further his career and teach in college.

Victor Compton — Besides teaching history, Mr. Compton assures proper parking in the parking lot. Outside of school, Mr. Compton enjoys outdoor sports of fishing, hunting, and ballgames.



Jim Crawley — Practice, hard work, and a desire to win is what Mr. Crawley pushes. When you give up and don't try, you can't expect something for nothing.

Kenneth Dix — With a desire to see young people make a success of the air-condition and refrigeration trade, Mr. Dix entered teaching. But there are times when he feels like giving up, like when he gets into an impossible situation with no one to blame but himself.

Linda Duke — With classes at night, papers to grade, and yearbook finals due, Mrs. Duke still finds time for herself and friends. Active in outdoor events, Mrs. Duke loves to jog and ride her bike.

Vickie Dukes — Her continuous smile lets you know that Mrs. Dukes loves her work. Well most of the time. The smile can sometimes drop at the sight of stacks of paperwork and forms to be filled out.

Rose Glascow — Being a former secretary, Ms. Glascow can give first hand information in the training of Business and Office Education.

David Gurley — Because of a deep desire become involved and to help the youth of toda
Coach Gurley yielded toward teaching. Teachi
World History and coaching are his way of showi his concern.

Mike Hinkle — As founder of the well known "Hi lism", Mr. Hinkle enjoys working with students much as we like sharing his company which alwa brings about a smile or laugh.

Linda Holland — Encouraged by her desire for further knowledge, Mrs. Holland turned to teaching which enabled her to increase her study of great literary figures and their works.

Timothy Hopper — Through years of hard work and training in the Army, Lt. Col. Hopper decided to pass on his knowledge. The ROTC program at Brewer appreciates the fine job Col. Hopper is doing with the students.

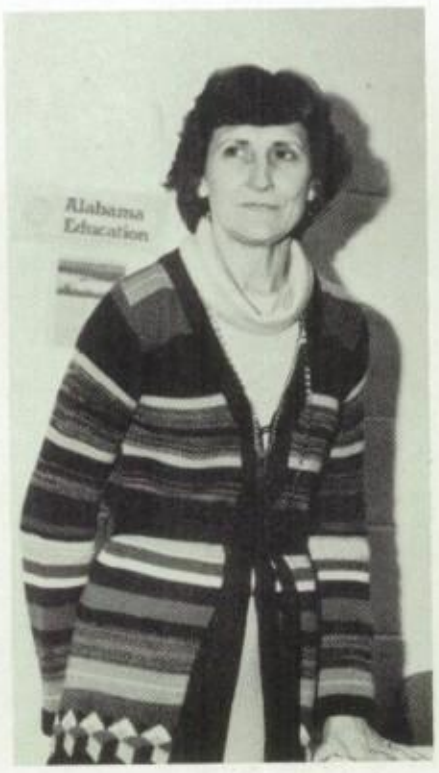
Becky Key — Every teacher needs someone or something to fall back on. For Mrs. Key, Romans 8:28 is her shoulder to lean on. "All things work for good of them who love the Lord."

Andrew Latham — A new experience for Brewer is the Distributive Education Program. To Mr. Latham, it's a time to prepare you for the working world.

Judy Lett — To Mrs. Lett, teenagers and high school are great. But sometimes when things aren't going smoothly, a familiar quote helps to ease the day by, "God grant me the serenity to accept the things I cannot change, the courage to change the things I can, and the wisdom to know the difference."

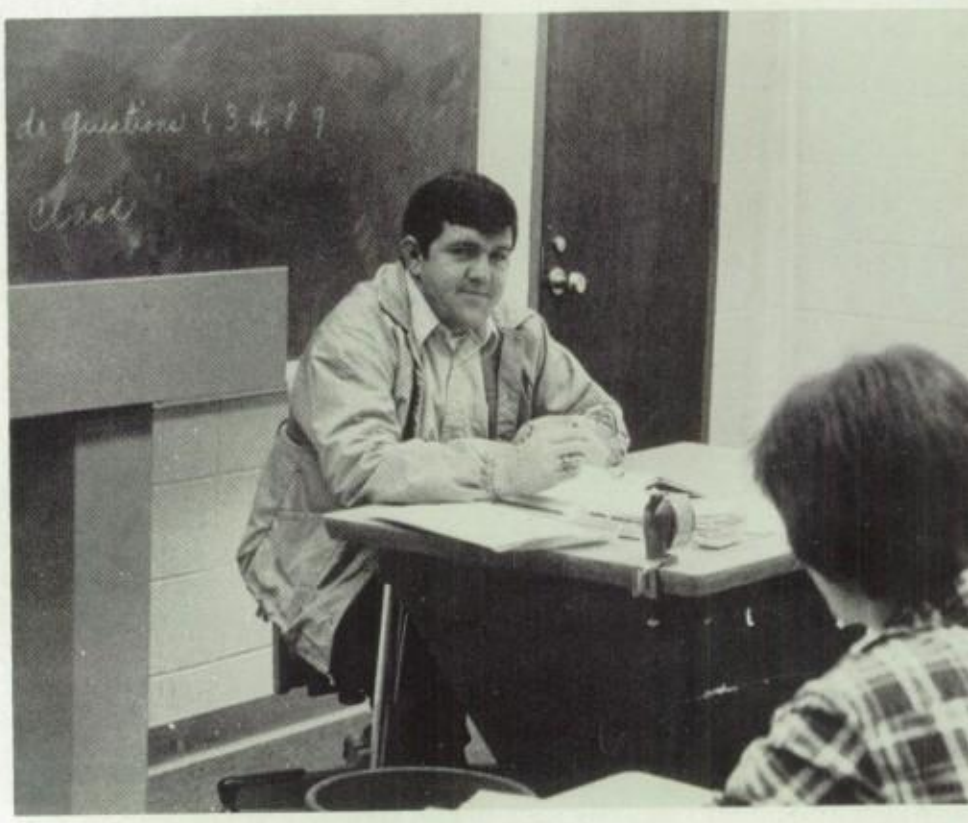
J. D. Light — Mr. Light, who teaches math, said that he didn't really want to become a teacher at first, but the experiences in his job decided for him that he had made the right choice of occupation.

Leslie Maze — For Mrs. Maze teaching Childcare is only one part of her life; she is also a wife, mother, grandmother and an individual. Her favorite quote is "Today is the first day of the rest of your life."



D. C. Lott — Studying genealogy is Mr. Lott's favorite hobby. When he took Ag. in high school, he liked the program so well he decided to teach it.

Peggy Murphy — Watching football games and wrestling matches is one hobby Mrs. Murphy enjoys. She teaches girls PE and is married to Coach Murphy. They have one child, Carrie.



Don Murphy — Coach Murphy, who teaches Famil Relations and is a Football and Wrestling coach, onc thought of becoming a lawyer, but he became a coac as an ambition gained from the influences people ha on him.

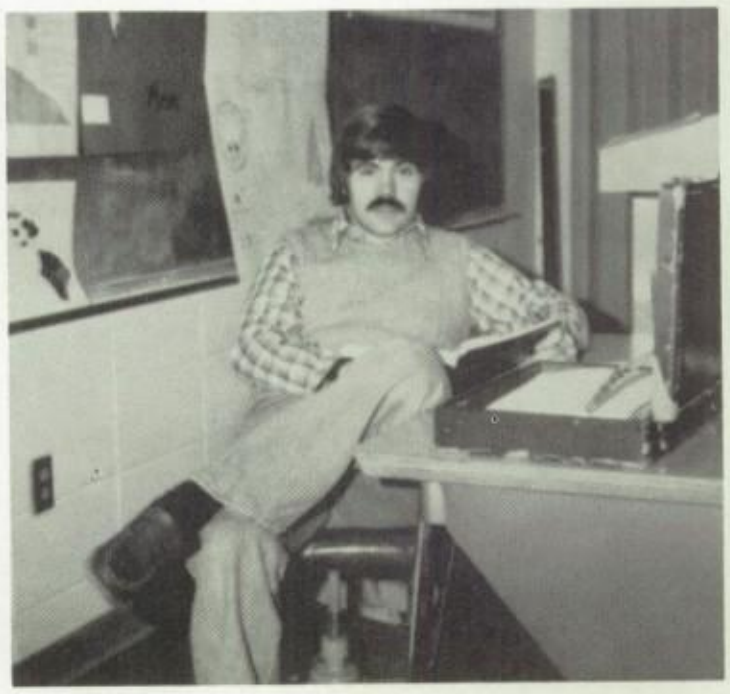
David R. McAnally — Mr. McAnally had a lot of admiration for some of his teachers in school which is what made him want to become a teacher. He is the Vocational Guidance Counselor and Placement Coordinator.

Ronnie Norris — Between becoming a teacher or going into the Army, Mr. Norris chose the teaching occupation and he has never regretted his decision.

Johnnie Sue McAnally — Library Media Specialist, Mrs. McAnally, has always enjoyed working with young adults and feels her occupation is very rewarding.

Gerald Reynolds — Besides teaching Radio and TV, Mr. Reynolds also sponsors VICA. He became a teacher after the idea was given to him by Mr. Blevins. He liked the hours, summer vacation, and the job of teaching students.

Linda Readus — Mrs. Readus admired her teachers at school who took the time to help her learn, so she decided she would like to help others learn. She teaches typing and enjoys her work very much.



Pat Richards — Mrs. Richards decided to teach because of the influence of another high school teacher. She enjoys teaching Girl's PE and coaching Girl's track, but she confesses to having her bad days like everyone else.

Don Richards — Hobbies of Coach Richards include Photography and woodcarving. He became a coach because he liked working with young people. Besides coaching football and boy's track, he also teaches American History.

Betty Jo Ryan — Ms. Ryan grew up in a family of teachers so becoming a Home Economics teacher seemed only natural. She enjoys needlepoint, embroidery, and sewing.

Charles Riley — Sergeant Riley, who became an ROTC instructor for financial security, enjoys his work immensely. His favorite quote is "Better to remain silent and be thought a fool, than to speak and remove all doubt."

Mary Jo Rolfe — Because of admiration she had for teachers in school, Ms. Rolfe decided to teach English. She also sponsors the cheerleaders, which is almost a job in itself.

Hope Smith — To Mrs. Smith teaching English and watching young people learn is a very rewarding job. Her favorite quote is "To thine own self be true," Shakespeare.

Clara Swader — Mrs. Swader became a teacher for no specific reason, she just always knew it was what she wanted to do. She enjoys teaching basic math and history and her favorite quote is "Nobody ever said it would be easy."

Harold Tate — Mr. Tate, even though he is not here the entire day, still devotes a great deal of time to the Concert Chorus. He helps out and directs music at Cotaco Jr. High, Priceville Jr. High, and his church.

Lt. Col. Tom Stanford — Col. Stanford directed Army ROTC Honor Unit, but due to an illness, Col. Stanford isn't at Brewer second semester.

K. C. Thomaskutty — Teaching physics, chemistry, and biology is an enjoyable job for Mr. Thomaskutty, but he would also like to be a missionary. His favorite quote is the Golden Rule, "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you."

Wallace Sanders — Coach Sanders became a teacher from influence of high school and college instructors. He instructs physical education and also coaches basketball.

Robert Shannon — "He who has a trade, has an estate." is Mr. Shannon's favorite quote. An electrical instructor, he became a teacher because of his interest in young people.

Cindy Shelton — Guidance Counselor, Mrs. Shelton, enjoys working and being helpful to all students. Her favorite quote is "Ask not what Brewer can do for you — but what you can do for Brewer."

Wayne Shelton — Coach Shelton became a teacher to get into the coaching profession. He instructs Boy's Physical Education and is the Football Coach.

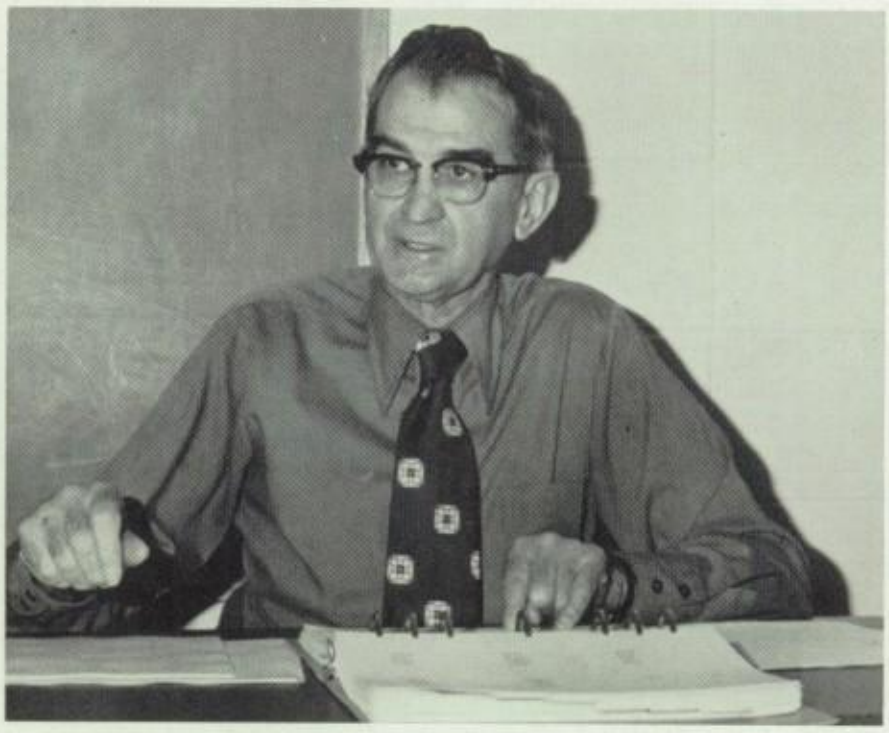
Sandra Sims — Mrs. Sims became an American History and Government teacher because of her interest in Political Science and working with young people. Besides teaching, she also enjoys being a wife and mother.

Wayne Slaten — Mr. Slaten became a typing teacher because he enjoys working with students.

Jo Ann Willis — Mrs. Willis doesn't really know why she became a teacher. She has never regretted her decision. Instructing clothing production, her hobbies are clothing, cooking, and crafts.

Claire Tilley — Mrs. Tilley hated office work and decided to train for something she could enjoy more and which would allow for more time to spend with her family. Teaching art, Spanish and English, she would like to own and operate a craft shop.

Paul Vaughn — Mr. Vaughn, who instructs welding, enjoys working on his car in his spare time.



Quinton Wright — Mr. Wright has always been interested in teaching and helping people. He teaches basic math, English, and Social Studies. His hobbies include tennis and most sports.

n Tilley — Mr. Tilley, who instructs drafting, was a Draftsman for seven years fore becoming a teacher. He enjoys photography, flying, designing houses, and inishing guns. "Anyone who is bored in these times just isn't paying attention," his favorite quote.

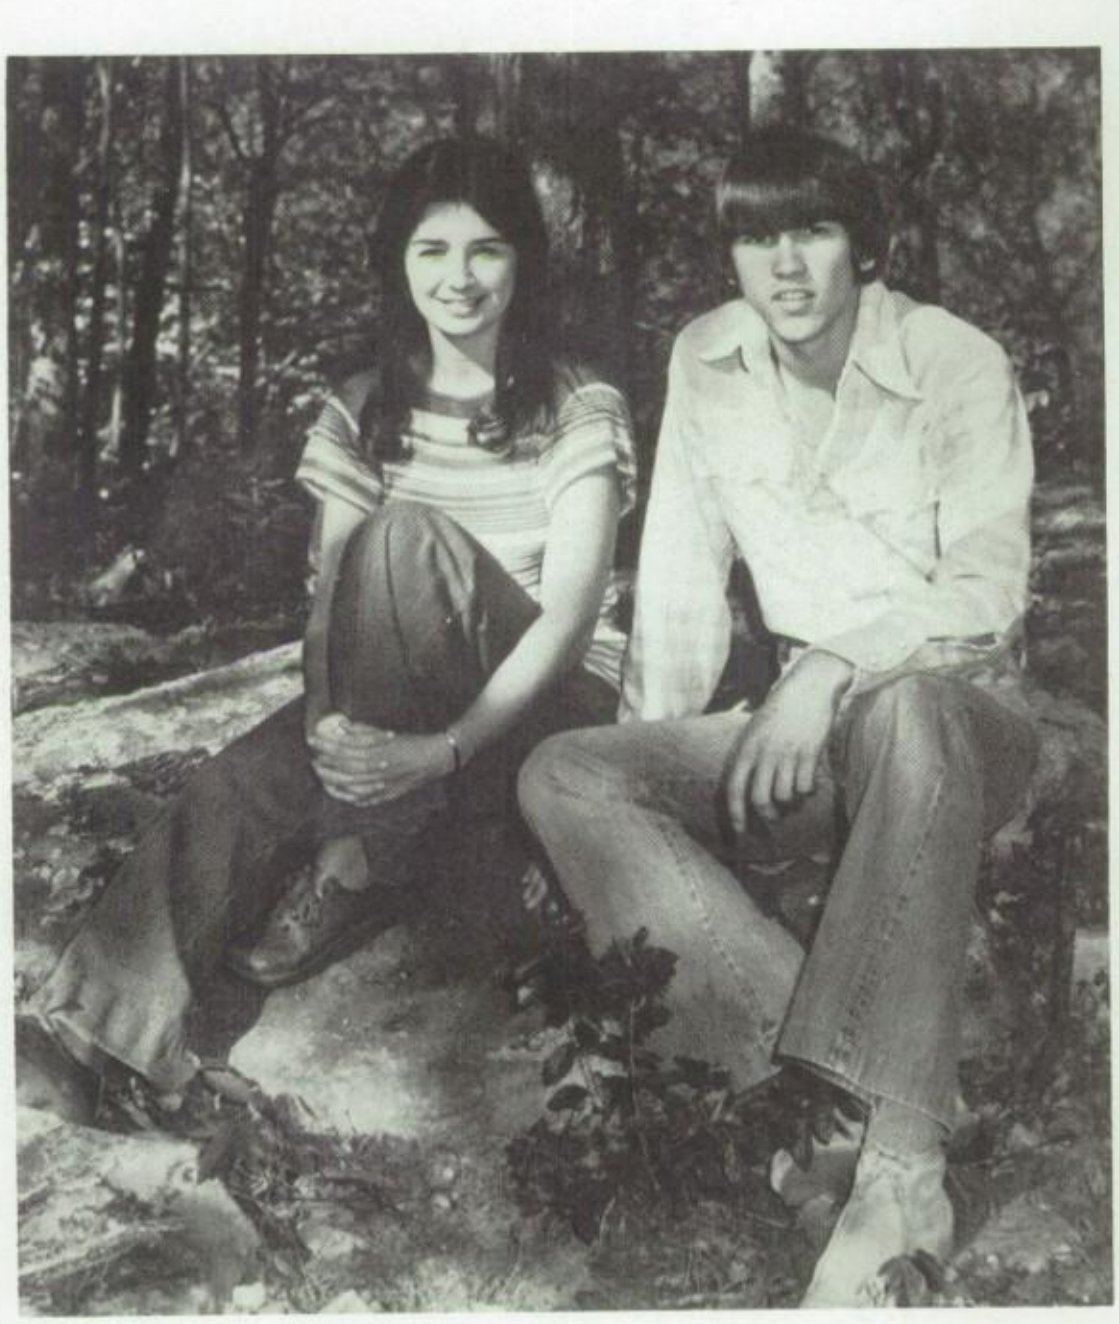
Senior Class Favorites

Margaret Wozny and Phillip Barnett were chosen to represent the Senior class. Margaret is a member of FBLA, Spanish Club, Student Council and Inter-Club Council. Phillip is a member of B-Club and Pep Club. He is also on the baseball team and played on the football team.

Chosen from the Senior class as favorites were Jackie Fowler and Dylan Jackson. Jackie is a member of Youth for Christ, B Club, and Beta Club. She is president of Student Council, Inter-Club Council and also represented Brewer this year as a cheerleader. Dylan is an active member on the varsity basketball team and the boys track team.



Chosen as class favorites were Mac Miller and Becky Morris. Mac is Vice President of the Pep Club and of VICA. Becky is a member of Student Council and was elected Senior class representative in the Homecoming Court.

Senior Who's Who

The Senior Who's Who is the overall sample of the character and lifestyle of the Senior Class of 1978. Nominating in each homeroom, the seniors voted on the candidates for each category. These candidates were later taken to Ronnie Norris's mountain-top home for their pictures. Even though they are put into the annual, the Who's Who representatives consider just being elected a great honor. To know you were selected by your classmates to represent the overall class is an intriguing experience.

MOST LIKELY TO SUCCEED:
Charlotte McKee and Vandon Cobb.

FRIENDLIEST:
Robin Parker and Dylan Jackson.

MOST INTELLECTUAL:
Belinda Rolfe and Kenneth Drinkard.

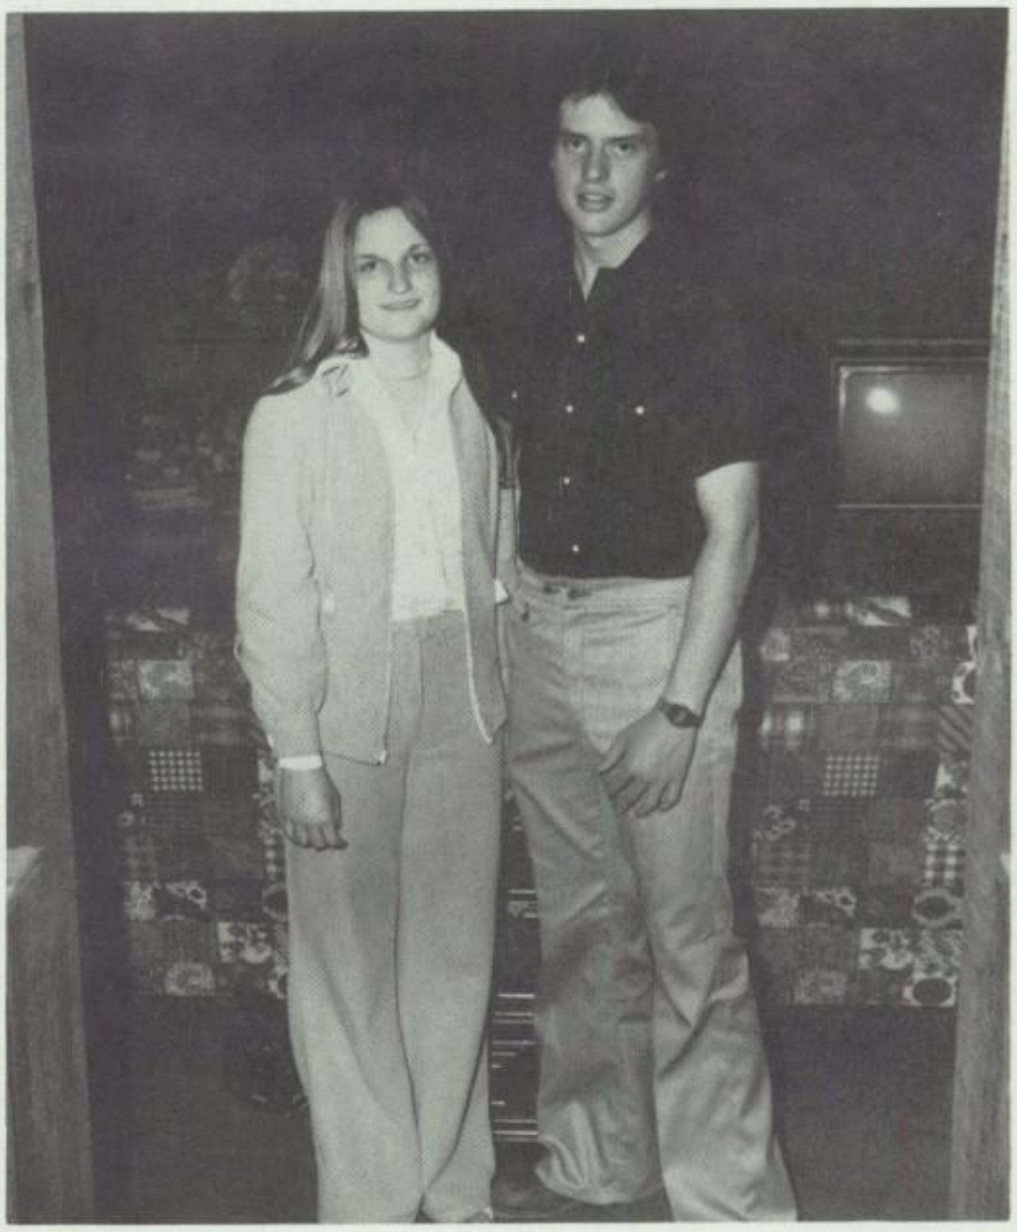
MOST POPULAR:
Jackie Fowler and Mac Miller.

BEST ALL AROUND:
Becky Morris and Ted Slaten.

MOST WITTIEST:
Vickie Wright and Ray Long.

MOST TALENTED:
Jannelle Lott and Sherill Helms.

MOST DEPENDABLE:
Margaret Mozny and James Self.



MOST ATHLETIC:
Patricia Patterson and Phillip Barnett.

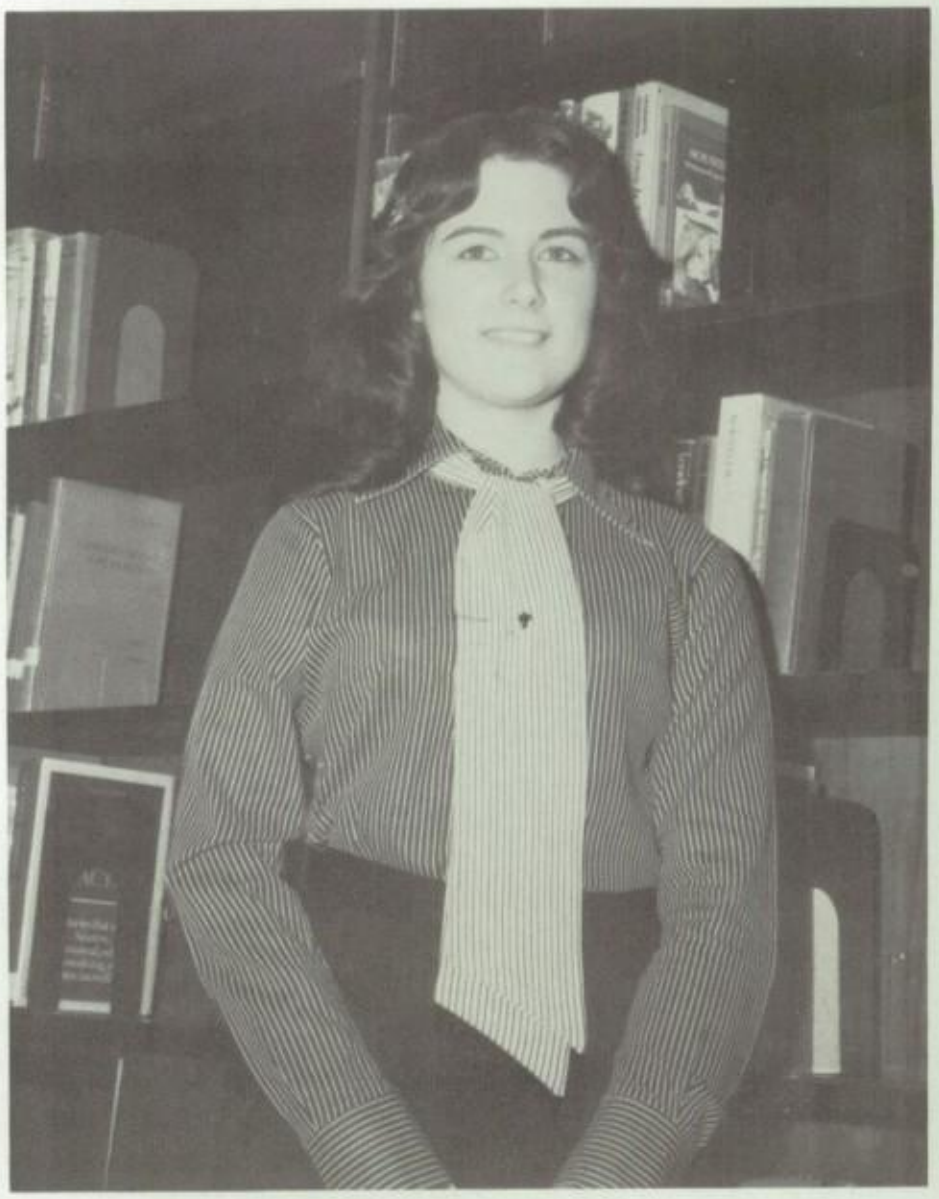
12 Students Recieve Top Honors

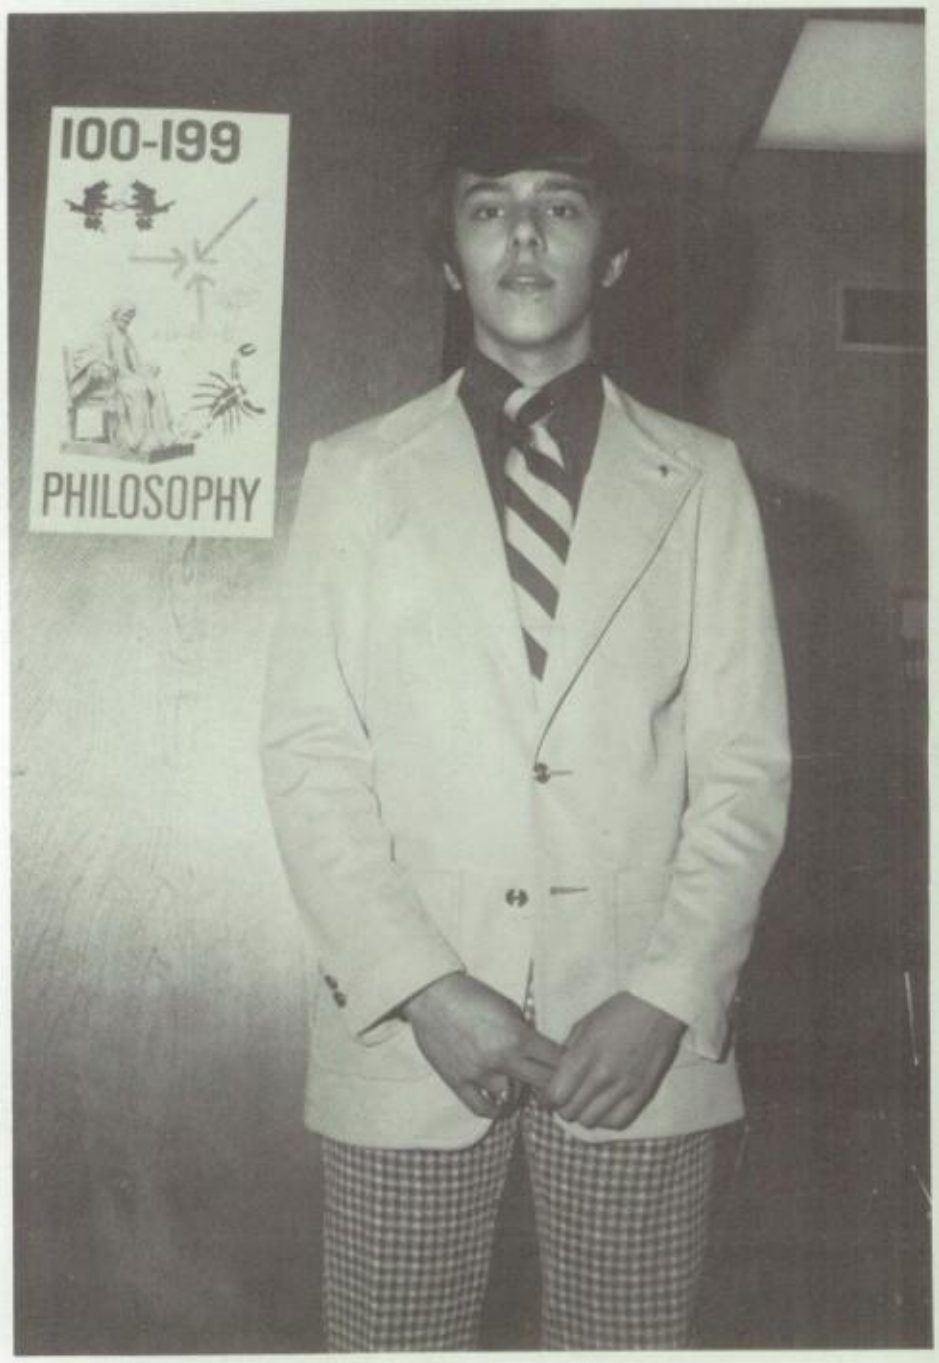
Although Alexander Pope said that a little learning is a dangerous thing, 12 honor students have found that its rewards are many and enjoyable. Chosen on the basis of grade point average beginning with the grades from the ninth grade through the twelfth, each scholar was required to have taken a minimum of one college preparatory subject each year. On a four point grade system, the grades ranged from 3.31 to 3.97.

As president of the Beta Club and vice president of Youth for Christ, Charlotte McKee is a member of the Spanish Club, Inter-Club Council and a Student Council representative. Also, she was selected to Who's Who Among Music students. Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Liland McKee, her hobbies include listening to music, bowling, playing sports and working with children.

Such leisure activities as gardening, playing tennis, drawing, reading, and writing poetry provide Amanda Kay with much relaxation. Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Kay of Lacey's Spring, she is a member of the Spanish club, Beta club, and Student Council.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy O. T. Tilley, Patrick is a member of Beta Club, VICA, and Chess club as well as vice president of the Spanish club. Besides enjoying stamp collecting, Patrick loves playing tennis and other sports.





An active member of FFA and Sportsman club, Doug Winton finds time to relish such activities as swimming, listening to music, reading, and playing sports. This scholar is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Winton of Hartselle.

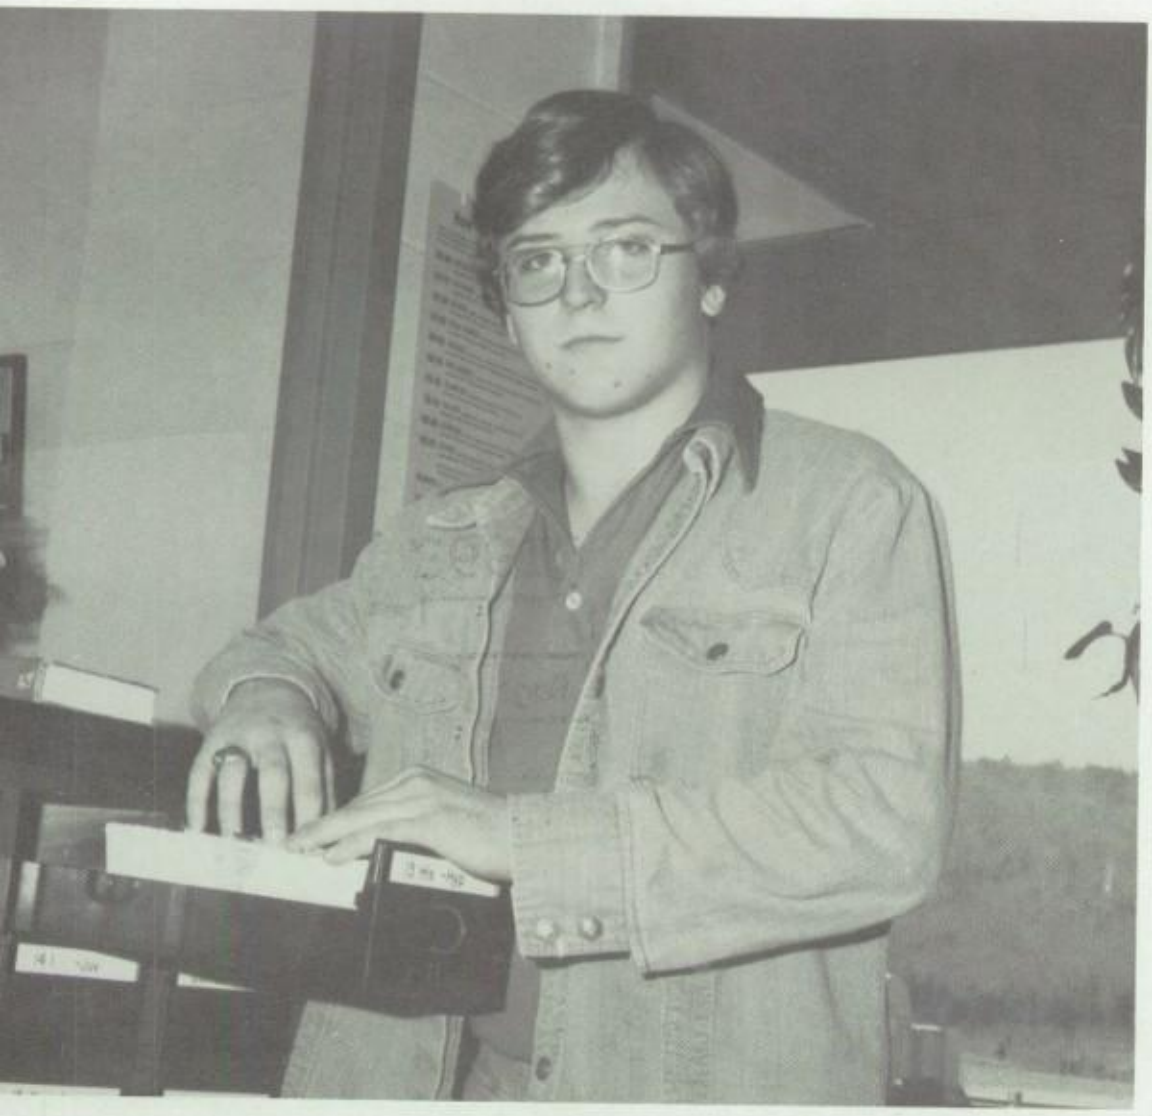
Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Fowler of Eva, Jackie Fowler says that she likes swimming, playing softball, and getting out in the sun. Being a member of "B" club, Youth for Christ, Pep Club, and Beta Club isn't enough for Jackie because she is also president of Student Council, a cheerleader, a member of the Track team, and a member of the Inter-Club Council.

Although Beverly Murphy finds that being in the Beta Club, Spanish Club, and Pep Club demands much of her time, she lists her leisure time hobbies as swimming, bike riding, sewing, hiking, and reading. Her parents are Mrs. Pernie Murphy Jennings and the late Rodney Murphy of Lacey's Springs.

Margaret Wozny is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bruno S. Wozny. Margaret is very active in jogging and she likes reading, sewing, listening to music. She also confesses that she likes to talk. Besides being a member of Student Council, FBLA, Beta Club, and Inter-Club Council, she is also president of the Spanish Club.

Mr. and Mrs. James L. Henderson are the proud parents of one of Brewers Honor Students, Rhonda Henderson. Rhonda has many hobbies, some of which are; track, volleyball and softball. She attends Pep Club and is an active member in Sportsman Club.

Lagratha Worley, a very outstanding student, has been very active the 3 years she has been at Brewer. She has been in Youth for Christ, Spanish Club, Beta Club, F.H.A. and F.B.L.A. Lagratha's interests have to do with outdoor activities, business management and doing public/human relations. Her hobbies are leathercraft, sewing, and cooking.



Randy Suggs, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edmond J. Suggs, has been very busy at school getting Who's Who among American High School Students, the 110% Award in football and was nominated for Elks Club Student of the Month. Randy's hobbies are football, tennis and swimming.

Nancy Brown is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Brown, Jr. Nancy attends the Beta Club and "B" Club. She's also played on the basketball team.

An avid collector of Elvis memorabilia, Kay Wood enjoys reading, swimming, Polynesian Dancing, sketching, painting and modeling. Being a member of the Beta Club, Spanish Club and Art Club has provided her many memorable experiences.

Senior Life

Senior Life begins when you sign up for your twelfth grade courses. You have to earn those last few credits in order to graduate. The beginning of the senior year is exciting, but also scary. You are now the leaders in school and it's up to you to set a good example for others.

The term Senior, brings to mind both tears and laughter. Twelve years of education is finally being completed as a preparation for the future. Many will go on to college, others to work and some into family life.

Most Seniors are happy that it is their last year in school. They feel ready to face tomorrow and everything it brings them. Some Seniors are scared. They don't feel prepared to take on the responsibility of the adult world. Whatever the feeling about it, being a senior represents for most the last year is graduation, and all the hopes and dreams for the future must now become reality.

We hear the voices in the hall,
We see our friends and teachers all,
On this the common day.

Upcoming is our graduation,
and we are deep in meditation,
In a nostalgic way.

But soon our past forgetting,
With a sad heart regretting,
the college tuition we must pay.

Becky Morris

At the Spring Festival, Sandra Dye and Charlotte Jones get caught up on the latest gossip while watching the bingo game in the lunchroom.

Audio-visual assistant Ricky Weaver finds time to read the morning paper between deliveries of audio-visual equipment to various classrooms.

When the seniors won the trophy for the longest spirit chain with a total of 1215 links beating the juniors by 7 links the excitement was easily seen in cheerleaders Robin Parker, Teressa Holmes and Denise Lang as they run across the court with the trophy.

Relaxing on the balcony during first lunch are Cheryl Tunstill, Debbie Kinney, and Steven Spanogle.

Seniors Jennie Childers, Donna Houser, Pam Winkles and Joan den measure for their caps and gowns with feelings of anticipa for that big night.

Duffle bags, sleeping bags and pillows are a familiar sight to students who went to the Bahamas during AEA week. Senior, Vicki Wrights, waits with her "luggage" to go through customs at Andros Island.

Cold weather sometimes makes it hard to get up in the mornings, especially when you are getting up to go to school. Two good examples of this are Rita Adams and Nancy Brown checking in late on a cold winter day.

Home Economics allows everyone to experiment in the kitchen. Stephanie Jordan, Shelis Eudy, Ellen Helson, Melissa Johnson, and Lucretia Boyd attempt to make a chocolate coke-a-cola cake.

Walking in the cool, crisp morning,
And thinking of yesteryear,
My mind beholds a vision
That brings to me a tear.

And a voice within me saying
"Forget that yesteryear"
While I heed not its bidding,
I wipe away the tear.

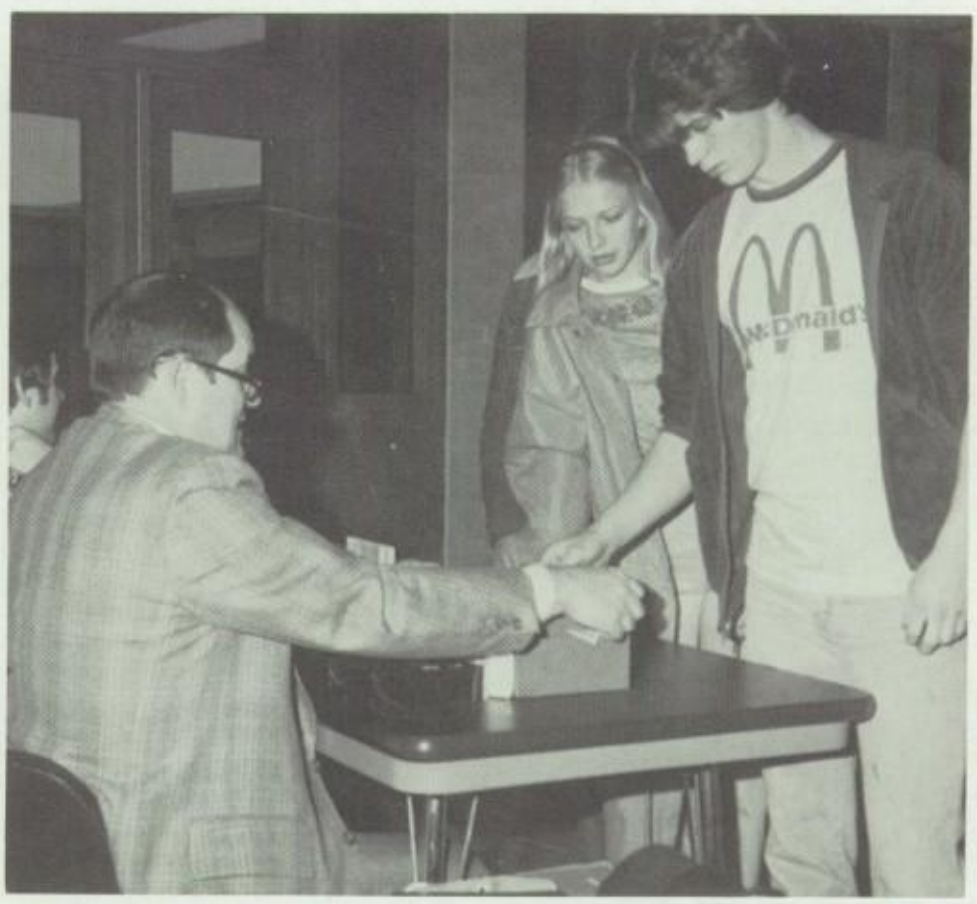
Backstage, preparing for the next act in the play Oklahoma are, Beth Woodard and Leah Ransom.

Tens, fives, ones, nickles, dimes — and quarters pass through the hands of these homeroom representatives, as they count daily magazine sales.

uring a student council meeting, Pam Morrison and Amy Garner sten intently to the speaker as Debi Childers takes the minutes.



With a look of anticipation Pam Richards waits to get her classring while Rex Springer receives his.

Our enthusiastic class of "79" got off to a good start this year by going over our goal of $8000.00 in the schools yearly magazine subscription sale. With alot of hard work we set a new record at $9239.90.

The most important time of the year for a junior is eagerly awaiting the arrival of their classrings. The ordering took place in the cafeteria on November 16, and finally arrived March 3.

The Juniors class this year has been a very close and spirited group of people. Next year, as Seniors, we hope we do as good a job as the Senior Class this year did at being leaders of the students here at Brewer High School.

The Junior class favorites this year are Luann Ryan and Van Owens.

The class officers are: Luann Ryan, Secretary; Ricky Walker, Vice President; Reney Smith, President.

Junior homeroom teachers are: Mrs. Tilley, Mrs. Sims, Mrs. Smith, Miss Bahr, Mrs. Swader and Mrs. Holland. Not Pictured: Mr. Slaten, Mrs. Richard, and Coach Richard.

Starting Out

For three days out of the week, fourteen children between the ages three and five experience some of their first school days. Mrs. Maze and the students who are enrolled in the childcare program are trained in the care and handling of preschool children.

Although much work is done, there is a lot of fun and games. The children participate in games and activities that will prepare them for kindergarten and school. The program is designed to teach young children to share and participate in group activities.

They Do It All for You

The efficient and tireless efforts of the service workers make a safe, clean, and pleasant atmosphere which is essential for learning and socializing at school. Specifically, they make clean halls, warm lunches and neat grounds possible. As a result, Brewer has the reputation of being one of the cleanest and neatest schools in the area.

Daily, lunchroom staff provide nutritious quality meals for approximately 550 students while money is taken up by Mrs. Tucker and Dicie Holmes.

Bus drivers also do their share by transporting students to and from school despite the early hours. Their efforts for providing a safe and energy-saving transportation do not go unappreciated.

As custodian, one of Mr. Oliver Fowler's many jobs is keeping the floor of the concourse clean.

Taking up the money and keeping accounts of lunch money, Mrs. Tucker's smile shows that she enjoys her work.

Another person filled with pride for our school is Donald Flack. He shows his pride by helping keep the school clean.

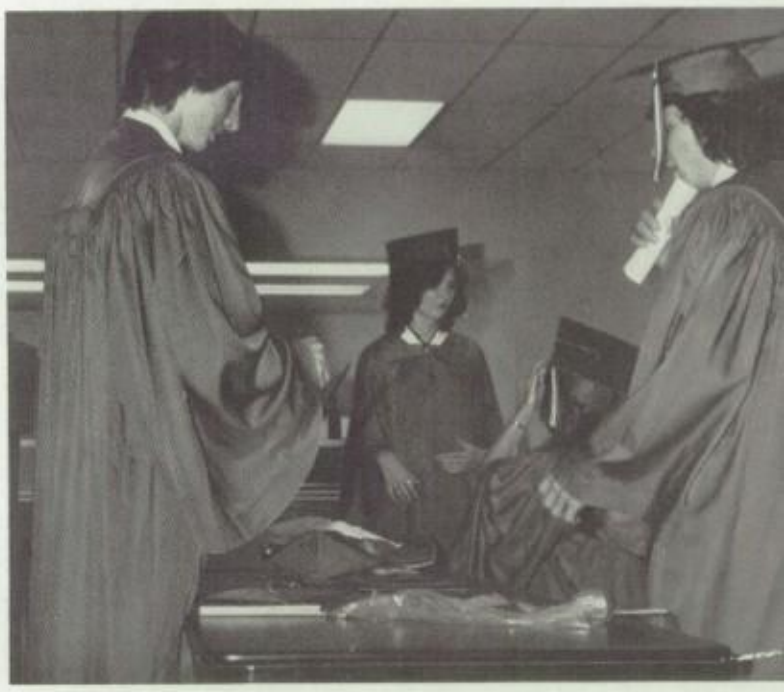
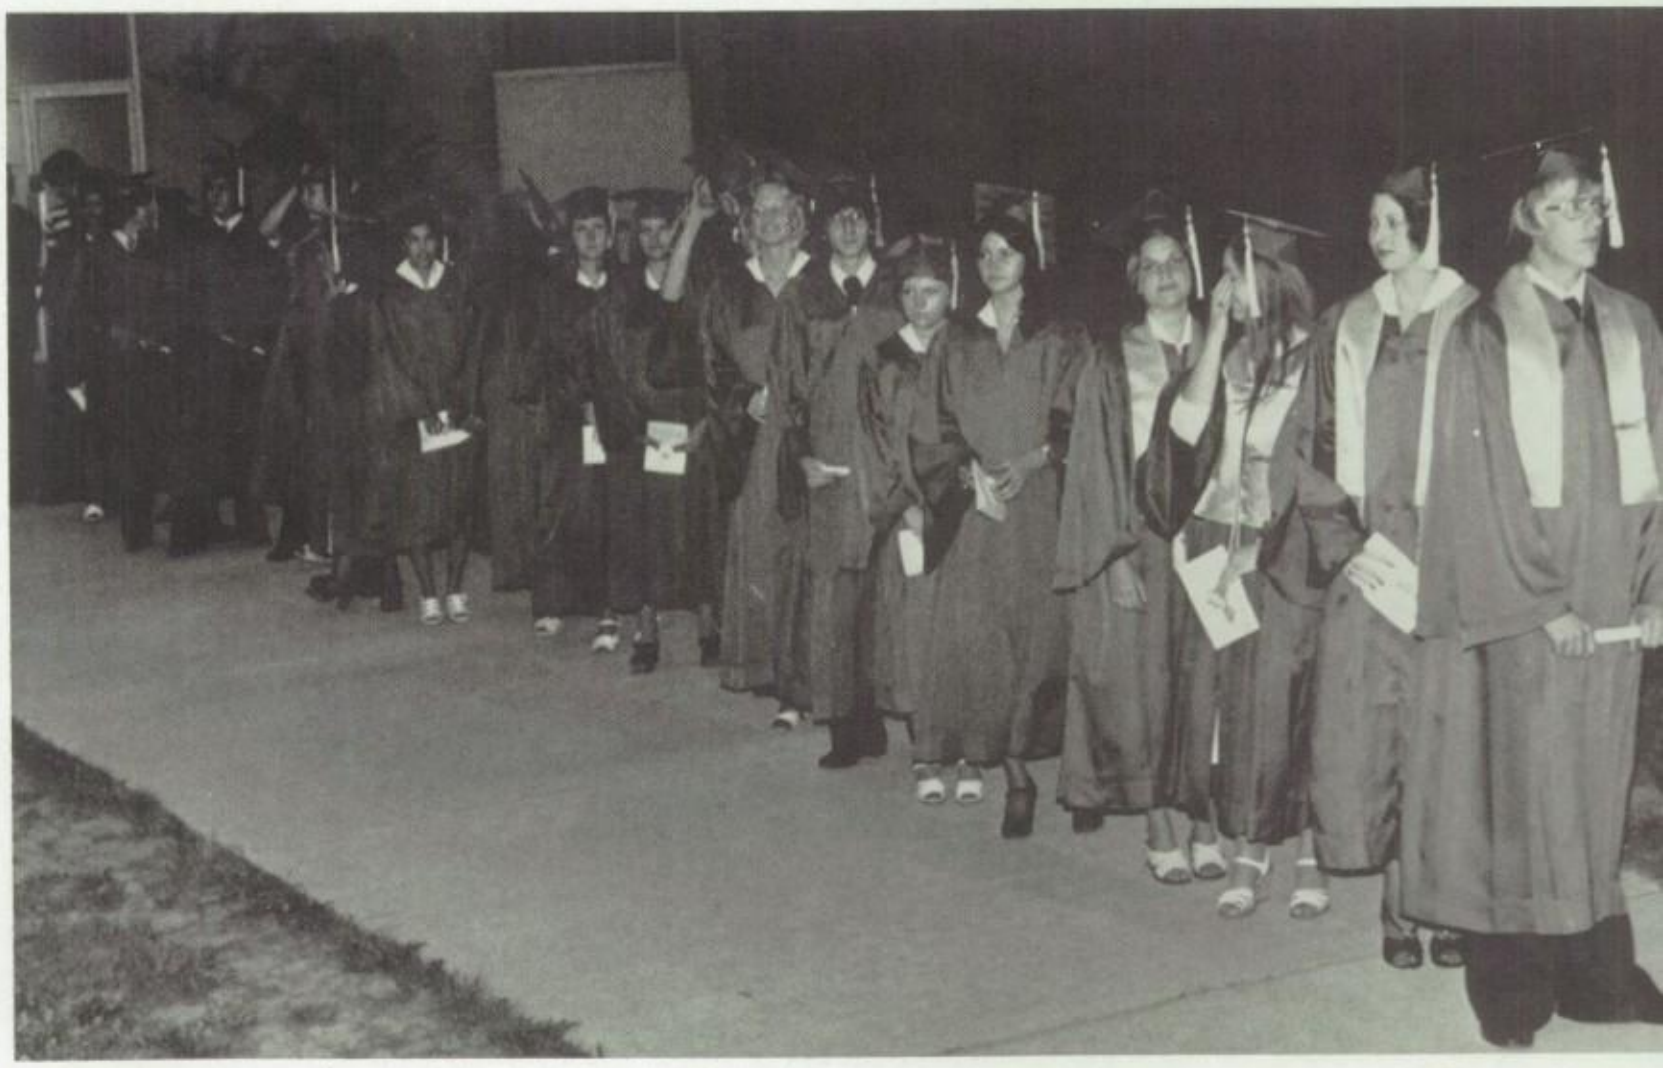
Happy Yet Sad

As the graduating seniors of 1978 face what seems to be an endless journey to receive their diplomas, one can sense the mixed emotions that they must feel. Many are happy — happy that they are now free to do as they please, free from books and studies — at least until fall when many will continue their educations at various colleges — and free from the everyday hassle of life at BHS that we have all grown to love. Many are sad — sad that they must say good-bye to the classmates and friends that they will never see again. Still, others are frightened of the new type of life they are beginning — no longer will one have to worry about getting five demerits for chewing gum or for being tardy, nor will one have to worry about making an 85 on the English exam in order to graduate. Yes, it's a happy yet sad time.

Parents, grandparents, and friends came to the graduation ceremonies in order to see that special person receive his diploma.



Waiting was the main thing that the seniors will remember. Here, these seniors wait while talking together.



At least waiting in line was getting closer to the gym!

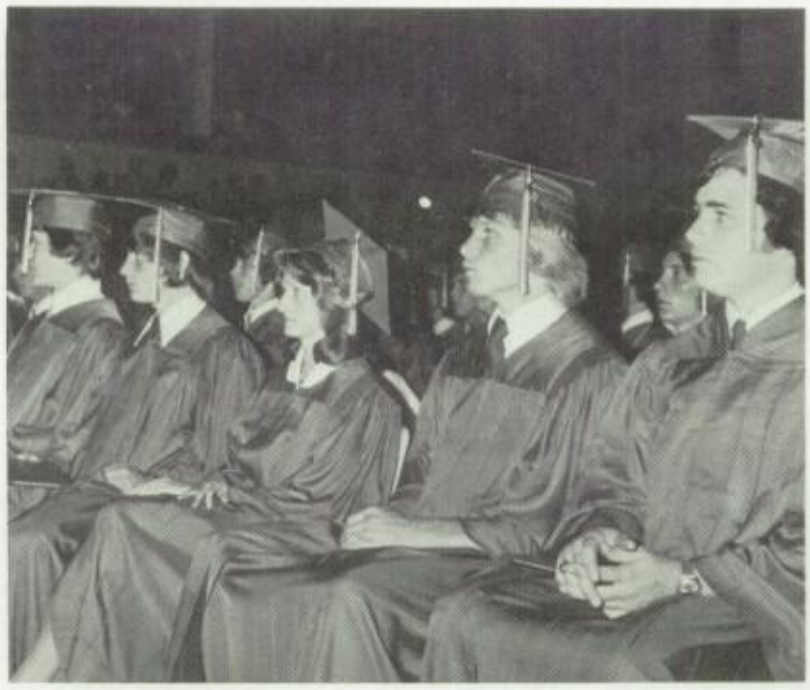
Discussing future plans are Elnora Draper and a few friends.

Nervous about the ceremony is Jay Brasher, Donald Rivers, Bruce Whisenant, and Robert Murphy.

ose little special things mean so very much. ere, Johnny Miller helps Cathy Breeding zip her gown.

Taking turns helping each other get ready are Teresa Taylor, Patricia Maddox, and Phyllis Holcomb.

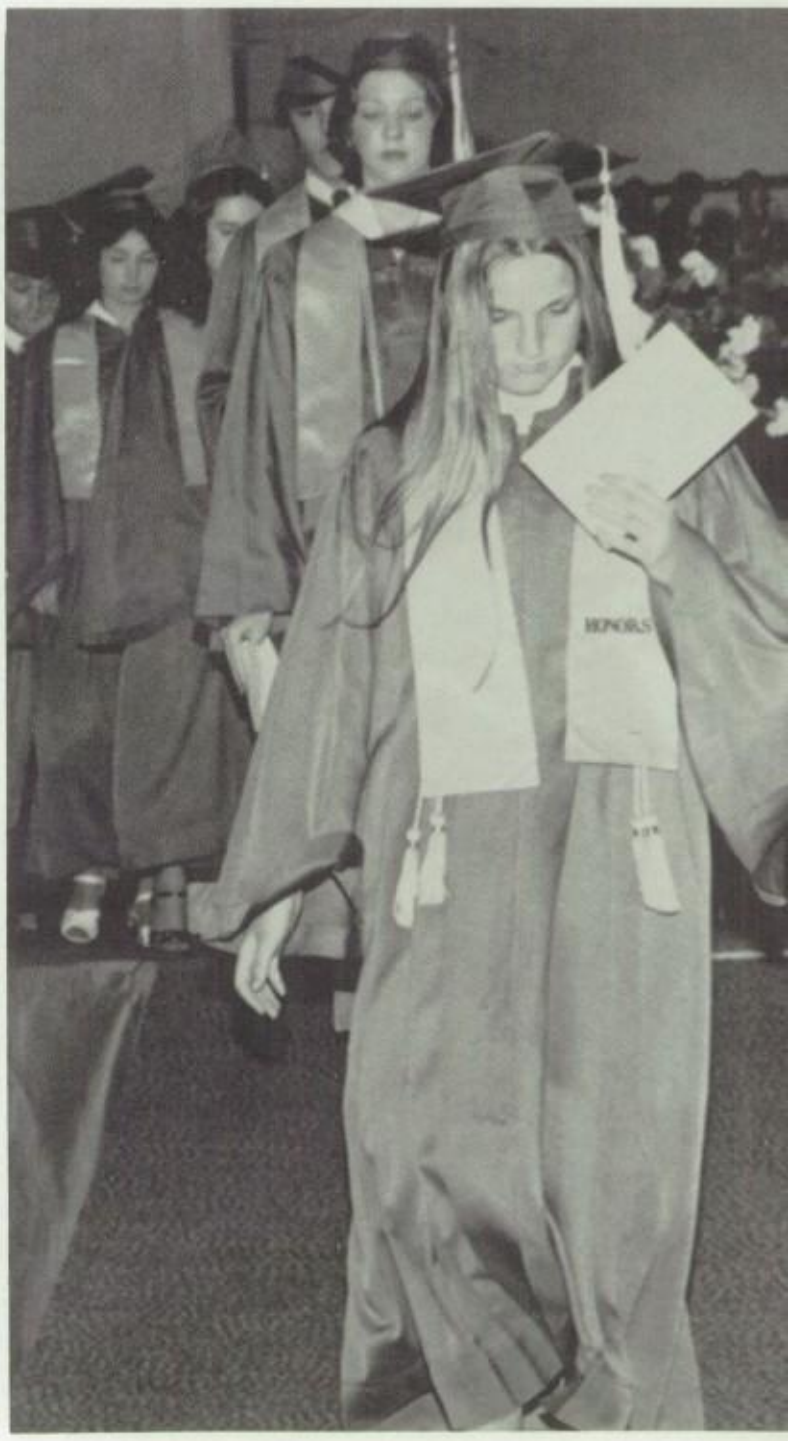
"Looks Like We Made It"



All eyes are focused upon fellow classmates who are receiving their diplomas.

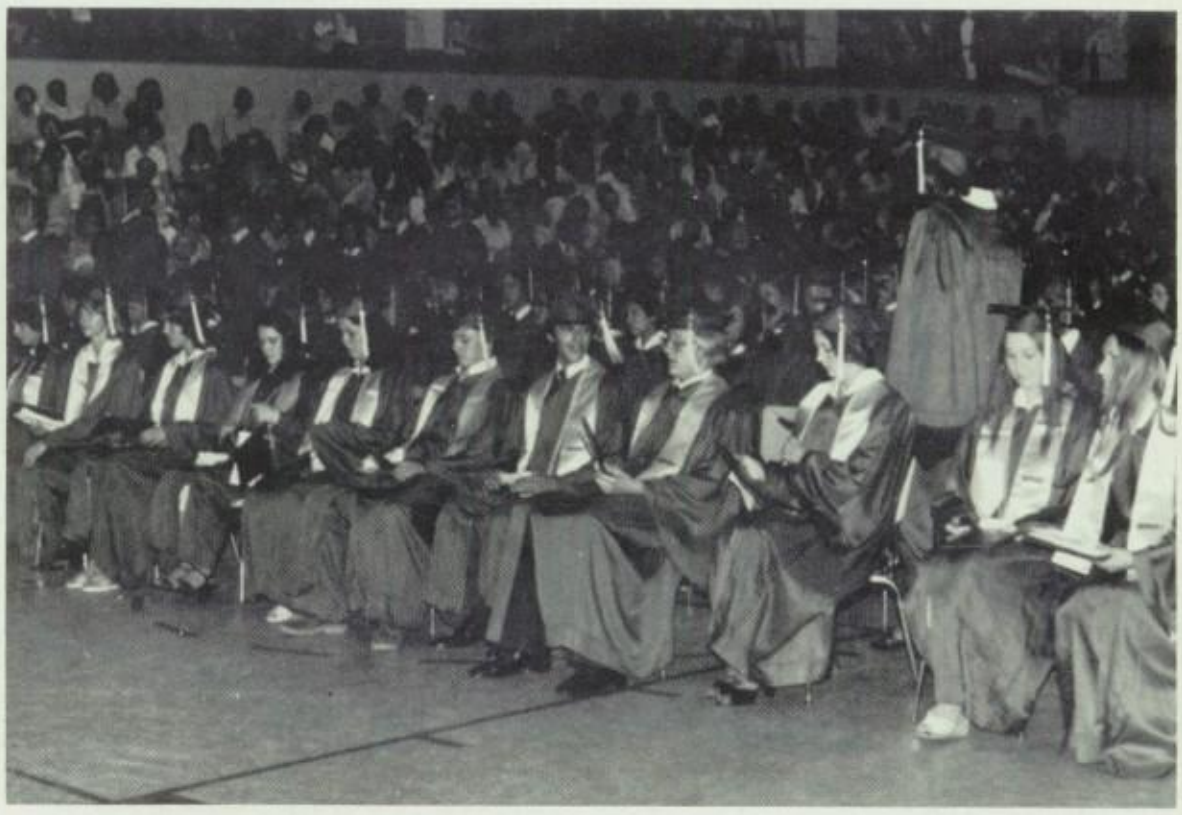
Superintendent, Dr. Sailors, addresses the graduating class.

Honor students were recognized and received their diplomas first. Margaret Wozney, Kay Wood, Patrick Tilley, Charlotte McKee, Jackie Fowler, and Randy Suggs leave the platform.

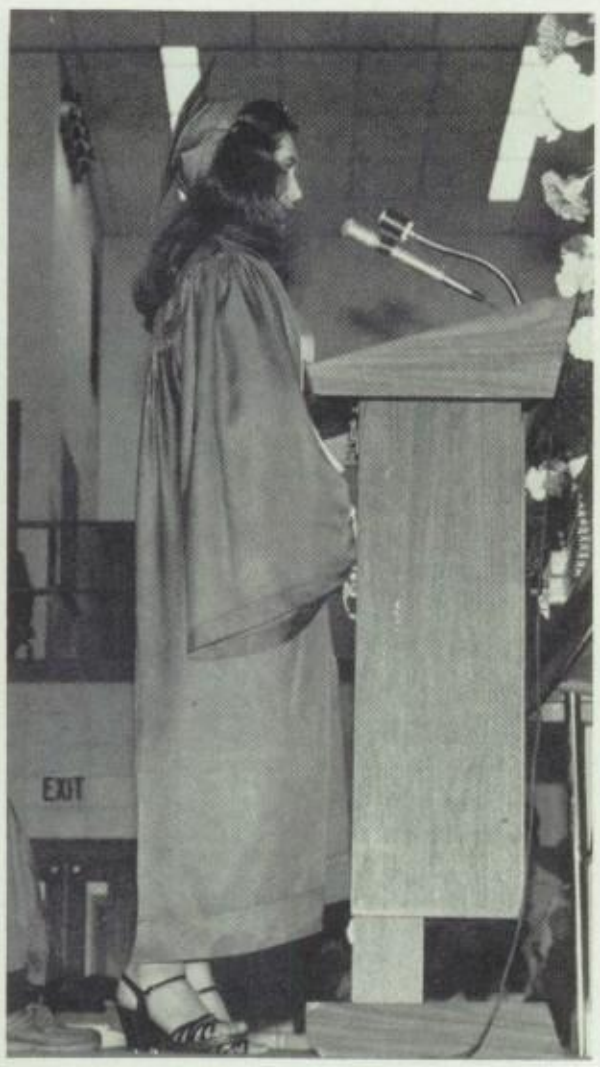


After Walking in, all the seniors stand for the invocation.

These seniors examine the diploma that they have worked so hard to receive.



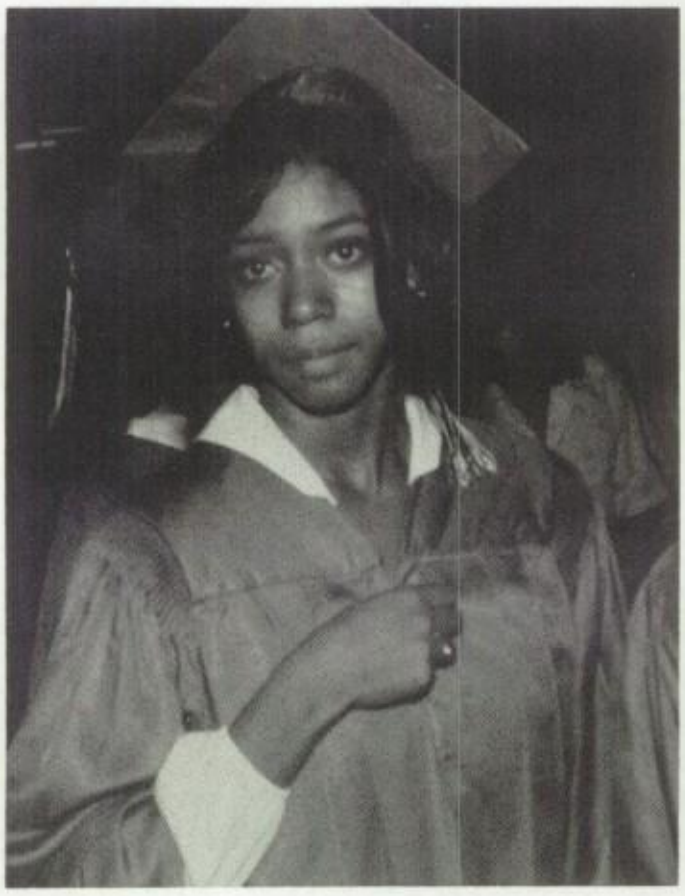
all and proud, David Graveman receives his ploma and continues the senior walk back his seat.



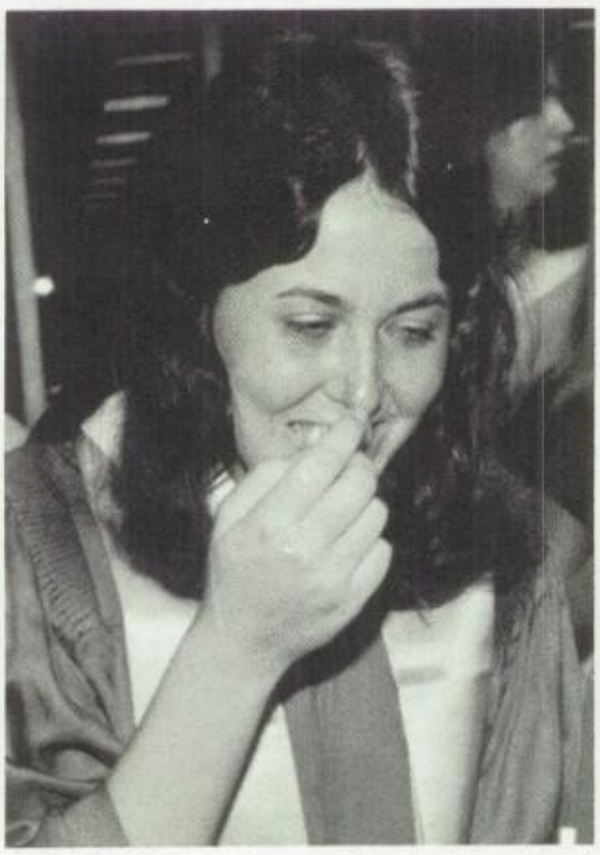
Being chosen to introduce the speakers is a great honor. Charlotte McKee is very proud to be picked.

As a proud sister, Gina Husky congratulates her brother.

It's over, but part of Lilah Irvin's happiness of graduation is replaced by sadness.

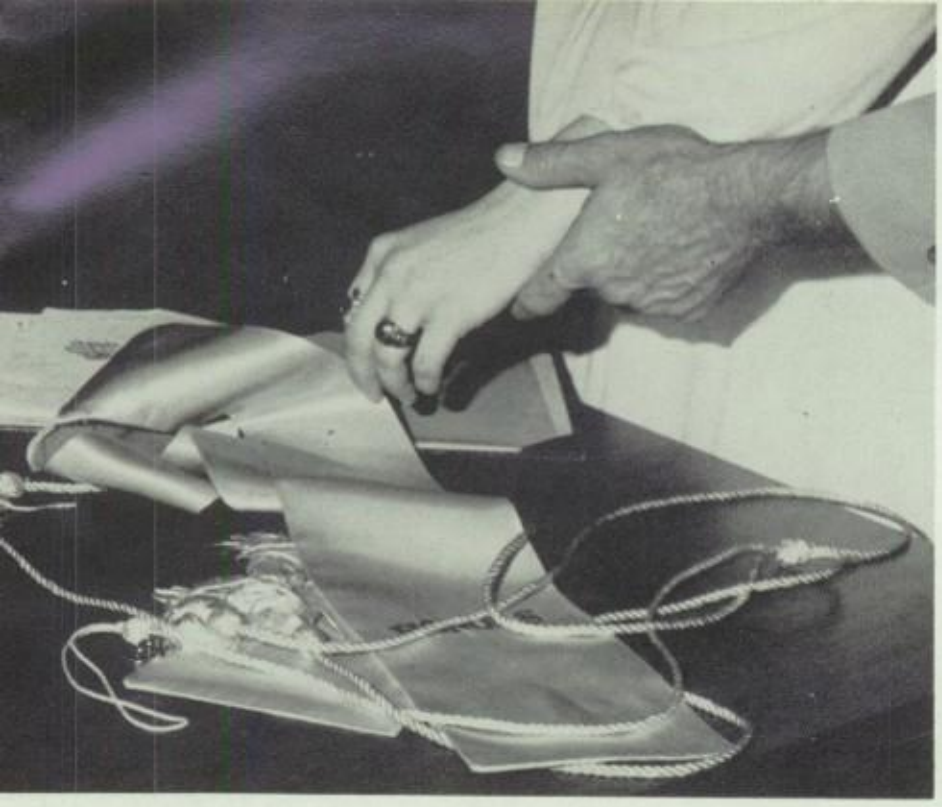


Graduation . . . Just the Beginning



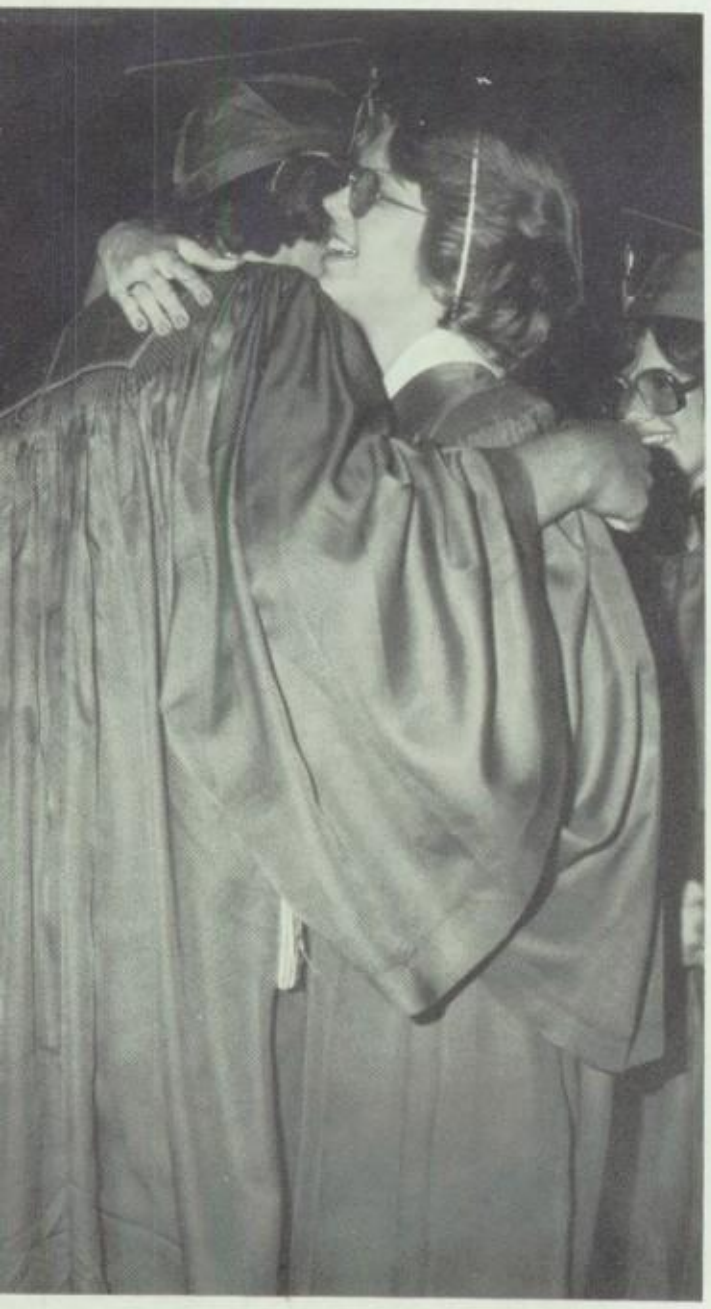
Graduation is happy yet sad time occasion as expressed by Beverly Murphy.

After graduation, Marcia Bustamante turns her cap and gown in to Ms. Ryan.

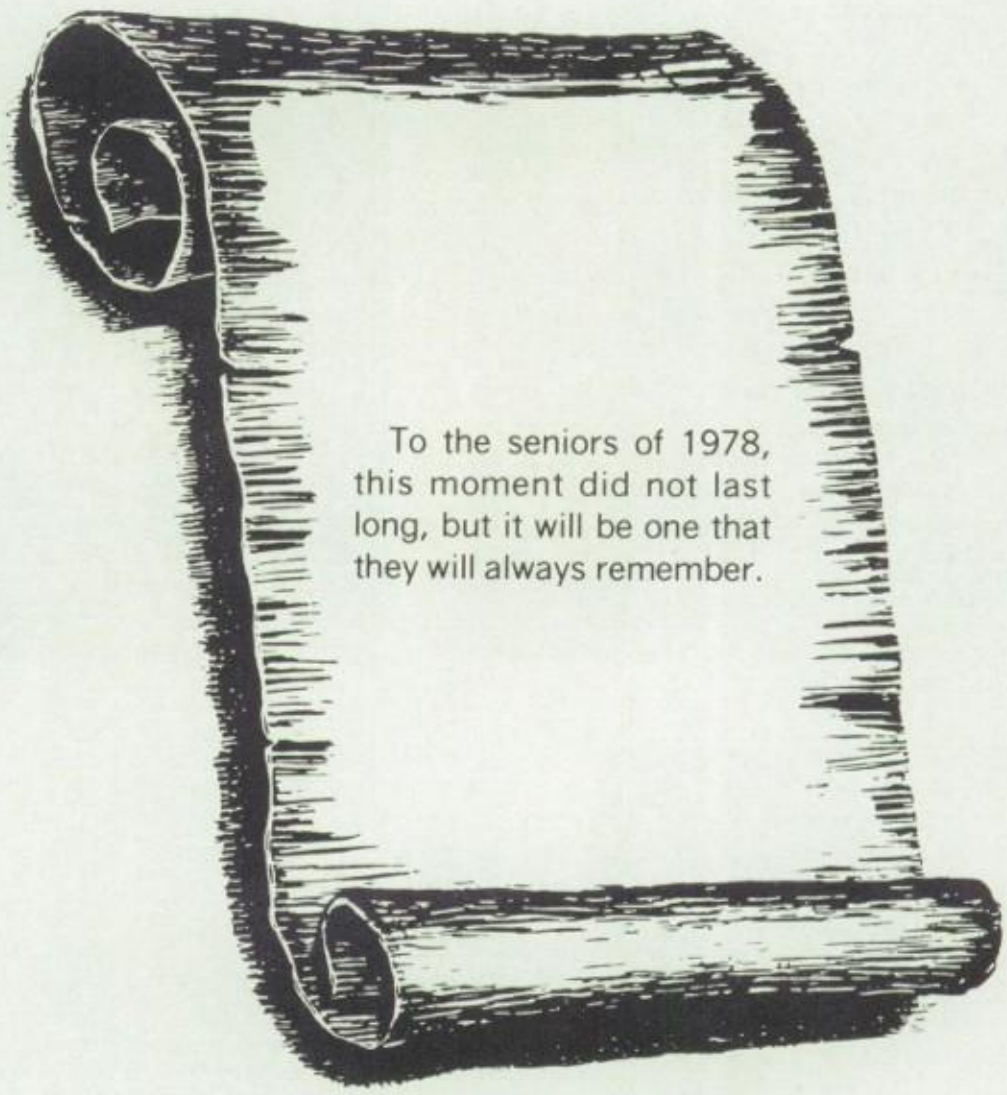


These symbols of graduation will be kept forever, and will become more valuable as time passes.

Picking up diplomas are Gary Logan, Mylon Metcalf, and Timmy Jennings at Coach Gurley's table.

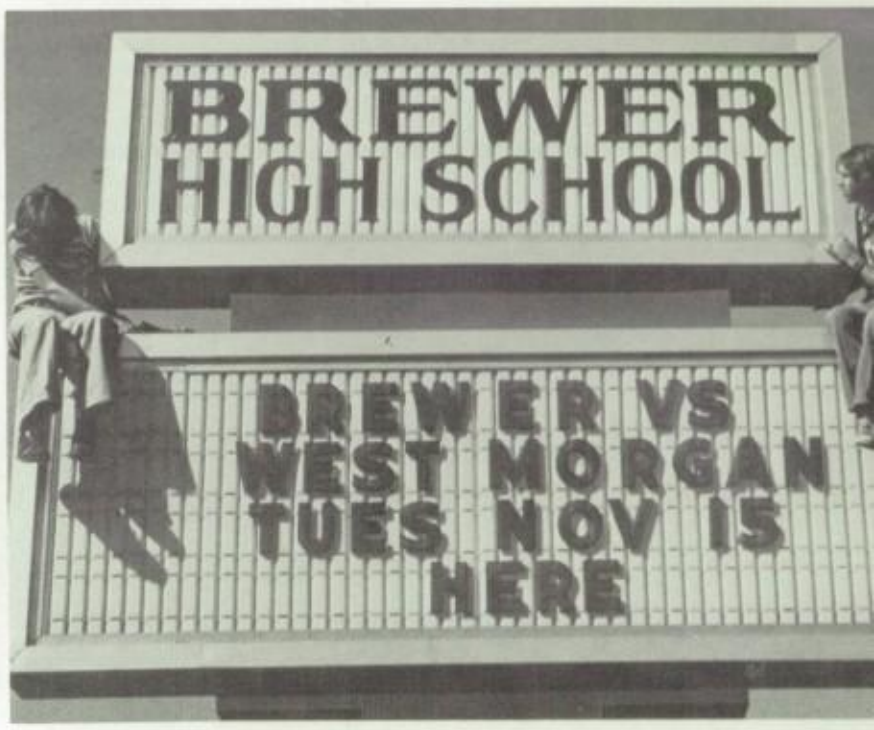


bracing in happiness are Sherry Rivers and Carlton Sharp.



Alma Mater

Until the laughter leaves the hallways,
Tears of victories left behind,
And friendship made to last forever,
These memories lingering in our minds.
We're ever faithful to our colors
Red, White, and Blue, we praise
Our Pride, forever in our hearts,
We'll proudly raise.
We've tried, we've learned and now we confess,
We love you, BHS.



Familiar Faces and Places

The routine, people, and scenery are now familiar, and it seems like we will never leave them. For the seniors, the routine ends forever, but, for the juniors and sophomores it ends only for the summer.

Graduation takes the seniors on to lead new and different lives. New routines, people, and scenery become familiar, yet new changes are always occurring. The juniors and sophomores come back in August for the old routine to begin again.

Although there was no snow on Christmas Day, the days following the return of school after the Christmas holidays were filled with much snow and ice.

As the school year draws to a close, everyone rushes to get their sections done. Looking thru old annuals to get examples are Amanda Bates and Angela Alexander as David Winton works on the sports section.

Even after first semester football games are over, the cheerleaders have to keep on practicing during the second semester for basketball and wrestling. Practicing one of the many routines is Jackie Fowler.

Planting trees as an FFA project is Greg Saint.

Night Fever!

There are three dances held at Brewer during the 77-78 year. The first was the Homecoming dance, the second, a disco sponsored by the DE department, the last, another disco, the night of the Spring Festival. Many students attended these dances. At the last dance, there was a dance contest in which 7 couples participated. The winners were, Denise Cook and Jim White, both who graduated last year. As you can see, dances at Brewer bring out not only our students, but also former ones. At BHS our students have the "Night Fever."

Everybody enjoys disco dances, and that is what makes them a success.

Slow dancing is a nice way to get close to your date. Here, Chris Haga and Brett King demonstrate how enjoyable it can be.

Showing their dancing ability, Lisa Golden and David Winton "Boogie Down!"

Enjoying himself at the dance is Mr. Tucker.

Dancing to the beat of the music and really having a good time is Pam Brown.

Surprised at being chosen the winners of the dance contest was Denise Cook and Jim White.

Conditioning for long endurance runs are Hettie Wiley (one-mile relay) and Robin Brantley (two-mile relay).

Aroused by noise in the hall, Coach Gurley takes a look and is caught by the phantom photographer.

Although the cold winds are harsh and bitter, students brave these conditions to smoke that last cigarette before returning to class.

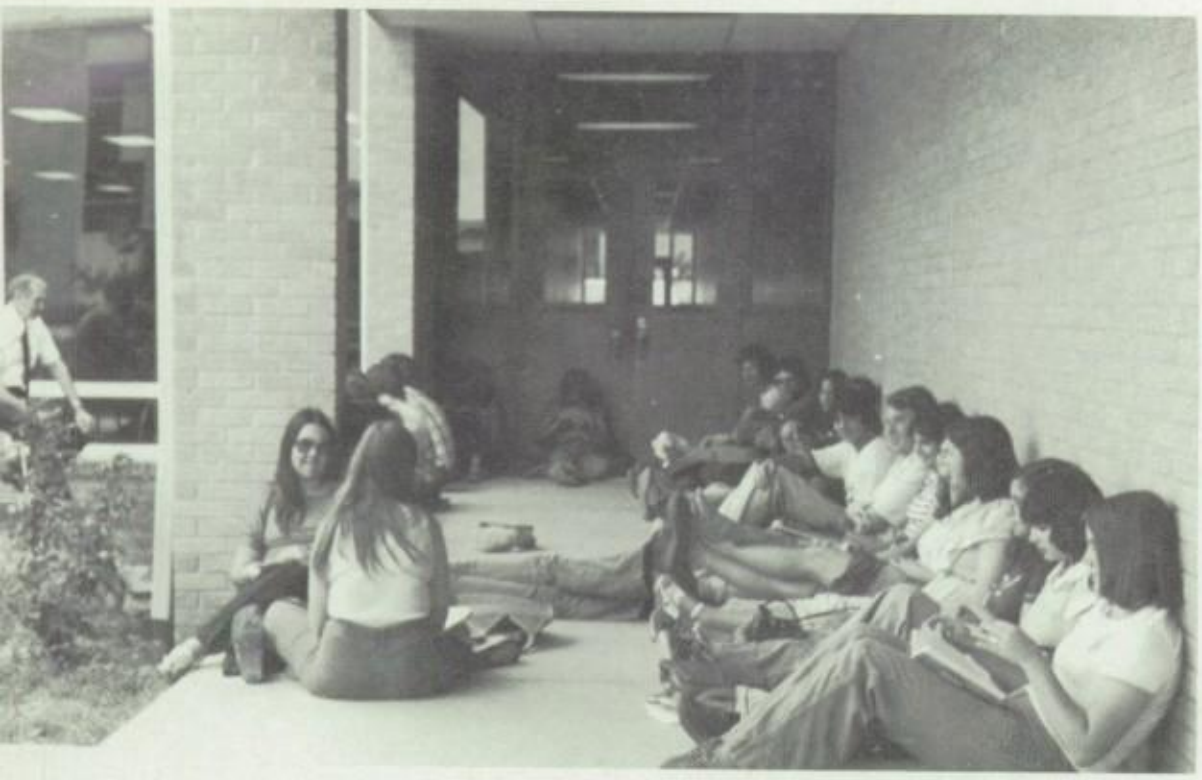
To add to the beauty of our school, Mr. Lott's ag. class landscapes the open court.

Vocational classes offer a good opportunity for students to earn experience in the trade of their choice.

P.E. classes provide students with a chance to relax and unwind from studies and tests.

Training students for proper road safety can get pretty nerve racking. Mr. Norris expresses a moment of solitude and relaxation before continuing classes for the day.

With the soon to arrive first baby of Mrs. Key, the first period college prep. English class surprised her with a baby shower to show their appreciation and friendship toward an outstanding teacher.



Due to the failure of the air-conditioning system, many classes were held outside where the cool breeze made life more bearable.

Quiet, lifeless, and alone until . . . 2:30.
